- WENDELL PHILLIPS delivered, the other day, a scorching review on the anti-abstinence lecture of Dr. Crosby. The report says he traversed the whole course of Dr. C.'s argumentation, and when he had finished there were but pitiful shreds of it fluttering in the wind. It is worse than a pity that a man of Dr. Crosby's position and influence should allow himself to be made the champion of the rum interest.

- While there is general denunciation of the German Government for persecuting the Jews of that country, it would seem that not all Jews are sure that they are desirable citizens. At a meetcago, a resolution condemning the German Government being under consideration, one of the members declared that "as a class Hebrews were not entitled to the sympathy of the world at large, as history for centuries and practice to-day proved that Jews never aided their fellow-men of other nationalities when in trouble." Of course such an utterance caused great excitement, and was met with a storm of hisses, but considerable applause also greeted it, showing that a great many held the same view of their own race.

THE DUTY OF THE-HOUR

A contributor in last week's issue wrote of th lature would do well to make provision for such lack of spiritual power in the church. That there is just now a very general sluggishness in the church at large is very apparent. The statistics of the different Christian denominations show that the acessions during the last year or two have been very small, hardly enough in some places to keep good the record of membership.
