For example, he took a lantern one day when the sun was shining brightly and went out to search for an honest man, thereby insinuating that such persons were exceedingly scarce. When Alexander, a distinguished military gentleman, paid him a visit, and inquired what he could do for him, he had the impudence to tell him to "get out of his sunshine." To cap the climax of oddities, he dressed like a beggar and lived in a tub! He was a sour, erabbed, crusty old bachelor. We infer that he had no wife, first, because history does not mention her; second, because no woman would take kindly to one of his habits, dress or manners, or aspire to become mistress of his mansion. There was an old woman who lived in a shoe," it is true, but the woman who would live in a tub, and especially with such a companion, has not been heard from. The misantrophic spirit which possessed this man was doubtless due to a disordered digestion and a biliousness, one of the prominent symptoms of which is a morose, faultfinding disposition. The tongue is heavily coated, giving rise to a bad taste, the appetite, is not good, and the patient feels dull, sleepy, or dizzy, and is apt to be fretful. Unfortunately, Mr. Diogenes lived several centuries before Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets were, invented, a few doses of which would have relieved him of his "bile," and enabled him to find scores of "honest men," without the aid of his lantern. Under their magic influence, combined with that of the Golden Medical Discovery, to cleanse his blood, e might have been led to take a more cheerful view of life, to exchange his tub for a decent habitation, have taken a wife to mend his clothes and his man- Slipp. ners, both of which were in evident need of re-
