

"RELIGION," we often hear, "is well enough in churches and prayer-meetings, but business affairs are too broad to be managed by any principle so narrow." Yet what but the simple Golden Rule of the divine Master is wanted to settle the labor troubles that are looming up over the horizon? Let employers show the right spirit (which employees would sooner or later reciprocate), and a millennium would begin in our factories, mines, and on railways. There are already great establishments enough, in which that spirit reigns, to furnish us a foregleam of the better day that is coming on.—Ex.

ORGANIZATION.—A correspondent of one of our exchanges, says: "It is to be feared that in our cities the tendency is to commit religious work to organizations, very much as the putting out of fires is given over to the fire department, while the people look on and see them work. In the country, every man seizes his pail and is a fireman." But one would a great deal rather if his house was on fire trust the organized fire department than the solitary volunteer. Individual effort serves best when it finds its place in the divinely instituted organization—the church. What we want is not here and there a Christian, ready to work, but many Christians who will be true yoke-fellows in endeavors to save men.—Baptist Weekly.

BOGUS EGGS.—One of the most unique cases of adulteration that has yet been mentioned is reported from New Jersey, where a man was arrested a few days ago for selling false eggs. The shell was made of some translucent substance; the white of an albuminous preparation, and the yolk of saffron and carrot. Strangest of all, they made a very good omelet. The fraud was detected only when they were boiled. The ingenious manufacturer exhibited his wares to a New York dealer, and declared that they could be made on a larger scale for a half cent apiece, while real eggs cost from three to four cents. I should think these conspirators would be ashamed to look an honest hen in the face.

A PROTEST.—An India missionary—says the Christian Advocate—sends home a strong protest against church lotteries, husking-bees, raffles, and all similar devices for raising money. He fears lest the heathen hear that such methods are used by some Christian churches, and denounce them as discreditable to any religion. The glaring inconsistency of such methods is so obvious that it is wonderful that Christian people anywhere ever consented to their use. How much better for every one to lay by "as God hath prospered him," and to give intelligently and systematically to support the institutions of the church, and to aid all benevolent causes which commend themselves to his godly judgment. Away with the devil's measures from the house of God!

MISTAKES OF LIFE.—Somebody has condensed the mistakes of life, and arrived at the conclusion that there are fourteen of them. Most people would say, if they told the truth, that there was no limit to the mistakes of life; that they were like the drops in the ocean, or the sands of the shore in number, but it is well to be accurate. Here, then, are fourteen great mistakes. "It is a great mistake to set up our own standard of right and wrong, and judge people accordingly; to measure the enjoyment of others by our own; to expect uniformity of opinion in this world; to look for judgment and experience in youth; to endeavor to mould all dispositions alike; to yield to immaterial trifles; to look for perfection in our own actions; to worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied; not to alleviate all that needs alleviation as far as lies in our power; not to make allowances for the infirmities of others; to consider everything impossible that we cannot perform; to believe only what our finite minds can grasp; to expect to be able to understand everything."

THE NEW ENGLAND YEARLY MEETING OF FRIENDS, in their recent session at Newport, R. I., had a long and earnest discussion on the subject of "Ordinances." The yearly meetings in the West are far more liberal on this subject than those in the East, and allow their ministers and members to receive, if they so desire, both baptism and the Lord's Supper. This discussion at Newport grew out of the presence of two evangelists from the West, whose labors in the vicinity of Fall River had resulted in about five hundred conversions, only about sixty of whom joined the Friends. Many of the members of the yearly meeting were favorable to the evangelists, but their credentials were not received, the majority preferring to stand by the old position of the sect, and to hold aloof from the liberal Friends of the West. The meeting strongly condemned the restoration of capital punishment in Maine. One of the most interesting meetings of the session was that of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

TWENTY-FOUR O'CLOCK.—The General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has issued a circular stating that in view of the new conditions that have to be met by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, in establishing a continuous train service on a line of railway covering fifty-three degrees of longitude and soon to cover sixty degrees (or four hours of time), it has been found necessary for convenience and to avoid confusion to adopt what is known as the "twenty-four hour system," that is to substitute the numbers 13 to 24 for the present P. M. hours 1 to 12, so that the hours from midnight to midnight will be numbered from 1 to 24.

SOME LONG WORDS.—A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican asked for the longest word in the English language. There have been a large number of answers, some of them quite amusing. Here is a list of words, with the number of letters in each:

LETTERS.
Philoprogenitiveness.....20
Incomprehensibility.....21
Disproportionableness.....21
Suticounstitutionalist.....21
Honorificabilitudinitas.....22
Velocipedestrianism.....23
Transubstantiation.....23
Proantianstitutionalist.....28

"Only the first three words are to be found in the last edition of Webster's dictionary, and disproportionableness is undoubtedly the longest word in that volume. The correspondent who originated honorificabilitudinitas defines it as honorableness, but certainly has not honorableness enough to entitle it to a nest in the unabridged Velocipedestrianism likewise lacks age and respectability, but it may find its way into Webster in time; it certainly has good locomotive powers. Suticounstitutionalist is doubtful, but we do not believe even a mandamus would get it into the dictionary. Transubstantiation might get there if Webster wasn't looking. The man who invented proantianstitutionalist says it is a good English word, 'derived from a short and simple Latin root, and means one who dissents from the doctrine or dogma of the so-called Real Presence.' That may all be, but he ought to be condemned to pronounce the word twice a day as long as he lives if he tries to introduce it into the speech of honest men. But, speaking of long words, what is the matter with Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgtertwilgerchwynnyllgogerbwlzantnosiliogogoch, the name of a village in Wales?"

