

GENERAL RELIGIOUS NEWS.

Pennsylvania has about 9,000 Sunday-schools. Ohio and New York have each about 7,000.

The three daughters of Joseph Rabinowitz, the leader of the Hebrew Christian movement in South Russia, have lately been baptized.

A body of "evangelist brothers" in training by canon Lester at Lichfield, wear coarse brown frocks, with cords round the waist, and carry Bibles in their hands. They are to preach the Gospel in the Black Country.

Mr. McAll has opened at St. Germain, Paris, his 113th station. It is said that some Americans are about to build three large churches in different parts of Paris for the use of those who now regularly frequent the popular mission halls.

The Church Army has become an important institution in the Church of England. It reports 169 evangelists for the year, indicating an increase of 55. In addition to this, a considerable number of the officers, who have passed through the course of training, and who, for various reasons were not quite fitted for the difficult work, have become Scripture readers and lay helpers.

The Drunkards recently held their annual meeting in North Manchester, Ind. There was a very large attendance. The Conference decided against the wearing of mustaches and barber-trimmed hair. An arrangement was made to help poor congregations in Denmark and Sweden. Members were cautioned about taking oaths, especially in states where affirmation is regarded as a modified oath, and members living in Western States were warned not to write flattering reports concerning their crops and financial success unless sustained by facts. The Conference reaffirmed all previous declarations about the use of tobacco and decided that applicants for membership should promise to be free from that habit. Ministers who chew or smoke will not be allowed to assist in church adjudications.

It is reported that in the village Underoon, hidden away in the Taurus, there was an Armenian merchant who, five years ago, happened to see a Bible in the hands of a neighbor. He began to read therein, and soon learned the way of salvation. Every Sunday morning he holds a Bible class, preaches in the afternoon and has a school of a dozen children. At least a score of people owe their conversion to his example and teaching. This little colony of Christians is not indebted to any foreign mission agency.

It was no longer ago than the year 1871 that Rev. Samuel McFarlane first carried the Gospel to the cannibal warriors of New Guinea. To-day, six—there will soon be eight—devoted English missionaries and eighty native teachers, are carrying the light inland from the three coast stations. Once ferocious chiefs are now deacons of native churches, and the congregations are the very men and women who have sat, like demons incarnate, round hideous banquets of human flesh. Dr. McFarlane has written a book entitled Among the Cannibals, showing how this change has been brought about.

'Acts of kindness'—these are the potent means that have been employed. Kindness, to New Guinea savages, was a strange, new quality, but they soon grew to understand and appreciate it. Combined with tact, forbearance, and a sterling common-sense, it soon enabled the missionaries to get a firm grip of their untutored hearts. Cannibalism, says Dr. McFarlane, 'has received its death-blow in New Guinea. It may 'die hard' in some places, but die it must.' After all, it is frankly confessed that the savage of Christendom, is infinitely more difficult to improve. For the savagery of both, however, there is a remedy in the pure, simple, living religion of Jesus Christ. Christianity is the largest possible humanity.

DENOMINATIONAL NEWS.

DOUGLAS.—The revival at Douglas continues. Last Sabbath Bro. Downey baptized six more converts. The number baptized the Sabbath before was nine instead of seven as announced. Meetings are being held this week.

TO CHURCH CLERKS.—The Corresponding Secretary of Conference, Rev. G. W. McDonald, wishes to say to church clerks that the forms for Sabbath School statistics should not be detached from the church reports, but filled up and forwarded with the church reports to the District Meetings, as directed in the report of the S. School's Secretary last year.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

The memorial to Queen Victoria for Sunday closing of liquor shops was signed by 1,132,608 women. In one town where there were 42 liquor sellers the wives of all but four signed the petition.

Montreal has 1,200 liquor selling places, being one bar for every 35 heads of families. Assuming that one half the population is total abstainers the saloons must be kept up by 18 families to each on an average.

1,725 Miles of Gold.—Some one has made this curious calculation. Last year's drink bill amounted to $124,952,680. Weight of the amount in sovereigns, 978 tons. Time to count it, at the rate of one sovereign per second, 3 years, 11 months, 21 days. The height of a pillar, if the sovereigns were placed face to face, 116 miles. The length of a chain, if the sovereigns were placed edge to edge, 1,725 miles.

