Dr. Franklin recommends a young man, in the choice of a wife, to select her from a bunch, giving as his reason that when there are many daughters they improve each other, and from emulation acquire more accomplishments, and know more and do more than a single child spoiled by parental kindness. This is a comfort to people blessed with large families. A girl in one of the public schools of Montreal applied to her teacher for leave to be absent half a day on the plea that they had company at home. The teacher referred her to the printed list of reasons that the school committee think sufficient to justify absence, and asked her if the case came under any of them? She naively replied that it might come under the head of "domestic affliction.

The passage, " Elect | for $16,000. infants dying in infancy are saved," it well says, is perfectly clear, and needs no explanation. It implies what was intended, that non-elect infants are not saved. This says the Evangelist, is what none of us believe, and it declares that simple honesty demands that it be expunged. An old railroad engineer writer to the Atlanta Constitution: "I can remember when a passenger train was as troublesome as an ox-cart on a hilly road. I was one of the first engineers that took a train over the State road. The engine was about the size of an ordinary stationary farm engine, and the cars were almost as small as those used on narrow gauge roads. There were no brakes in those days. When the train drew near a station speed was gradually reduced, and when the station was reached, railroad hands, armed with blocks of wood, would jump off and chock the wheels."
