NEW BRUNSWICK.

B. Mooney & Sons are building an addition to Gibson's cotton mill 250 feet in length and 100 in width. The new portion will be used as a bleachery and dye house.

The deposits in the Dorcester branch of the government savings bank during year ending June 30th, 1886, amounted to $38,414. The withdrawals during the same period reached a total of $10,205.39. -Post.

Monday afternoon Daniel Hatfield, who is charged with an indecent assault upon Margaret O'Donnell, was brought before the magistrate and the evidence taken at the preliminary examination read over to him. He pleaded not guilty and was committed for trial at the next session of the circuit court.

The receipts of fines at the police court during the six months ending June 30 were $1,176.78. This amount is considerable in excess of the recollected from law breakers for the same time was $995.80; and it shows that either the police force of Fredercity. The Kings' County Court, Judge Wedderburn presiding, opened at 2 P. M. Wednesday, in the court room. His Honor directed the sheriff to bring in the prisoner, Israel McLaughlin. His Honor spoke of the dreadful crime he had attempted and said the prisoner ought to be thankful to a merciful Providence that he had not been successful. The judge then arose from his seat and said that "the sentence of the court is that you be imprisoned in the penitentiary for the remainder of your natural life, with hard labor."

surprised to learn that Mrs. Samuel the affair took place, swore they did sometime. On advice of her medical attendant, she has been taking some outdoor exercise and on Friday while out for a walk she procured an ounce of Paris green in W. C. R. Allen's drug store, which was marked on the label in plain black letters "poison." It was about five o'clock, Saturday morning, when Mrs. Whitebone was discovered in the yard in the rear of her residence in her night dress. Jacob Whitebone, who was awakened by the barking of a dog, first saw Mrs. Whitebone in the yard and immediately called her husband. Both horriedly went to where she was and the front of her night dress plainly revealed the fact that she had attempted to take her life with Paris green. Mrs. Whitebone was taken into the house and Drs. John Berryman and Travers sent for. The stomach pump was brought into use, but not until after chloroform was administered, as she refused to open her mouth, saying she wanted to die and was determined to succeed in the attempt upon her life. The pump was finally used and some of the poison brought up, while emetics were also administered, but the Paris green had taken a death hold and about eleven o'clock Mrs. Whitebone died. She was 43 years old and leaves a family. In the absence of Dr. Earle, Coroner White held an inquest. After the hearing of evidence a verdict was rendered to the effect that Mrs. Whitebone came to her death by taking Paris green while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity.

Among those who left Boston on the steamer "State of Maine," on her last trip, was a woman about fifty years of age, who, during the passage, mingled among the passengers and made herself agreeable to all. She spoke to several passengers as to the possibility of her being able to obtain work in St. John, and told one lady that she was in trouble. In a conversation with Mrs. Sweeney, the stranger said her name was Mrs. Gardner, that she belonged to the south of Ireland, and had been in America about three and a half years and had been in Boston, New York and Philadelphia. At four o'clock Sunday afternoon, when the steamer was near Point Lepreaux, Mrs. Gardner, who had been listening attentively to the singing of several persons in the saloon, went on deck. She walked to and fro on the upper deck for a short time, and then stopping near the port guard suddenly threw herself overboard. Word having been received in the pilot house that a lady had jumped off the steamer, she was stopped and a boat lowered. The body was recovered without any difficulty and taken on board the steamer. Life was extinct when the body was placed on the steamer. As soon as the "State of Maine" reached her wharf, in this city, at 7.30 o'clock Sunday evening, the police were notified of the occurrence. NOVA SCOTIA.

All reports agree that the Nova Scotia cherry crop is far heavier than for many years.

The work of the Halifax dry dock is being rapidly pushed forward. Employment is given to 150 men.

