Mrs. Crafts of New York spoke on the progress of Sunday schools. Her address was a very fine one.

The Convention continued its work Friday. The executive committee reported having secured the services of Mrs. Crafts of New York, who had labored successfully in various parts of the province. Mr. Parsons had been sent to the World's Sunday School convention at London. They recommended that a permanent secretary be appointed, whose duty it should be to visit schools in the country districts, address meetings, and organize schools where none exist at present. They recommend the adoption of the annual

She said stubborn boys should be treated like balky horsesthey should be avoided as much as possible. Library books should be in accordance with the doctrines of the church.
