THE INNER CALM. Calm me, my God, and keep me calm, While these hot breezes blow;

Upon earth's fevered brow. Calm me, my God, and keep me calm, Soft resting on thy breast; Soothe me with holy hymn and psalm,

Be like the night-dew's cooling balm

And bid my spirit rest. Calm me, my God, and keep me calm, Let thine outstretched wing Be like the shade of Elim's palm Beside her desert spring.

Yes, keep me calm, though loud and rude The sounds my ear that greet Calm in the closet's solitude, Calm in the bustling street ; Calm in the hour of buoyant health, Calm in my hour of pain ; Calm in my poverty or wealth, Calm in my loss or gain.

Calm in the sufferance of wrong, Like Him who bore my shame; Calm 'mid the threatening, taunting throng, Who hate thy holy name.

Calm when the great world's news with power My listening spirit stir; Let not the tidings of the hour

E'er find too fond an ear. Calm as the ray of sun or star Which storms assail in vain, Moving unruffled through earth's war,

The eternal calm to gain.

EVENTIDE.

BY KATE W. HAMILTON. "Now I lay me down to sleep." Long and hard has been the day I have come a weary way Since life's morning but at last Night is falling sweet and fast. "Now I lay me down to sleep."

"I pray thee, Lord, my soul to keep." I have tried-alas! in vain-From the world's dark soil and stain Free to keep it. Weak and worn, With my strength all overborne,

"I pray thee, Lord, my soul to keep." "If I should die before I wake." Treasures have slipped fast away From my keeping day by day, And I shrink from coming ill; This thought holdeth joy's glad thrill-"If I should die before I wake,"

"I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take." From all the sorrow it hath known-Sin and loss, and tear and moan-To the dear ones gone before, To thy presence evermore 'I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take.'

"This I ask for Jesus' sake." Name alone that can prevail. Anchor-hold within the veil! Every other plea hath flown; Worth or merit claim I none : "This I ask for Jesus' sake."

The fireside.

"IS THAT ALL."

A carpenter who had been a constant drinker "in a moderate way," as he called it-and who was often really drunk, went to a place where the writer was presiding over a temperance meeting. The carpenter was interested, and convinced that he was a very foolish man to waste his money, strength and time, as he had done in the public house. The part of an address that touched him most powerfully was that by an ex-circus man, who described his own feelings when his little girl-who was leading him home on Sabbath morning from the public house where he had caroused all Saturday, and where he had stayed all night-asked him a question. They happened to pass a school-room where the scholars were just singing their Sabbath hymn. His little girl said, "Stop a minute father; listen. Is it not sweet? How I should like to be in that school!" Then she looked up and said, most piteously, "Father, when will our

That question had touched the heart of the circus man, and he resolved by God's help that his dear broken-hearted wife and ragged children should have happier times, if possible. He was changed, and became a speaker of temperance. Now as he told, with the tone of truth and power of pathos, the story in a crowded assembly, his words reached the heart of the carpenter who was one of his

The carpenter was convinced that he had lived a selfish and harmful as well as foolish life. He resolved to give up the drink. He knew his wife was miserable, his children were afraid of him, his home shabby and dilapidated, and his debts increasing. He knew that he had helped to make the publican the most 'patronized' comfortable, and the publican's wife gay with the silks purchased out of his ' fools' pence.' He resolved that his own wife should have less reason to complain, and more money to spend. He was earning the moderate wages of thirty shillings a week, but out of that he contrived to spend often six or seven shillings, sometimes much more.

After deciding to be a total abstainer he made himself a strong box without hinges and nailed it up tightly. He left just a small slit in the top through which he could drop his coppers. And many a penny and three-penny-bit he had dropped therein. It was his custom whenever he felt tempted to drink to take out of one pocket just the money that he would have to spend to gratify a mere taste or craving, and put into the other until he should reach home; then he would put it in the box and leave it there untouched. For a year this went on. He kept the box hidden away, and told net his wife of his practice or intention. At the end of the year he was seated by his own fireside after tea, and looking across at his wife, he said. pleasantly. "Jennie, it is just one year ago tonight since I signed the pledge; do you think we are any better off for it?" "Better off? Why, yes, Charlie."