Sunday afternoon a man named James Hartlin, a shoemaker, aged 75 years, who resided with his daughter on Albemarle street, was sitting in a chair in the house and his daughter was talking to him. Suddenly observing no responses to her conversation, the daughter went over and found her father quite dead. On Friday he had complained of a slight pain near the heart, but did not consider it serious. -Halifax Chronicle,

The general opinion is that other witnesses were very much scared themselves and saw more than they cared to tell. At any rate the whole crowd let the old man drown and there were some among them who could swim and Feener made but a feeble attempt to save the drowning man, who only came up to the top of the water once. One of the witnesses swore that Feener said to the old man when his head appeared above water, "See here, old man, can you swim?" Wm. Sharp, who lives half a mile from the boom, found the body and said that it was lying just outside the boom, not three feet from the part of the boom from which Mac-Connell was thrown.

OTHER PROVINCES.

Another fire was raging in Vancouver Friday afternoon. Another annihilation was thought possible from New Westminster.

Dastardly outrages are being perpetrated upon the active supporters of the Scott temperance act. At Hastings the property of several persons has been wantenly destroyed. A house at Arthur was burned and the stables and outbuildings of License Commissioner Graham, at Smith's Falls, were destroyed and Mr. Graham fatally

From various parts of the country, says the Summerside Pioneer, come reports of some injury done during the thunder storm of last week. At the Bræ a cow is reported killed; at West Point the house of a man pamed Betts was struck by the electric fluid, but no one was hurt except the family cat, which, notwithstanding its numerous lives, was struck dead. At Lot 16 the house of a man named Crossman was struck, windows and stove broken and a bed set on fire. We hear of 15 sheep being killed at North St. Eleanors. A mile or two east of Summerside several telegraph poles were splintered. Somewhere about Springfield, on the town road, a man was driving a span of horses in a truck wagon, the outfit was struck, one horse was knocked down and a dog trotting along under the wagon was killed.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN.

Lord Hartington has arrived in London. Lord Salisbury will return on Friday, and will confer with Lord Hartington and other unionists on Monday. An agreement has been arrived at by which Lord Salisbury accepts Lord Hartington's home rule policy, which involves the maintenance of the full powers of the imperial parliament. By this policy the powers conferred on the local councils in Ireland are delegated not surrendered by parliament, which body reserves the right to control and revise the action of the councils. The appointment of judges and the legal administration are centred in the imperial parliament. Lord Hartington is still reluctant to join the Conservative ministry, although he has pledged himself to support coercive measures and the general policy of the Conservatives.

In Gladstonian circles confidence is expressed that the premier will resign. Gladstone will hold a conference with his colleagues on Saturday.

The Parnellites say they will never accept Lord Hartington's scheme, and will fight and wait until they have secured the passage of the full Gladstonian measure.

The Daily Telegraph, commenting on the political situation, says that there can be no coalition between Conservatives and unionists and that Lord Salisbury must form a ministry from

> This will make a unionist muster of 392, against 270 home rulers. Thus far there is a majority of 122 against Mr. Gladstone on his Irish policy. The conservatives have plurality of 56 over the liberals of all kinds, but they fall twenty-seven below the united strength of the liberals and nationalists. The seven constituencies still to be heard from were represented in the last parliament by one conservative, three Gladstonites and three nationalists. If they hold their former political complexion the new house will be composed of: Conservatives, 319; Unionists, 74; Gladstonites, 190; Nationalists, 86.

The new parliament will be summoned to meet August 5th. It will then, it is believed, be adjourned to reassemble sometime in October.

Shipbuilding on the Clyde shows a rapid falling off since 1883. In the first six months of that year the Glasgow Herald reports 198,729 tons the smallest quantity, with a single exception, for the like period since 1874.

UNITED STATES.

In the anarchist trial at Chicago, Friday, Gottfrier Waller, a member of one of the anarchist societies, who has turned informer, testified as to the conspiracy to sack the city, cause a revolution and massacre the police. His evidence created a great sensation.