One Nicholas has been arrested for administering opium to a young academy student fitting for college at Cambridge Mass. This young man was trying to do a year's work in a few months' time, and took opium to quicken his mental powers, and died under its influence. It is a shocking tragedy, a horrible instance of the evil of active stimulants, and the man who gave the boy opium deserves the severest punishment of the law.

The effect of moderate drinking of alcoholic beverages may perhaps be considered as finally settled by the recent report of the English register-general. Comparing the mortality tables of men exposed to the temptation of moderate drinking with those of men not similarly exposed, the result is startling in the extreme, more particularly as regards the proportion of liver diseases. For it would appear that the rate of mortality is six times greater among those whose business is practically inseparable from moderate drinking than among those representing all the other industries combined.

Last year a Conference was held in London to consider the great evil of selling liquors among the native races of Africa, India, etc. A committee formed at that time have just made their report. The report says that the work of the committee has been mainly one of investigation and of vigilance. They had collected much valuable information, which they had circulated in the hope of rousing public opinion. They had watched the action of Governments at home and abroad, and had made representations, as in the cases of Ceylon, Morocco, the Congo, and the Western Pacific Islands, with a view of mitigating the alleged evils. It dwelt on the encouragement they had received in the work, and on the information recently received, embracing reports from the Indian Governments, and the action taken by the Cape Government in withdrawing the restrictions on the traffic. Rev. W. Allan, M. A., said he had just come from a visit of inspection to the mission stations of West Africa. He was told that gin and rum were sold to the natives at 3d. and 4d. the bottle, and that the merchants believed they could sell ten times the amount of goods if the traffic were suppressed. Another who had been on a recent visit to South Africa, gave similar testimony. The question, he said, was a burning one, not only in Africa, for in Madagascar, India, China, and the South Sea Islands the traffic was going on. The Moors were rapidly decreasing in numbers, owing to their drunken habits, and it was almost too late to save them.

A little girl had returned from a visit to the city where, for the first time, she had attended an Episcopal church. Her father asked how she liked that church. She answered: "I like it pretty well, but it's hard to do."

MERCURY now sets an hour or so later than the sun, and should be watched for on clear evenings. Good opportunities for seeing Mercury are rare. Venus is not likely to be mistaken for Mercury as she is very dim and very near the sun. Mars is still very fine; but Jupiter is the most splendid object in the sky during night. Saturn is coming too near the sun to be of much interest. —Halifax Witness.

SOME PROVERB.—Somebody reaps a fair profit on sewing machines. The census department seized a lot of several thousand American machines, entered at $12 each, on account of alleged undervaluation; but the American company offers to sell the entire lot at the entry price. These machines probably retail at from $50 to $60 each.

CELLULOSE.—A good deal of interest has been excited by certain recent experiments with cellulose—a material made from cocoanut fibre, which possesses the remarkable property of closing up automatically after being penetrated by shot or shell; also, of being impervious to water and incapable of ignition. Tests made at Toulouse of a target composed of this material, with a backing two feet thick, through which a 7 1/2 inch shot was fired, produced the extraordinary result of an immediate knitting together of the substance, though about one-fifth of a cubic foot of it had been carried away by the shot. No hole was left, and it was difficult to force water even, through the place of impact. The substance also defies red-hot coals piled up on it. The French admiralty propose to carry on more extended experiments, with a view to building ships of cellulose. It has already been applied as a water-line belt to the "Tage," a monster cruiser of over 10,000 horse power. The value of this discovery will also be appreciated in our mercantile marine especially in passenger ships, which, if these reports be accurate, can now be made practically unsinkable. Now a revolution will be wrought if the promise of this new substance is realized! —Zion's Herald.

NEW GOVERNORS.—Hon. Mr. McLeod, now Post Master General, has been appointed Governor of Nova Scotia; and Hon. Dr. Schultz, Senator, has been appointed Governor of Manitoba. They will enter on their new duties July 1st.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.—Permit me through your columns, to thank a kind and thoughtful friend, Mr. Daniel Inman of Lower Perth V. Co., who a few days ago, presented me with a new milch cow.—For this token of Mr. Inman's kind interest in our welfare, we feel sincerely thankful. —May heaven bless him an hundred fold in this life, in cows, houses and lands, and in the world to come life everlasting.

