The nugget is kept in a glass case, and is an object of interest to all visitors.

An enterprising amateur journalist of Chambersburg, Pa, announces a new paper to be entitled "Death." It is to be "devoted to suicide and murder." "Death" will, no doub!, be a live paper. LITERARY NOTES

ALONG THE OLD ROAD. By Mary Hubbard Howell, author of "Through the Winter," "On the Way Home," and "In After Years." Cloth, 12mo. 352pp. Price $1.50. A reader of a fresh book of real merit often wishes to know what suggested it to the author, and how it grew into a volume. Happily the writer of this bright book has let us into the secret. For years the Pilgrim's Progress has been a very precious book to her, but she had noticed that a majority of people seemed to know little about it, save its name and some of its characters and scenes. She conceived the idea of writing a popular story that would remind the young of the exceeding beauty of this wonderful allegory. 'Along the Old Road" is the result of this idea The characters are graphically drawn. Though they are moving in every sphere, and not "on a pilgrimage," they still find a slough of despond, a hill of difficulty to climb, and lions in the way; a valley called Ease, and get glimpses of Delectable mountains. The book is neatly printed and beautifully bound; its external appearance being of itself not merely pleasing to the eye, but educating and refining to the taste. Published by the American Sunday-School Union, 1122 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and for sale by all booksellers.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electron and Electric Oil for the genuine Dr. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own medicines they would, like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric.
