Mr. Prest, manager of the Gibson Cotton Mills, says he has orders in hand for two months. Every oom in the mill is now in operation. Machinery has just been put in for the manufacture of cotton bats. These are now only made in one mill in Ontario. The mill is to be lighted by the Fireside Electric Lamp, manufactured by the Plume & Atwood manufacturing company. It will take about 300 of these lamps to light the mill.—Gleaner.

One of those unaccountable freaks of nature. One of the trees set out last fall is now in quite full efflorescense, four months behind its neighbors. Most of the trees bore a good crop of apples this season in spite of being transplanted. The one now in blossom did not bear fruit this summer, and is evidently attempting to perform the neglected duty yet, ere the season passes by.

At Richibucto on Monday afternoon a sad shooting accident occurred. A girl named Sarah McNeil was playfully endeavoring to take a pistol from the hands of a sailor named Brittain, when the pistol was accidently discharged, and the ball which was of 32 calibre entered the head of Alice Farrel, another young woman standing near by. The wound was just behind the right ear. The doctors have endeavored to find the bullet, thus far without succeeding, and have about concluded to allow it to remain. The girl retains consciousness and has apparently a fair chance for recovery.

Six additional informations were made out by the police clerk Friday afternoon against James Robinson for forgery. There are now ten complaints entered.
