

Long-Standing

Blood Diseases are cured by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

This medicine is an Alternative, and causes a radical change in the system. The process, in some cases, may not be quite so rapid as in others; but, with persistence, the result is certain. Read these testimonials:—
"For two years I suffered from a severe pain in my right side, and had other troubles caused by a torpid liver and dyspepsia. After giving several medicines a fair trial without a cure, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was greatly benefited by the first bottle, and after taking five bottles I was completely cured." John W. Benson, 70 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.
"Last May a large carbuncle broke out on my arm. The usual remedies had no effect and I was confined to my bed for eight weeks. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than three bottles healed the sore. In all my experience with medicine, I never saw more Wonderful Results.

Another marked effect of the use of this medicine was the strengthening of my sight."—Mrs. Carrie Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I had a dry scaly humor for years, and suffered terribly; and, as my brother and sister were similarly afflicted, I presume the malady is hereditary. Last winter, Dr. T. W. (of Fernandina, Fla.) recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year. For five months I took it daily. I have not had a blemish upon my body for the last three months."—T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers st., New York City.
"Last fall and winter I was troubled with a dull, heavy pain in my side. I did not notice it much at first, but it gradually grew worse until it became almost unbearable. During the latter part of this time, disorders of the stomach and liver increased my troubles. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after faithfully continuing it for some time, the pain disappeared and I was completely cured."—Mrs. Augusta A. Furbush, Haverhill, Mass.

HOSPITAL REMEDIES.

There is a new departure in the treatment of disease. It consists in the collection of the specifics used by noted specialists of Europe and America, and bringing them within the reach of all. For instance the treatment pursued by special physicians who treat indigestion, stomach and liver troubles only, was obtained and prepared. The treatment of other physicians, celebrated for curing catarrh were procured, and so on till these innumerable cures now include disease of the lungs, kidneys, female weakness, rheumatism and nervous debility. Ask your druggist for them. Those who cannot procure these remedies from their druggist may remit the price to Hospital Remedy Co., 303, West King St., Toronto, and the remedy will be shipped to them direct. (The price is one dollar each). Descriptive catalogue sent on receipt of stamp to pay postage.

Open The Door.

Open the door for the children,
Tenderly gather them in;
In from the highways and hedges,
In from the places of sin.
Some are so young and so helpless,
Some are so hungry and cold;
Open the door for the children,
Gather them into the fold.

CHO.—Open the door; gather them in;
Gather them into the fold;
Open the door for the children,
Gather them into the fold.

Open the door for the children,
See, they are coming in throngs;
Bid them sit down to the banquet,
Teach them your beautiful songs.
Pray you the Father to bless them,
Pray you that grace may be given;
Open the door for the children,
Their is the kingdom of heaven.—CHO.

Open the door for the children,
Take the dear lambs by the hand,
Point them to truth and to goodness.
Lead them to Canaan's bright land.
Some are so young and so helpless,
Some are so hungry and cold;
Open the door for the children,
Gather them into the fold.—CHO.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON.

Third Quarter-Lesson III—August 11
SAMUEL'S FAREWELL ADDRESS.—
1 Sam. 12: 1-15.

GOLDEN TEXT.—Only fear the Lord, and serve him in truth with all your heart; for consider how great things he hath done for you.—1 Sam. 12: 24.

THE INAUGURATION FESTIVAL.—
11: 14, 15. When the 330,000 Israelites were returning from Saul's great victory, and, as victors, drove the defeated Ammonites down the Jordan toward their home, they naturally came to the fords of the Jordan opposite Jericho, where their fathers first crossed into the promised land. Here they forded the river and came to Gilgal, where their fathers had their first camp, and which was now a famous sanctuary and centre of religious life. Here Samuel proposed that they hold a sacrificial feast, and renew the kingdom. Amid sacrifices and peace offerings, Saul was acknowledged to be king over all Israel. At the same time, Samuel formally laid down his office of judge. And this is called Samuel's farewell address. Thus the old era of the Judges, lasting about four centuries, had passed away, and the new era of the kingdom had dawned.