It is positively asserted that the draft of an extradition treaty between Great Britain and the United States has been signed by Lord Roseberry and Minister Phelps and is now in Washington. The prospect of a really effective extradition treaty causes intense gratification.

Last Saturday, two men giving the names of French and H. Davis, were arrested at Portland, Me., for playing a confidence game on John R. Smith, of Riverside, N. B., by pretending to borrow $30 to pay a freight bill, and then giving him a bogus check in exchange. At the station French was recognized by a photograph as John Stevens who is wanted in Boston for swindling.

Hugh M. Brooks alias W. H. Lenox Maxwell, convicted of murdering Charles Arthur Preller, was sentenced to be hanged August 27, 1886.

Mr. Davis, of Massachusetts, from the committee on commerce, on Saturday reported favorably to the house the bill to protect the freedom of commercial intercourse. The report says that by an act of June 19 last, the President is authorized to lissue his commercial privileges in United States ports in certain contingencies. But the bill which is now reported, while adopting the principle of that act, enlarges the scope of its application in order that the president may have ample power whenever our vessels are denied commercial rights in any port of a foreign country, to protect our commercial interests by the employment of the most comprehensive and vigorous measures in their behalf.

The trial of Willie Sells, aged 16, for of his victims, the entire lack of provo-all the circumstances of the case, make it almost unprecedented in the annals of crime. On the morning of March 8th, Willie made his appearance at the farm house of a neighbor, Mr. Mendall, the boy had borne a good reputation, and to this day stoutly denies the perpetration of the deed, and affirms that if he committed it, it was in his sleep or while his reason was dethroned. It is said he was a constant reader of dime novels, and had several times expressed a desire to become a hero.

Family Remedy and in an excited tone, stated that a strange man had been at his home during the night and he thought had hurt his father, as he was lying on the floor with blood on his face. As this visit of young Sells was at one o'clock in the morning, Mr. Mendall questioned him closely. Willie said : He wakened and saw a man standing in the door between the room in which he and his brother slept in and one occupied by his parents and his sister. "I got my clothes off the foot of the bed and was putting them on when the man turned, looked at me and then ran out in the yard. I did not try to arouse my brother, but put on my pants and went dition Powder is into the room where my parents were sleeping to get my boots and overcoat. I saw my father on the floor with blood on his face, but I thought his nose was bleeding, as he was frequently troubled in that way. I put on boots and overcoat and went to see if I could find the stranger. When I passed out of the door he was standing in the yard, but he ran. I pursued him for half a mile, when he mounted a horse held by another man and both rode away as fast as they could go." Upon hearing this story, Mr. Mendall accompanied Willie home. When they arrived the boy remained outside and Mr. Mendall entered, and was confronted with the most horrible spectacle that can be imagined. The floor was covered with blood, in which he fairly had to wade; the ceiling was spattered and the walls stained. The old man Sells was lying on the floor with the whole back part of his head crushed in, and his throat cut so deep that the head was almost severed from the body. Near him also on the floor was the body of Mrs. Sells with her skull crushed and her throat cut in the same manner as the old man. Mr. Mendall found a large hatchet covered with blood and hair, lying on a chair, and about a foot from the body of the father was a butcher knife covered with blood. After a hurried examination, Mendall returned to the yard and told Willie of the crime. The boy said nothing and manifested no particular feeling. He accompanied Mendall to Mr. Rice's house, near by, where he went to sleep, or pretended to sleep, until morning. The officers, in the morning, made an examination, but found no trace of the stranger, or horse tracks, although Willie's tracks were plainly indicated in the mud. Returning to Sells' house a washbasin of blood-water was found on the stove in which the perpetrator had washed his hands. It was discovered that Willie had washed his hands and wrists, but above the wrists blood was found on his arms. There was blood under his finger nails also, and his underclothing was considerably stained. A purse containing $200 under Mr. Sells' pillow and two watches hanging in plain launched.
