

July 27, 1883.

THE RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCER.

The jury in the case of Sarah Smith who shot Morrison, brought in a verdict of manslaughter, at Dorchester on Tuesday.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot, by the glancing of his axe. Dr. G. A. Hetherington was summoned and attended the injury.

An exchange says: Strange things are done in Monday evenings. A relation of Mr. Scott can be established in court, it would appear that groceries exist and are known to the police, on Friday evening, the Stipendiary Magistrate fined a man $4 for breaking glass in a liquor saloon on Duke street.

Wm. A. Belpa, driver of No. 1 Steam Fire Engine, was helping to unload horses at a cart in the alley between the Hook and Ladder Station and the Police building, a load of pressed hay fell upon him and broke his leg. Dr. James Christie was called to set the broken member.

David Lattimer, who was arrested on Monday night, for drunkenness and assaulting Officer Woods, made his appearance before the Portland Police Magistrate yesterday morning. The case was fully proved and various fines were inflicted, amounting in all to the sum of $85, or eleven months jail—die, break, so far.

Five brick machines are now employed at Maryville turning out a total of 50,000 brick per day for the cotton mill. In a few days the brick now obtained will be dry enough for the market. Strange say the clay obtained at Maryville for these brick is so peculiar a quality that no sand or loam is required to give it the proper adhesiveness. The wind rows of the mill, 1,200 in number, are now being manufactured at the new factory of J. C. Rishorn & Co., Fredericksburg.

Chapman, Esq., a prominent member of the Methodist Church at St. Stephen, has been anxious to have the debt removed from the church and in order to accomplish his purpose offered, as announced recently, to give his large estate, consisting of 1,000 acres, to the church.

This offer was received with cheer by the Rev. De Lesseps. The announcement of the Prime Minister was received with cheers by members of the Opposition. In the House of Lords, Earl Granville said that the agreement would be referred to a special committee.

Mr. Gladstone further said the argument was dropped owing to several objections to the scheme and because more time had been asked for by some of the members.

He also expressed his opinion that the canal should ultimately be placed under the control of the inland port authority.

The other day Rev. Robert Duncan reported that the congregation had subscribed $3,654 which amount included a voluntary subscription from Mrs. Chapman of $1,000. Mr. Chapman adhered to his offer and his cheque is for $1,000.

Dr. Spence, of the London Standard, last evening, announced his intention of taking advantage of the kind proposal of the Quarterly Board to take a tour abroad for the sake of his health and future usefulness in the church. He will probably proceed to Europe and remain there for a year, probably, however, to return to his church just as soon as his health is improved.

The other day Rev. Mr. Tippet, successor of Mr. Wm. Donisthorpe, in the evening.—News.

The I. C. R. authorities, after mature consideration, have reluctantly agreed to the proposal.

Beaver Bank, Friday, 6th inst., decided to reconstruct all the main trunks (with the exception of brakeman Wm. Donisthorpe) who were under suspicion since the occurrence. There was no evidence to show dereliction on the part of any one but Donisthorpe.

He was considered guilty, but for going out on the roads the distance route, where there was nothing to prevent him so doing—was shown by the evidence. In consequence Donisthorpe was not held responsible.

The I. C. R. authorities, after mature consideration, have reluctantly agreed to the proposal.

Mr. Wm. Donisthorpe, a brakeman of the Douglas and Mitchell locomotives, was found guilty of having been under suspicion since the occurrence. There was no evidence to show dereliction on the part of any one but Donisthorpe.

He was considered guilty, but for going out on the roads the distance route, where there was nothing to prevent him so doing—was shown by the evidence. In consequence Donisthorpe was not held responsible.

Transcript.

City physicians reported several cases of cholera morbus at present in the vicinity of Haymarket Square and at the New Market. One of the patients, Mr. Hetherington, was exceptionally severe, the sufferer being rendered unconscious in the space of two hours. Fortunately thus far none of the cases have proved fatal. There is probably no affinity between these cases and those in the great epidemic in the East, but this severity is causing the special attention of medical men. The health of the city has been remarkably good this summer, but the green fruit season having arrived physicians expect to be fully employed in a few days.

The work of rafting logs at the Douglas, Mitchell and Gladstone is not rapidly progressing. About 300 steam crews, working all along the three-hundred-mile line, will be employed by the end of July and fifty men. Soon the work will be completed and the river will be open for navigation.

On the 20th of July, 1850.—An explosion occurred at a powder mill here to-day; nine persons killed and two severely injured.

In a battle between Cetewayo, the celebrated Zulu African King, and another chief, last week, Cetewayo was killed and his army completely routed.

The deaths from cholera in Egypt appears to be increasing. On 20th the number of deaths in Cairo were 200, besides many more in different towns. On Wednesday there were 367 deaths in Cairo alone. Leprosy has also appeared.

able length in the local papers. For some as yet unexplained reason, the S. P. C. A. suddenly abandoned the case on Friday last and the girls were discharged, no one appearing to prosecute. In the interests of justice, the press of Halifax should make public the secret pressure brought to bear successfully to kill this case.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly severed his foot, part of the left foot by the glancing of his axe. He arrived too late and attempted to board the train, fell backwards. He was removed to the hospital, the fall causing a fracture of the tibia and fibula.

James Jackson, of Lynnfield, dropped dead on the street, St. Stephen, about 11 o'clock Wednesday. He was about 73 years of age. Heart disease was the cause of death.

Wm. Baxter, while hewing a piece of timber in the shipyards of Boston, Stewart & Richey, Marsh Creek, Sandusky, Ohio, nearly