SAMUEL REVIEWS HIS PUBLIC LIFE.—Vers. 1-5. And Samuel said unto all Israel. Of course he must have made this address to the leaders only, and they made it known to the others. Behold, I have known unto thy voice, etc. He yielded to their demand, after he had leagued God's will, and, gracefully gave up his office and rank. He not only retired to private life, but he aided the new king with his counsel, and did all he could to make a success of the new kingdom. And now behold the king walketh before you. The term "walketh before you," implied generally that the kingly office included the guiding and governing the people; henceforth they must accept his authority on all occasions. And I am old: probably about 70 years old. Perhaps he was more worn and feeble than many of the same years, on account of the burdens of care and anxiety which had pressed upon him. And behold my sons are with you. These, too, had of course to give up their authority as judges in Beersheba. And I have walked before you from my childhood. From the time he entered the temple service as a little boy at Shiloh, behold, here I am. Samuel puts himself on his trial. And before his anointed: Saul, who had been designated as king by God. Whose ox... whose ass, have I taken? away from the people for my own use. At this time there was little of silver or gold among his people, and the ox or ass were the most valuable property. Whom have I defrauded? He had never used his position to gain anything for himself unjustly. Of whose hand have I received any bribe? alludes to that practice unhappily so common in the East of giving the judge a gift to buy his favor. And they said, etc. The people were unanimous in their testimony. The Lord is witness against you: that you have acknowledged the purity of my life. The Lord knows that what I say is true. And his anointed. King Saul, witnessed to the people's public confession.

Samuel did not live his noble and upright life by being sheltered from temptation, difficulty and danger; he was assailed by the same temptations which overthrew his own sons and the sons of Eli. The source of his strength and goodness was in his religious life. He lived near to God. Samuel's life was an example and inspiration to the whole nation. A REVIEW OF THE PAST HISTORY OF ISRAEL, SHOWING THE ONLY SOURCE AND CONDITION OF PROSPERITY.—Vers. 6-11. And Samuel said unto the people, It is the Lord, etc. The elders of Israel (ver. 5) had with one consent cried out (in reply to Samuel's solemn calling of God and the king to witness) He is witness. Advanced Moses and Aaron. Appointed them to office. All their power and glory came from God, through obedience to him. That brought your fathers up out of the land of Egypt. They could not have escaped from Egypt, nor crossed the Red Sea, nor passed safely through the wilderness, nor have organized into a nation, except by the direct and manifest help of God. Now therefore stand still: Listen, be attentive. That I may reason with you. That I may show clearly to you what is your way of wisdom and safety. All the righteous acts of the Lord. Punishments for sin and deliverances from distress, alike prove the righteousness of Jehovah. When Jacob, etc. God was ever ready to help his people. They forgot... he sold them. Gave up to these enemies what he himself owned. Into the hand of Sisera: the general of the Canaanites. This oppression was very severe and lasted 20 years. It was from this oppression that God, by Deborah and Barak, delivered Israel. And into the hand of the Philistines. A warlike and commercial race along the shores of the Mediterranean. They were frequent oppressors of Israel. Into the hand of the king of Moab. The oppression of the Moabites under Eglon, from which they were delivered by Ehud. This oppression lasted 18 years. And they cried unto the Lord. They repented, turned from their sins, promised to live better lives. Baalim and Asherah. (See Lesson III. of this quarter.) And the Lord sent, etc. Four typical deliverers of the nation are mentioned. Jerubbaal, who brought the Midianite oppression to an end. His original name Gideon was changed to Jerubbaal for his bold act of piety in destroying the altar of Baal. Bedan. This name is not found in the book of Judges. Probably Bedan is a copyist's error for Barak. In this case the reference will be to the deliverance from the Canaanite oppression. Jephthah the Gileadite, who routed the Ammonites. Samuel. His judgeship had supplied a remarkable instance of God's deliverances, the last as well as one of the greatest.

THE CONDITIONS OF PROSPERITY THE SAME UNDER THE NEW ORDER. Vers. 12-15. And when ye saw that Nahash. The threatening attitude of Nahash and the Ammonites was one of the reasons why the Israelites were so anxious for a king. Now therefore etc. You have attained your wish, the kingdom established. But do not imagine that any different principles will prevail in the future from those in your past history. If ye will fear the Lord, etc. Samuel here mentions five conditions of well-being for the people and the king in their new relation: (1) Fear the Lord; (2) serve him; (3) obey his voice; (4) not rebel against the commandment of the Lord; (5) continue following the Lord. Then shall both ye. All this is part of the conditions, the "if." The conclusion is not given, but is understood. Then shall it be well with you, as it was with your fathers under the same circumstances. But if you will not obey. * * * Then shall the hand of the Lord be against you. Their only hope was in obedience to God. If they obeyed, God would be a wall of defence; if they disobeyed, he would deliver them into the power of their enemies.

