"Better to hunt in fields for health unbought, Than fee the doctor for a nauseous draught, The wise for cure on exercise depend ; God never made his work for man to mend."

Dryden is right. But unfortunately people will sit in draughts. Then the skin becomes chilled. The blood is driven from the outside to the deeper seated portions of the body causing congestion of the mucuous membranes lining the air tube. Then follow chills, suppressed prespiration, aches and pains in the boues and back with slight fever. This is called a common cold. If he is wise he will now take Dr. Wilson's Palmonary Cherry Balsam, a pleasant combination of healing balms. It immediately will check the disease and send the blood back to its proper work, relieve the sufferer, and make him a new man.
