The bill to aid in the construction of railways and

Only a few weeks ago public meetings were held in several counties respecting their railway interests, culminating in sending delegations to the Government. In dealing with this matter the Government deliberated carefully before perfecting the present measure, which is one calculated to meet the wants of the various sections and involving the construction of 250 miles. The bill provided for the issue of 4 per cent. dehentures for $3,000 per mile.

He gave the intleage of each road, making a total of 403 miles. He also explained the bonus to Carleout of ordinary revenue to wipe out old balances of the Lunatic Asylum, and $4,000 would be available from this source alone. Another item in this year's appropriation, $6.000 for elections, was only called for once in four years. Hon, gentlemen would

He asked the Attorney General to tell the House how many of these lines were going to be built, and to enlighten the members who honestly beto be constructed. There were lines that he knew
