

The Exchange says: "The exiled Jesuits from France have just bought for $100,000, a prison in Wales, just by order of the British authorities. This makes the second establishment the exiled Jesuits have founded in Wales. It is reported that a strong ecclesiastical dislike is expressed from Ireland against their settling in that country, and that Father Beck's, General of the Order, directed they should not visit Ireland as their first intention.

Ret. Dr. Nevell, of New York, says: "I know of a father in this city who had eight sons, and he said to them: 'Drink moderately, my sons, and it will be well with you; in immoderate drinking lies the danger.' The father was a moderate drinker; but his sons became drunkards. Moderate drinking has found drunkards' graves." Moderate drinkers, sweeten your next glass with that of Ret. Dr. Nevell.

Dr. Standy married Prof. and Mrs. Tyndall according to the usual form. The dean was not equal to his opportunities. If he had been, the Cincinnati Commercial says, he would have asked the groom: "Do you take this antipode to be your co-ordinate, to love with your nerve-centre, to cherish with your whole cellular tissue, until a final molecular disturbance will resolve its organism into its primitive atoms?"

The Indian Herald says: "We hear that a somewhat novel kind of trade is being carried on in the Punjab districts. Women are kidnapped beyond the frontier, purchased by the Afghans and others from their kidnappers and hawked about for sale in British territory. These women are often forcibly married to their purchasers, in spite of the fact that they may have husbands and children at their own homes. The trade is extensively carried on in the districts of Dera Ghazi Khan and Kohat."

Dr. Tanner said the other day: "I am making arrangements with Dr. Richardson of London to do fast fare. Dr. Richardson has gained considerable reputation on account of the stand he has made against the use of alcohol as a medicine. I have told him that I would do the forty days again in London, and he is to issue a challenge to the brewers, distillers and doctors. They may select six men as near my age and physical condition as possible. They can take wine, beer or any spirituous liquor during the fast, and I will take water only and will see what the result will be."

On any one's tongue, the water is water, and it is not so simple as it seems. It is reported that a man named Mr. J. J. Jones, of New York, was taken to the hospital with a fever, and died. It was said to be the result of strong east winds; and during the whole day the river was reduced to a small thread of water. Dr. Fuller, however, did not see this himself. He had it in his brother-in-law, Mr. J. C. Street, who had a nail on the rapid. His manager called him at five a. m. to witness the phenomenon. Dr. Fuller at that time was in the city, and there were several reliable eye-witnesses of the occurrence. One of them whom Dr. Fuller has named in the communication to a contemporary has given written declarations of the occurrence.

Messrs. L. K. Fisk & Co., New York, are doing a grand work in the publication of good books at prices that bring them within the reach of all. They take pleasure in giving their addresses on 10 and 12 Dey St., New York, where their pennyworth enterprise may be well patronized. They will send catalogues and prices of publication on application.

Spurgeon has written the following letter in reference to his publication of his new, quaint book—"John Ploughman's Pictures": "You have my full authority to publish 'John Ploughman's Pictures' as you see fit. I have no present view of copyright law enables me to give you only a moral right, and that I concede to you on the terms mentioned, only wishing that it could be of more value to you than it is."

The American public have now offered to them that "gigantic production," Young's Analytical Concordance, at about one-third the price European book buyers are paying for it. This great work has created much interest in England, where it is selling at $9.00. The European publishers have instructed their American agents, J. K. Fisk & Co., New York, to sell the Concordance at $3.00, which is the best European edition for $3.00, cloth bound, including postage to any address in the United States. This is the author's edition, and is printed from the original plates, on heavy paper. Spurgeon, in the Second and Third, says of this work: "Cruden's Concordance is a child's play compared with this gigantic concordance." Among its many advantages the following are set forth:

The most unlearned at a glance may find out three distinct points. First, what is the original Hebrew or Greek of any ordinary word in the English Bible; second, what is the literal and primary meaning of each original word; third, what are thoroughly true and reliable parallel passages. The completeness of the book is shown in the fact that it contains 119,000 references from Cruden's, and 29,000 various readings. The author wishes the American public to understand that this is the only edition sold in America which affords the same advantages as the original. It is a labor of nearly a life-time, and that is issued with his consent.

It is stated that the Parliament of Canada will meet about the middle of January. We are very loath to hear that Rev. Thos. Galus, the worthy and efficient Secretary of the Dominion Prohibitory Alliance, is very sick.

There are rumors that some changes are soon to be made in the Government of the Dominion. The following is condensed from the Daily Star report of the storm:

The heavy storm of rain, accompanied by a strong gale, which swept over the city on Friday night and Saturday morning did little serious damage, though reports from other quarters bring intelligence of a heavy fall of rain, and that the water level when fuller reports are received the result of the diasters, especially at sea, will be something appalling. The wind began to rise about 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon, and it was midnight before it had gathered any great force, but blowing about 20 miles an hour. It kept on increasing until it reached its highest velocity between 4 and 5 o'clock on Saturday morning, when it blew a very gale of 40 miles an hour, some of the gusts, however, reaching as high as 60 miles. It kept on blowing all day on Saturday, and on Sunday morning it was still blowing at 22 miles an hour. The gale slackened about 10 o'clock on Sunday a. m., and up to 1 o'clock p. m. averaged 20 miles an hour. UNITED STATES. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Lima dates to September 25th indicate that the boatsmen, Charles Anson and Chancy by Chilianas, resulted in no damage and they left.

REPORTS from the great roads state that there have been heavy rains and high winds in every locality, fences down here and there and a few barns unroofed. The telegraph lines suffered severely, the Dominion lines between here and Quipsness having been struck by lightning on the 21st. At Blawie, on the St. John & Maine Railway, the roof of a barn was carried by the wind to the telegraph wires.

At St. Andrews, it was admittedly the heaviest storm that had since the memory of man. Most of the houses in the town shook to their foundations. The damage was confined to the levelling of fences, propping of trees and the destroying of David Graham's barn.

At Halifax, although it is acknowledged to have been the most severe since the great gale of 1869, comparatively speaking, was small. A few vessels in the harbor dragged their anchors and a Liverpool schooner collided with the steamer Albatross, carrying away all her head gear and masts.

At St. John, it was admittedly the heaviest storm that had since the memory of man. Most of the houses in the town shook to their foundations. The damage was confined to the levelling of fences, propping of trees and the destroying of David Graham's barn.