ALL SORTS.

It costs a little more than 20 cents a mile to run a locomotive, of which nearly eight cents is for fuel, seven and a quarter for pay of engineer and fireman, four and a half for repairs, and one and a half for oil and waste.

A Baptist Missionary in China writes home that what an American family throws away in a year would keep a dozen Chinese families; and what a Chinese family throws away in the same time would not feed a mouse.

We heard the other day, of a lady who is laying the foundation of a large fortune. She keeps a penny box on her dining table, and when members of the family speak ill of any one she requires them to contribute to the box.

Germany has eight schools of forestry, where five years' training is required of those who seek positions under the government, although a course of study half as long may be taken by amateurs. France supports a single school at Nancy.

The wind is always tempered to the shore lamb. In the bleak climate of St. Paul, where an editor would naturally freeze to death several times each winter, kind Providence induces his subscribers to bring libel suits to warm him up. One paper in that city has fourteen suits, and the editor works in his shirt sleeves on the coldest days.

Theological and religious books head the list of works published in Britain during the past year; in America they stand second, 425 to 934 works of fiction. In Britain the number of religious books was 847, while fiction stood fourth on the list, being surpassed by books of sports and amusements, 833, and juvenile works, 813. The total of the books issued in America reached 4,030; in Britain 5,640.

Several months ago a man at San Francisco was badly burned by an explosion. His limbs, face and hands were covered with huge sores which refused to heal. Skin-grafting was resorted to, and fully fifty pieces of flesh from relatives of the sufferer have been grafted. The flesh from the thigh of a live chicken was also grafted successfully. The case is one of the worst ever known in San Francisco, and the result is awaited with interest by physicians.

The highest mountain in Victoria has been scaled by a colonial geologist and naturalist, Dr. Lendenfeld, and two companions. The party successfully ascended Mount Bogong, 6,508 feet high, in three days, by a new route from Snowy Creek on the Mitta Mitta River, and spent 24 hours on the summit, where they took some valuable photographs. They found traces of glaciers in the valleys. Mount Kosciuszko, 7,285 feet high, in New South Wales, is the highest Australian mountain.

The extreme richness of the milk of the reindeer that feed on the wild mosses of Sweden, has led to an examination of the moss as an article of food. These researches have resulted in the establishment of a number of moss-dealers in Russia and Sweden, and a prosperous and growing interest has been developed. The moss employed yields, on an average, as much alcohol as good grain, and three times as much as potatoes. The supply is practically inexhaustible, as it is spread over vast tracts, extending from the Baltic to Behring Strait.

In Japan there are young men and women who believe that their conjugal bliss may be made to depend on the growth of a plant. It is a plant called omoto. Its chief characteristic is that it is a lusty and rapid grower, throwing out constantly new shoots from the root. It is, therefore, a fitting emblem of the marriage state, and as such it is regarded. A lad or a lass, on going to his or her married home, carries thither a carefully chosen omoto, and this being planted or tended, is watched from year to year, because so long as it shows healthy development the permanence and prosperity of its master's or mistress's marriage state are supposed to be assured.

Mexico has ten or twelve millions of people, one-third of whom are believed to be pure Indians, still living pretty much by themselves, and speaking about 120 different languages or dialects. One half of the Mexicans are of mixed blood, and they are the dominant class, and have in this generation many men of fine ability, though they have a low section called "Loperos," whose members are dress and off-scourings. One-sixth of the population is of European stock, and the Spanish of those whose ancestors came from Spain is the national language. D. A. Wells writes in Popular Science that the language is not adapted to a commercial people, and will prove a serious obstacle to improvement.

LITERARY NOTES.

The July number of St. Nicholas is not lacking in patriotism, and opens with an interesting sketch of "La Fayette" and his two visits to America. Ripley's "Fly-fishing for Trout," in which he shows how boys and girls can become proficient in this attractive sport, and how when away from streams and lakes, they can practice fly-casting on the front lawn.

Among other prominent features of the magazine are an installment of J. T. "The Whistler's" Maine coast story, "The Kelp-Gatherers," some more notes on "Wonders of the Alphabet," and a "Ready for Business" article on "Boat-building."

Palmer Cox tells about the "Brownies in the Menagerie," and other poems, verses, stories, sketches, and illustrations are contributed.

Articles of entertainment and of serious timely interest share equally the space of the July CENTURY.

