LITERARY NOTES.

The Dorcas magazine for November offers its readers an attractive array of illustrated directions and suggestions for needle work, such as will give them valuable assistance in making articles for home decoration or Christmas gifts, and saleable goods for the benefit of those who support themselves. Mrs. Laura B. Starr's eighth paper in her "Home Decorations" series, and Madge Hepworth Dixon's chapter on Darning Work, in which she describes some beautiful covers, scarfs, etc., will be acceptable, while directions for making a great variety of seasonable knitted and crocheted articles, tied work, Breton embroidery, cheap and pretty nursery baskets and shell work will also be helpful. She is indeed a dull woman whose house is not more beautiful, her friends no richer or her purse no heavier after a visit from Dorcas. $1. per annum. A sample costs 10 cents. Those who appreciate thorough Bible study are finding in THE OLD TESTA-MENT STUDENT some valuable aid. The number for November will be eagerly read and preserved by such persons. The paper on "The Kingdom of God in the Old Testament," is complete in this issue. "Book-Studies of former numbers is supplemented by a characteristic "Chapter Study" of Gen. xlix. The views of Professor Franz Delitzsch on an important question of Old Testament Interpretation are an interesting feature of the issue. With this number is introduced a new department, which will always beat tractive, called "Old Testament Notes it is a part of its settled policy that it and Notices." THE STUDENT certainly deserves all the increase in circulation which the publishers say is coming to from a port in the United States, and it, and more. Any one may have a copy free. THE HOMILETIC REVIEW for November possesses the average merit of this magazine. The leading paper, entitled, "The Conversion of St. Paul Its Preparation and its Purpose," is of much interest and power. Dr. Stuckenberg, of Berlin, writes on "Experience with Doubters." His statements as to the skepticism prevalent among the theological students in Germany, especially the American portion, will produce a sensation. "Side Lights, sheds light on the readings and explanations of various portions of Scripture. "Seed Thoughts for Sermons," and "Missionary Field," are suggestive and stimulating, Dr. Crosby preaches a Thanksgiving Discourse; Dr. Charles H. Hall, one on "The Source of Hope;" and Dr. Talmage by mistake threw a package of gunone called, "The Termini of Two powder into the stove. Her face and City Roads." The other departments arms were severely burned. Her of the Review are full with timely clothing, which caught fire, was extinmatter. The "Prospectus for 1887" is full of promise. If it is carried out the readers of the REVIEW for 1887 her. will have a feast. Published by Funk & Wagnalls, 10 and 12 Dey street, New York. $3.00 per year; 20 cents per single number.

How to Strengthen the Memory; or, Natural and Scientific Methods of Never Forgetting. By M. L. Holbrook, M. D. Price $1.00. New York : M. L. Holbrook & Co.

The author of this book believes that the memory can be strengthened so as to be many times stronger than it would be without culture, and he goes to work in a plain, straightforward way to point out the most suitable methods. These we find to be simple. There is nothing but what every one can understand and adapt to his own requirements. The author makes free use of the suggestions and opinions of others, but is not without methods of his own, There are chapters on The Memory of the Aged; The Memory of Names and Lawyers' and Clergymen's Memory; The Relation of the Health to the Memory, and a multitude of suggestions and hints of the greatest value. Prof. Gaillard, the eminent teacher of languages, contributes a chapter on The Best Methods of Cultivating the Memory for Words, and the author Pick's book, long out of print, the chapter on How to Learn a New Lanpapers in the work is an account by Dr. N. S. Townshend, of the Ohio University, of the training of his own memory, which was in boyhood very poor, and which was made to be remarkably vigorous. The paper, presswork and binding are unusually good.

Whereas, in the construction of the Pacific railway and the opening up of the Northwest, the people of the maritime provinces have submitted to the taxes laid upon them to aid this great work and undertaking on the clear understanding that the same was being done as a portion of a national policy to do the trade of Canada on and over Canadian soil, and that the terminus of the railway in summer and winter as well would be at a Canadian port:

Whereas, the citizens of St. John can only understand the recent advertisement for tenders for fast mail service, lately published by the Dominion government, as a matter of inadvertence, but the fact of such an advertisement being published has aroused the public attention to the whole question in such a way as to call upon the people of New Brunswick to put for the time being party politics in the background and demand that their rights be no longer kept in jeopardy; therefore Resolved, That this meeting declares that the people of this city and county will not be satisfied with anything less than a clear and explicit promise by the government of this Dominion that will not directly or indirectly subsidize any steamers or line of steamers to or that it will exclude from any adverany tender that includes a subsidy for mail service to or from any but a Canadian port, and that does not include the port of St. John. And that our representatives in parliament from this city and county are hereby instructed to obtain if possible such a promise from the government.

Fire broke out on Sunday, 7th, in the rear of Parrish & Son's grocery and provision store, Calgary, N. W.T., and spread with frightful rapidity, as the buildings are principally of wood. It was at one time feared that the whole town would be burned down. The total losses will foot up over $100,000, with insurance of about $24,000. At six o'clock at night another fire was discovered in a barn filled with hay, and for half an hour it looked as if it would be as bad or worse than that of the morning. By great efforts, however, it was extinguished, and the town saved from further destruction. There is no doubt but that both fires were the work of incendiaries.

Arthur O'Connor, member of Parliament for East Donegal, and one of the Royal Commissioners to report on the prevailing depression of trade in Great Britain, has written out his views on and industrial centres of the kingdom forms a constantly increasing burden on the industries of the country. The mining royalties also are excessive. The farmer gives more quarters of the wheat, the manufacturer more nails, the miner more tons of coals or iron, on the discharge of legal obligations than were contemplated by either lessor or lessee in the contracts made by them. Mr. O'Connor attributes the depression in trade to these causes.
