Cousins." "A Great Financial Scheme," by Sophie Swett, is a very funny story with a very good moral. The moral is pointed at the tendency to speculate with other people's money and the loose ways of doing business that so largely contribute to the constant emigration to Canada. The story relates with rare humor how a country boy attempted to emulate the great Wall street speculators and met with disasterous consequences. In "Spiders of the Sea," C. F. The schooner afterwards drifted off and sank in deep water, it is believed, as she disappeared. The "Precursor" was a schooner of 46 tons, built in 1876. She was on a voyage from Pubnico to Halifax with a cargo of fish and oil. A Telegraph correspondent at Upper Port La Tour, N. S., writes: A recent arrival at this port is a lobster smack from New York, fitted out for a live eel voyage. She has a set of eel pots and a crew to tend them. The pots are set in a part of the harbor called Eel Bay. Report has it that they get from 15 to 20 cents.	Barnes & Co., St. John. W. H. Vanwart, Fredericton. E. J. Clarke, Woodstock.