As usual the War papers are profusely illustrated, the first of them a conclusion to the Antietam articles of the previous number, and under the title "In the Wake of Battle," giving a woman's recollections of Confederate hospital work at Shepherdstown during Antietam week. Three other papers deal anecdotally with the capture of New Orleans. Captain Beverley Kennon, who commanded the Confederate steamer, the "Governor Moore," gives a thrilling description of the fighting and loss of his ship; Commander Albert Kautz describes "Incidents of the Occupation of New Orleans," and Marion A. Baker, then the mayor's private secretary, treats the same subject from a Confederate point of view.

"The Labor Question" is ably treated from the point of view of a Western manufacturer; while Theodore L. De Vinne, who prints the CENTURY and St. Nicholas, gives his views on the question of "Co-operation."

The poems of the number are by Charles G. D. Roberts, the late Sidney Lanier, Richard Watson Gilder, Walter Larned, and others.

Two of the editorials in "Topics of the Time" deal with the labor question.

STUCK WITH LIGHTNING.

Neatly describes the position of a hard or soft corn when Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is applied. It does its work so quickly and without pain that it seems magical in action. Try it. Recollect the name—Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of Cutting Teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. It cures Dysentery and Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums, reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind.

WORKING PEOPLE are practically benefited by the use of JAMES PYLE'S PEARLINE. It lessens the toil and drudgery of wash day, without damage to fabric or hands, and expedites all kinds of cleansing work surprisingly, without the aid of soap, soda, or other preparations. Sold by all grocers, but see that counterfeits are not urged upon you.

EASILY CURED.

Mrs. Berkshaw, 26 Pembroke St., Toronto, cured of a bad lameness of the knee joint, upon which the surgeons were about to operate. Other treatment had been tried in vain. Hagyard's Yellow Oil was the remedy used.

Mrs. D. Morrison, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writing about Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, says: "George Bell used it on his son, and it cured him of rheumatism with only a few applications. The balance of the bottle was used by an old gentleman for asthma, with the best results. It acts like a charm."

COMPELLED TO YIELD.

Obstinate skin diseases, humors of the blood, eruptions and old sores are cured by Burdock Blood Bitters, which purify and regulate all the secretions.

Life is full of disappointments. We recently offered to cure a bad case of Rheumatism for a year's subscription in advance, but just as we were on the point of lifting the shakels, a sympathizing friend suggested Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, and the money and the patient vanished instantly.

What Toronto's well-known Good Samaritan says: "I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for over twenty years, and I have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me as much good as Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure."

CLARA E. PORTER.

AFTER TWENTY-THREE YEARS SUFFERING

Rev. Wm. Stout, of Warton, was cured of scrofulous abscess that seventeen doctors could not cure. Burdock Blood Bitters was the only successful remedy. It cures all impurities of the blood.

O. Bortle, of Manchester, Ontario Co., N. Y., writes: "I obtained immediate relief from the use of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I have had asthma for eleven years. Have been obliged to sit up all night for ten or twelve nights in succession. I can now sleep soundly all night on a feather bed, which I had not been able to do previously to using the Oil."

A MIDNIGHT ALARM.

There is scarcely any fright more alarming to a mother than the ominous sound of cough—so liable at the hour of night. When Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam (for the throat and lungs) is at hand, croup and distressing coughs lose half their terrors. It cures coughs, asthma and bronchitis.

Parsons' Purgative Pills make new rich blood, and will completely change the blood in the entire system in three months. Any person who will take one pill a night from one to twelve weeks may be restored to sound health, if such a thing is possible.

A GOLDEN OPINION.

Mrs. Wm. Allen, of Acton, declares that Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the best household remedy in the world for colds, croup, sore throat, burns, scalds and other painful complaints. Her opinion is well founded.

FURRED TONGUE AND IMPURE BREATH are two concomitants of biliousness, remedied by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. Heartburn, which harasses the dyspeptic after meals, and all the perplexed and changeable symptoms of established indigestion, are dispersed by this salutary corrective tonic and celebrated blood purifier.

FIVE YEARS OF TORTURE.

Mrs. U. Aston, of Bracobridge, writes to say that Burdock Blood Bitters cured her of headaches, from which she had suffered for five years, all other means having failed.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 3rd, 1882.

Messrs. T. B. Barker & Sons:

Dear Sirs,—From what I know of the great value of Fellows' Leeming's Essence in effecting cures in very many cases where it has been applied, I take pleasure in recommending it to all horsemen as a remedy they should always keep in their stables.

R. T. WORDEN,

Boarding and Livery Stables, St. John, N. B.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 22nd, 1881.

Messrs. T. B. Barker & Sons:

Gentlemen,—Having had occasion to use Fellows' Leeming's Essence at different times, I have to state that it is, without exception, the best remedy that I know of for Splints, Ringbone, Bone Spavin, and the different ailments of the horse for which it is prescribed. Horsemen everywhere should try it, and having once tried it, don't think they would run a stable without it. The cost of the preparation is a small item compared with the benefit that is derived from its use.

ROBERT BUSTIN.

Fellows'

Leeming's

Essence

Has been in use by Horsemen for more than thirty-five years, and thousands of valuable horses that otherwise would have been rendered useless have been cured by the timely application of this Essence, in cases of Lameness from Slips, Spavins, Ringbone, Sidebone, Splints, Strains, Bruises, etc., etc.
