WRECK OF THE "EBLANA." SEVEN LIVES LOST.

This city was deeply moved on Monday evening when news was received and quickly circulated Pacific Railway debate, arguing that the Macdonald of the wreck of the barque Eblana near Nigger Government plan of the building by a company, Head on Monday. The particulars as condensed from the Globe's report are as follows :

The barque Eblana sailed from Newport, Wales, on the 24th of January for this port with a cargo of 400 tons of coal. There were sixteen persons in all on board. The weather was stormy the greater part of the passage, and the small spars were carried away. The vessel got safely into the Bay, however, and on Sunday night at 8 o'clock made Briar Island. All hands were looking to a speedy arrival in port, and the Captain was especially joyous. Towards midnight the weather became dark and threatening; and shortly before one o'clock snow began to fall. A gale sprang up, and the ves-sel went scudding along at the rate of ten knots an hour. About two o'clock the watch saw something ahead which was either land or fog. He decided cern you express for the injuries she lately received, it was land and so informed the mate.