" How ?" "Why, you are earning more money, and you would not have been made foreman if you had not become so steady and trustworthy. Then look at the home; we have better furniture now." "Is that all?"

"The children are better clothed."

"Is that all?" He asked again.

"Why, no Charley; they are happier, and so

" Is that all ?" "Well, I am happier, and I think healthier, for I have less anxiety than I used to have." " Is that all ?"

"No, for you are kinder and happier too." " Is that all?" He again asked.

"No, for we are out of debt, and I have even two pounds in hand." " Is that all?"

"I don't know anything further unless that you delight to go to God's house on the Sabbath." "Yes, I do delight in it; and thank God. 1 found out my need of a Saviour, and have found that the Saviour was seeking me. But there is something more that makes me ask whether even | -i-. that is all.

".What is it ?" "Nellie," he said to his bright eldest girl, "go into my work-shop and open my tool chest. You will see there a box with a slit in it. Bring it."

The daughter soon returned, evidently weighed down by a burden. She placed the box on the table. The mother looked at it wonderingly. Soon it was opened by the hammer and screwdriver, which her husband had at hand. He turned the box carefully over, and out rolled a large number of coppers and silver.

"Count it wife. That is the money I should have spent in drink during the last twelve months. That is all ours, not the publican's. It is ours. We are all that better off for my signing the pledge."

The wife tremblingly counted the many coins, each one bearing upon it the invisible stamp of selfconquest. When all was told, there appeared in many copper and silver pillars the sum of fourteen pounds! This was a large sum to them, and to the wife it was more than a large fortune. Her eyesmoistened with tears of joy, and yet kindled with love and trust-met those of her husband. "Thank God for all His mercies. 'Tis not for the money I praise Him, but for giving my dear husband such strength of will, and me such peace and happiness." -Canadian Band of Hope.

OBEYING MOTHER PLEASANTLY Harry had seen some older boys fly their kites from the tops of the houses; and he thought it would be nice fun if he could do so too. So he come to his aunt and said, "Aunt Mary, may I go to the top of the house and fly my kite?" His aunt wished to do everything to please him ; but she thought it very unsafe, so she said : "No, Harry, my boy. I think that is a very dangerous sort of play. I'd rather you wouldn't go." "All right. Then I'll go out on the bridge," said Harry. His aunt smiled, and said she hoped he would always be as obedient as that.

" Harry, what are you doing?" said his mothe one day. 'Spinning my new top, mother.'

"Can't you take the baby out to ride?" Get out the carriage, and I'll bring him down." "All right!" shouted the boy as he put his n his pocket and hastened to obey his mother. "Uncle William, may I go over to your shop this morning?" said Harry one day at breakfast. 'I want to see those baskets again that I was looking at yesterday."

"Oh, yes, Harry," said his uncle; "I shall be very glad to have you."

"But I can't spare you to-day, Harry," said his mother. "I want you to go out with me. You shall go to the shop another day." "All right," said Harry, and he went on with

No matter what Harry was asked to do, or what refusal he met with when asking for anything, his constant answer was, "All right." He never stopped to worry or tease. He never asked, "Why can't I?" or, "Why musn't I?" Harry had not only learned to obey, but he had learned to obey in good humor. -Sel.

SEED DAYS.

Where do we raise grain, or plants, or flowers? We raise them in the gardens or in the fields. To do it, we must plow, dig, hoe, and thoroughly work the soil. But is this all that is necessary? No; there must first be seed sown. Suppose we should plant beads and buttons and pearls and diamonds. * Would there be any crop ?

Of course not, because these things have no life n them; but seeds which are sown have in them life which comes from God.

Nothing good can be got from the soil until omething good has been put into it. The seed must be planted before it will grow.

