Some time late in 1875, Mr. Benj. Harding, of Carleton, a man over 70 years of age, went to Charlotte county prospecting for silver. Mr. Harding thoroughly believed that silver in immense quantities existed in parts of that county, and was always on the verge of discovering it. From his trip in 1875 he never returned, and the conclusion was irresistible that he had died in the woods. Search was made for him without avail. On Saturday last, two hounds out gunning from Pettiford, came upon a skeleton, alongside of which were an old valise, the remains of a pocket book, and one or two other articles. There is little doubt that the skeleton is that of Mr. Harding. The old man probably sunk down exhausted on one of his tramps, and his life thus ended. His family long since scattered in various directions.

A seal measuring over six feet was seen near Musquash, recently.

Mr. H. A. Connell, of Woodstock is making preparations to furnish the Edison electric light in stores, offices and residences in that town.

A number of railway men and a large crowd of onlookers attended the auction sale of the Albert railway at the station at Hillsboro, Thursday. The first bid offered was $40,000; the figure ran up rapidly to $60,000 at which the road was knocked down to Mr. R. O. Stockton for Mr. R. J. Griffiths of London. The terms were 10 per cent. at the time of the sale and the balance in a month. Practically the road is purchased by the English bondholders.

Nailor, tried on the charge of killing his wife near Clarendon, was on Monday convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to seven years in the Penitentiary.

NOVA SCOTIA.

A man named Stephen Boudrot, on a farm at Chebogue, near Yarmouth, put a charge in a rock and lighted the fuse, but it went out. Next morning he proceeded to draw the charge and catching hold of the fuse pulled it out. The friction exploded the detonator and let off the blast. The rock on which Boudrot was standing was shivered to atoms. The man was hurled in the air about eight feet, his left hand was blown right off at the wrist, leaving a jagged stump, his face was burned and cut.

The Globe's Kingsport, N. S., correspondent writes: "Steamer 'Belair' has sailed from Kingsport, N. S., direct for London with a cargo consisting of 9,000 barrels apples and 40,000 feet deals. This steamer took a cargo last fall and was the first ocean steamer that was ever loaded at Kingsport for Great Britain. This year she touched and took in cargo at Horton Landing and the Picket wharf, and completed same at Kingsport. Thus it will be seen there are a number of ports on the Basin of Minas capable of having large steamers load at. Formerly apples had to be shipped either to Halifax or Annapolis and re-shipped. It having been found practicable for ocean steamers to load at the above ports will greatly divert trade at the eastern portion of the country."

The Halifax Herald publishes a review of the harvest and crops, by Prof. Lawson, secretary for agriculture. The season was the wettest on record and the spring was two weeks later than usual. The hay crop was secured under extreme difficulty, yet the hay marketed seems to be quite well cured and of average goodness. Oats did exceedingly well. Wheat is very little grown, but is reported to have done rather better than the average. Barley is not extensively grown, but is up to the average in all respects. The wet delayed the harvesting of oats, wheat, barley and buckwheat, from three to four weeks later than usual; indeed, harvesting was not finished in many cases before October 13th. Notwithstanding the fears of an unusually short crop of hay that were entertained in the early part of the season on account of the combined effects of killing and summer droughts, and later on in consequence of excessive rainfalls the results, after the hay harvest is gathered in, are not by any means unsatisfactory. Of our eighteen counties ten show a full average crop, or an excess over the average. The average for the whole province is .97. There is likely to be a large export of hay to England this winter. Potatoes are below the average crop. The apple and other fruit crop are abundant.

The Amherst shoe factory now employs 184 hands and will turn out this year $380,000 worth of goods.

A correspondent says: "He thus became stepfather to his former wife. He was formerly the son of his present wife; being the son, he became the brother of the old lady's daughter, his former wife, and also father-in-law to himself."

Dr. Weeks is a man of brilliant parts, but he is a victim of drink. On Wednesday afternoon he went to the house of Mrs. Flinn, tried to get in and kicked at the door. He then threatened to burn down the house, went to his office, procured a can containing an inflammable liquid, and poured the contents on the steps of the house and applied a lighted newspaper. In an instant the steps and front of the house were enveloped in flames, but a crowd collected and extinguished the fire.

The New York Herald devotes an entire page to an expression of opinions of prominent men upon the question of extending the term of office of the United States to seven or eight years. It is claimed that the shrinkage in the internal commerce and business of the country during the past four months, traceable to the apprehension, excitement and other conditions incidental to the Presidential campaign, amounts to not less than 50 million dollars and the Herald argues this and other reasons advanced justifies the extension of the term of the Presidential office.

The Chicago Times says anarchy is even more thoroughly organized at present than at the time of the Haymarket Square riot, and the membership is larger than ever. It prints an interview with Inspector Bonfield, who says he has detectives looking up their meetings, who have the names and addresses of the leading and most radical anarchists so they can be reached in case of trouble. They conduct meetings now without so much preparation for fighting and drilling with arms and explosives as before and are thoroughly organized just within the pale of the law, so that all the police can do is keep their eyes on them. The Inspector thinks trouble will come soon or later, as they have set a day for it at head-quarters. Inspector Bonfield has also positive evidence of the organization officers' plans of the international, the central point of which is London. They have agreed on the 100th anniversary of the Bastille as the day for concerted uprising. They may have to change it, but they will certainly make the effort.

Considerable wreckage and a number of bodies have been washed ashore between Looe and Polperro, in Cornwall. One of the bodies has been identified as that of Capt. Meyer, of the German ship "Theodore Ruger" from Hamburg for Sydney. Articles that have come ashore have also been recognized as belonging to both that vessel and to the Cunard steamer "Nantes" with which the "Theodore Ruger" was in collision, 36 miles off the Lizard. There is now no doubt of the total loss of both vessels with most of the crew of the "Nantes" and part of the ship's crew.

British officers boarded the Belgian steamer Brabo off the coast to-day and found she was carrying 400 slaves destined for Congo. The Britishers took away two slaves who swore they had been forcibly kidnapped, and allowed the vessel to proceed.