MRS. J. J. BARNES

JOURNALISTIC.—The Educational Review has entered on its second volume. It is an admirable publication, for the best of its class ever published in these Provinces; nor does it need to blush when in the company of its fellows in wider fields. It does not claim too much when it claims to be "devoted to advanced methods of education and general culture;" it is worthily fulfilling its mission. The editors—A. H. McKay B. A., B. Sc., Alex. Anderson L. D., & G. U. Hay Ph. B.—are to be congratulated on the fine work they are doing. Mr. Hay, the managing editor, upon whom falls the most delicate and difficult of the work, is doing his part with much discrimination and excellent taste.

We are glad to hear that the Review is having a good measure of success; it certainly deserves the hearty support and co-operation of the teachers of the Maritime Provinces. No wide awake teacher can afford to be without it, and there is not a Board of School Trustees but would be helped by having its monthly visits. The first number of Vol. II (just out) is an excellent issue, both in matter and appearance. Success to it.

GRAND EXCURSIONS TO CALIFORNIA.—The Burlington Route is the official route for the teachers bound for the National Educational Meeting at San Francisco. Join the splendid official excursion parties from New York, Pennsylvania, Brooklyn, New England, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, leaving Chicago July 3d, 5th, 8th, 9th, and 10th. Magnificent trains, free chair cars, Pullman and tourist sleepers etc. The public entitled to one fare for this occasion. For further information write E. J. Swords, 317 Broadway, New York City; H. D. Badgley, 306 Washington St., Boston, Mass., or address P. S. Eustis, G. P. & T. A., C., B. & Q. R. R., Chicago, Illinois.

ALL SORTS.

Parisian physicians are interested in a new spectroscopic, the invention of Dr. Henocque, for investigating the changes of the blood in patients. It is being applied to the study of the phenomena of nutrition, and is expected to prove an important instrument.

A few days ago a sign in the window of a Carmine street store announced that a large stock of "Gulery" was for sale within. Some orthographic expert must have objected to that mode of spelling, for next day the sign was amended and the sign read "Gawbery." —Jewell's Weekly.

"Edward, why do I hear that you have disobeyed your grandmother, who told you just now not to jump down these steps? 'Grandma didn't tell me not to, papa. She only came to the door and said, 'I wouldn't jump down these steps, boys.' And I shouldn't think she would,—an old lady like her." —Examiner.

Stranger (standing on a wharf down in Florida): "What sort of line is this tri-weekly line I hear of?" Bulletheaded ducky (rolling barrels into the freight-house): "I reckon it's them boats that tries to git up the ribber Thursdays, an' if they don't go then, they tries again nex' week."

Printed matter is measured by "ems," the letter "m" being the unit. The following compilation is by Prof. A. P. Lyon. The Bible contains 3,500,000 "ems." Webster's Dictionary 20,000,000, Chamber's Encyclopedia 58,000,000, Johnson's Encyclopedia 56,000,000, Appleton's Encyclopedia 60,000,000, and Encyclopedia Britannica 140,000,000 "ems."

Dr. Anna Kinsford, who recently died in London, believed that she was the re-embodied spirit of Lady Jane Grey. Many of her friends held the same idea. She was a brilliant woman, learning languages and history with great facility. Sound common sense is worth more than brilliancy.

It is stated that the practice of carrying arms has become so prevalent among Baltimore school-boys that one of the regular duties of the teachers now is to search the lads just before they come in. A recent search at one school brought out three pistols, and a colored boy had a razor, a sling, and a slugshot.

A Scotch divine was expounding the 116th psalm. When he came to the eleventh verse, "I said in my haste, All men are liars," he quietly remarked: "Ay, ay, David, you would not have required to make any apology for the speech in these days. You might have now said it quite at your leisure."

A nervous and somewhat excitable deacon after talking for some time in a meeting at his church, finally said, "And not one tit or jottle of His Word shall fail." Noticing the smiles on the faces of his audience, and conscious of his blunder, he attempted to mend matters by saying, "No, I mean not one tittle or jitt."

A college student was invited on Sunday to occupy the pulpit in a little country church. After what he considered a masterly effort on the subject of "Lazarus and the Rich Man," he called on a good old brother to pray, and was somewhat electrified to hear the following: "O Lord! we thank thee that we are not like this poor despised beggar Lazarus who we've just ben a-listenin' to!" —Boston Journal.

Literary Notes.