Samuel's words were confirmed by a miracle, and he continued for some time to impress upon the Israelites the importance of the truth he was enforcing. PRACTICAL HINTS. It is a blessed thing for the people when their rulers are pure, noble-minded, and religious. We should all be like Samuel, patriotic, unselfish, just, and honorable. Teachers should themselves be an example of the principles they present. The past is the teacher of the present. Open the book of God's providence, and read therein his own illustrations of his Word. God cannot bless the disobedient without injury to them and to the world. As soon as any one repents and turns to him, he sends deliverance and blessing. A hope of our nation is in righteousness and religion. A change of rulers or of forms of government will accomplish but little, unless there is improvement in the character of the people. What Boys Can Do. Miss Frances E. Willard, writing a letter "to Boys" in the Young Crusader, tells the following fact. By the modesty of the "oldest boy" whom we meet so frequently, we should identify him for all our interested readers. For many, however, such identification will not be necessary:—
Let me tell you about three splendid boys I knew once on a time. Their father died, and their dear mother was left to bring them up and to earn the money with which to do it. So these young fellows set in to help her. By taking a few boarders, doing the work herself, and practising strict economy, this blessed woman kept out of debt and gave each of her sons a thorough college education. But if they hadn't worked like beavers to help her she never could have done it. Her oldest boy—only fourteen—treated his mother as if she were the girl he loved best. He took the heavy jobs of housework off her hands, put on his big apron and went to work with a will; washed the potatoes, pounded the clothes, waited on table—did anything and everything that he could coax her to let him do, and the two younger ones followed his example right along. Those boys never wasted their mother's money on tobacco, beer or cards. They kept at work and found any amount of pleasure in it. They were happy, jolly boys, too, full of fun, and everybody not only liked, but respected and admired them. All the girls in town praised them, and I don't know any better fortune for a boy than to be praised by good girls, nor anything that boys like better. They all married noble and true women, and today one of those boys is president of a college, goes to Europe every year, almost, and is in demand for every good word and work; another lives in one of the most elegant houses in Evanston, and is my own beloved physician; while a third is a well-to-do wholesale grocer in Pueblo, Colorado, and a member of the city council.

Needs of the Sunday-School.

The Pilgrim Teacher says that at a recent Sunday-school convention, brief written answers were returned to the question, "What is the greatest lack, other than spiritual, in the Sunday-school?" The replies are summarized as follows in the order of number. The first answer was returned by nine persons:

1. Lack of competent, interested teachers.
2. Lack of permanent teachers.
3. Lack of personal interest of teachers in their scholars.
4. Lack of special preparation by teachers to impart instruction by skilful questioning.
5. Want of appreciation by teachers of the character and importance of their work.
6. Irregular attendance; lack of interest of officers and teachers in maintaining regular attendance.
7. The desire of too many to control.
8. Lack of discipline.
9. Lack of energy on the part of the superintendent.
10. Lack of good singing.
11. Lack of definite aim in work.

Nervous Children.

Never scold or make fun of them. They suffer enough without your threats or sarcasm. Don't let them know you see their awkwardness when in company, nor their grimaces when alone. A case was reported by the Boston Globe of a boy ten years of age who, on being vexed, and often without any apparent provocation, will clench his hands and make the most frightful contortions of the muscles of his face and head, till his mother fears he is idiotic. By no means. He is the brightest boy in his class at school, but he is of a highly nervous temperament, and has not been taught to control the little wires, so to speak, on which he is strung. This is no single case. There are thousands of children who give way to their nerves in a similar fashion. Never whip them. A prominent physician in this city says that the man or the woman who whips a nervous child should for every blow given receive five. It is our duty to encourage and help them. Be patient with them. They are the making of our future successful men and women, for they will work hard at whatever they undertake. Brace up your own nerves first, and then be indulgent toward your over-nervous children.—Christian Intelligencer.

THE SIZE OF THE SPIDERS' THREAD.—I have often compared the size of the thread spun by full-grown spiders with a hair of my beard. For this purpose I placed the thickest part of the hair before the microscope; and, from the most accurate judgement I could form, more than a hundred of such threads placed side by side could not equal the diameter of one such hair: If, then, we suppose such a hair to be of a round form, it follows that ten thousand of threads spun by the full-grown spider, when taken together, will not be equal in substance to the size of a single hair.—Lewen-hoeck.