> CHAT. BIBLE STUDY

TOPIC : COME TO JESUS

HELL AWAITS YOU! COME TO BE SAVED. Hell is not a fable invented by priests to frighten their fellow-men; but as sure as the Bible is the Word of God, so sure is it that "the wicked shall be turned into HELL, and all the nations that forget God." "It is appointed unto all men once to die, and after death the JUDGMENT!" Then all men must give an account of "the deeds done in the body." "God will judge the secrets of men." Then all sinners who have not obtained pardon by coming to Jesus, who will pronounce their dreadful sentence: "Depart, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels !" Who can tell the torments of that place! The rich man can take none of his wealth with him, the gay man none of his amusements. Not only will the world and sin cease to charm, but the pleasant light of day, the cheerful voice of friends, the quiet comforts of home will be no more. Conscience will dart its sting : past sins will be clearly remembered, with opportunities for escape now gone for eyer! Oh, that one of them might come back! Oh, for one more Sabbath! Oh, for one more hour to pray for mercy! But it will be then too late, too late! Darkness for ever !- sin for ever !- woe for ever ! -death for ever! Jesus speaks of it as "the lake that burneth with fire and brimstone, -outer darkness, where there is weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth-where the worn dieth not, and the fire is not quenched-where the wicked rich man, being in torments, cried out : 'Send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue, for I am tormented in this flame!' There "he that is filthy shall be filthy still, and the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever nd ever!" What misery can be greater than that which such words as these describe! How dreadful, then, to be in hell! What more horrible? And every unforgiven sinner is on his way to it You, whose eye now reads thus, if you are not pardoned, you are on your way! Every hour brings you nearer! Once there, and all hope is gone for ever! But is there no escape? Yes! Flee to Jesus !- He came to save from hell! "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in ' (cometh to) 'Him should not perish, but have everlasting against the Arabs, and took Juno with them. One day there was a great battle at a place called Tel-el Kebir. The Highlanders were ordered to charge upon the enemy. The Arabs were hidden behind great banks of earth, waiting for the attack. Then the drums beat and the trumpets blew. The Highlanders came up on a run. But ahead of them was brave Juno. She leaped over the banks of earth, barking with all her might. This frightened the ignorant Arabs, for they had been told that the Highlanders had fierce bloodhounds with them. The Arabs thought Juno must be one of these fearful beasts. They began running away as fast as they could. This was fine play for Juno. She raced after them, snapping at their Page. Smalley & Ferguson hoels and barking with delight; and the more she yelped, the faster did the Arabs scamper.

THE DOG THAT EARNED A MEDAL.

The Highlanders did not have much fighting to do that day. The poor Arabs ran themselves quite out of breath. They never stopped till they were miles away, in a safe place. How proud the soldiers were of Juno!

Now when the war was over the soldiers had a parade. Medals were given to those who had been brave. But nobody hadso much attention as Juno. She marched proudly with her regiment, and all the people praised and petted her. Perhaps Juno was contented with caresses; yet many people said she ought to have had a medal too, as well as the men. The playful dog really scared the enemy more than the soldiers did; and besides, she did not hurt any of the poor Arabs .-Our Little Ones,

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar York, Oct.

"Gentlemen: My father resides at takever Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrot ula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about ave years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case. Yourstruly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable tching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once, The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect - being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SABSAPARILLA. Glover, VL., Oct. Yours gratefully, HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system. PREPARED BY without leas—as the American is—and also saves a great deal of waste. Those acquainted with weaving will understand the great advantage it is to them to use yarn put up in this COTTON CARPET WARP, Made of No. 10 Yarn, 4-Ply Twisted.

WHITE, RED, BROWN, SLATE, &c. All fast colors. Each 5 lb. bundle contains 10,000 yards in length and will make a length of Carpet in proportion to the number of ends in width.

We have put more twist into this warp than it formerly had, and it will now make a more durable Carpet than can be made with any other material. Since its introduction by us, a few years ago, it has come into very general use throughout the country.

All our goods have our name and address upon them.