The June Wide Awake has an amusing story of home boy-life, called "Eunomia's Boys and How They Kept House," which neither mothers nor boys will think far out from the truth, though both may wince. "Don" is a funny story chronicling the heroic treatment of a deceitful greedy little dog by a young lady of fourteen. Edward Everett Hale begins "The Story of Boston Common" and tells about the witches and the Wishing Stone and the old train-band parades and the cow pastures of this celebrated old park. Another historic field is surveyed, over sea, in "The Wild White Cattle of England." There is an article about "Polo," and one about "The Old Tinder-box." There is a capital little paper on "Two Ways of Using a Birthday Book," and a good biography of La Fontaine. The poems of the number are good; everybody should read "The One in the Middle."

$2.40 cents a year. D. Lothrop Company, Publishers, Boston, Mass.

Reading the Bible with Relish, by Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts author of "Sabbath for Man," etc. 12mo. 64pp.; cloth, 25c.; paper 15c. Revised fifth edition. Funk & Wagnalls, New York.

This little book is hardly second in importance to any of the larger books of the same author. "It makes the Bible read like a romance, like a new book," is the testimony of one who has tried it. It gives 365 brief Bible readings for daily home worship, or daily prayer meetings, or daily personal reading, arranged to begin at any time, traversing the whole Bible in a year, in chronological order. The psalms, prophecies and epistles are introduced where they will light up the history, and be lighted up by it. The readings consist of selected passages, requiring about five minutes daily for reading, omitted portions being concisely summarized to preserve the connection, with brief explanatory notes, and an appendix containing "Bible Markings" by the author and by Mr. Moody and others, and several pages of "Helps to Extemporaneous Prayer." The book is full of topics for sermons and prayer meetings, but its best use is as a cheap manual for uniting a whole church or Sabbath-school or Association in daily Bible reading.

Harper's Magazine for July is remarkable for strength and vigor from frontispiece to finish. Some of the best known names in literature are seen in its table of contents, and it is safe to say that those names not yet famous soon will be. In artistic work few issues have excelled this one. E. A. Abbey's sketches, some of them full-page, are simply unequalled anywhere. In all, there are sixty illustrations in the issue. The care with which the mechanical work of the number has been done will be a gratification to careful, observant readers. Every issue of this magazine has a distinct educating influence in art, literature, and morals.

The Pansy for June is good. It is filled with choice literature for young folks from eight to fifteen, and many illustrations. Pansy, Margaret Sidney, Faye Huntington and other favorite writers contribute to its pages. The subscription price is but a dollar a year. The publishers, D. Lothrop Company, Boston, will send a sample copy for 5 cents.

Brother Noble was baptized by the Rev. Samuel Hart, 38 years ago, and united with the F. C. Baptist Church. His christian course was very even and exemplary, and in his last days of great suffering with cancer in the face, his faith was strong in the promises of God. He waited all his friends to rejoice when his sufferings here were ended. Funeral was attended by Rev. S. W. Shaw.

NOTICE.

IN the left hand upper corner on the first page of the RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCER of May 30th a special notice may be found and the sentiments therein expressed we can confidently recommend to many of our friends.

Any one who after reading the same feel they apply to them personally, and if they act upon their conviction—we will be very much obliged to the author for placing it there and causing this notice and to be obliged to the men who respond to it—"Actions always speak louder than words and there is very much more in them." Parties interested look carefully into it. R. CHESTNUT & SONS.

GATES' SYRUP

SHOULD BE

In Every House.

CHESTER, N. S., March 2nd, 1888.

Messrs. C. Gates, Son & Co.,

GENTS.—I must write and tell you what your Syrup has done for me. I was sick and the doctor attended me for one whole summer. He helped me for one disease, but my liver was out of order and food would distress my stomach and I had pain in the head and a very poor appetite, and could not get relief till I used a bottle of your No. 1 Syrup. I found that it helped me and I used another which has completely cured me. No family should be without it in the house.

MRS. ALEXANDER DAUPHINEY.

FOREIGN TESTIMONY.

Messrs. C. Gates, Son & Co.,

DEAR SIR,—For nearly three years I have suffered very much from indigestion and could never get anything to do me any good till meeting a friend of mine (Mr. Gathercole) a short time ago, he recommended me to try a bottle of your No. 1 Invigorating Syrup, and after taking one bottle I feel like another person. I can confidently recommend it to all who suffer from this complaint. You are at liberty to make what use you like of this testimonial.

Yours very truly,
