A woman to the holy father went, Confession of sins was her intent And so, her misdemeanors great and small, She faithfully rehearsed them all : And, chiefest in her catalogue of sin, She owned that she a tale-bearer had been, And borne a bit of scandal up and down, To all the long-tongued gossips in the town. The holy father for her other sin Granted the absolution asked of him ; But while for all the rest he pardon gave, He told her this offence was very grave, And that to do fit penance she must go Out by the wayside where the thistles grow, And, gathering the largest, ripest one, Scatter its seeds, and that when this was done, She must come back again another day To tell him his commands she did obey. The woman, thinking this a penance light, fastened to do his will that very night, Feeling right glad she had escaped so well. Next day but one she went the priest to tell ; The priest sat still and heard her story through, Then said, " There's something still for you to do; Those little thistle seeds which you have sown, I bid you go re-gather every one.' The woman said, "But, Father, 'twould be vain To try to gather up those seeds again ; The winds have scattered them both far and wide Over the meadowed vale and mountain side." The father answered, " Now, I hope that from this The lesson I have taught you will not miss : You cannot gather back the scattered seeds, Which far and wide will grow to noxious weeds, Nor can the mischief once by scandal sown, By any penance be again undone." -Mary E. C. Johnson, in Witness.

clean," as a warning to save others from the pestilence. Third. To be unselfish. To care for the feelings and comfort of others. To be polite. To be just in all dealings with others. . To be generous, noble and manly, This will include a genuine reverence for the aged and things sacred. Fourth. To be self-reliant and self-helpful even from early childhood. To be industrious always, and self-supporting at the earliest proper age. Teach them that all honest work is honerable, and that an idle useless life of depending on others is disgraceful. When a boy has learned these four things, when he has made these ideas a part of his being-however young he may be, however poor, however rich he has learned some of the most important things he ought to know when he becomes a man. With these four properly mastered, it will be easy to find all the rest.

WORDS TO BOYS .- I would keep "better hours" if I were a boy again ; that is, I would go to bed earlier than some boys do. Nothing gives more nental and bodily vigor than sound rest when properly applied. Sleep is our great replenisher, and Jerusalem. f we neglect to take it regularly in childhood, all the worse for us when we grow up. If we go to bed early, we ripen ; if we sit up late, we decay , even in youth. Late hours are shadows from the Cambridge.

If I were a boy again, I would practice perseverance oftener, and never give up a thing because it was hard or inconvenient to do it. If we want light we must conquer darkness. When I think of mathematics I blush at the recollection of how often
