—One-third of the German people are Roman Catholics, two-thirds Protestant. Fourteen of the twenty one universities are Protestant.

—Mr. G. T. Sullivan, a new revivalist, has appeared upon the scene in Auckland. He is none other than the brother of John L. Sullivan, the notorious American prize fighter, and was converted a short time ago at a Primitive Methodist service in Wellington, Auckland, where his efforts as a revivalist have produced a great sensation. Great crowds are attracted to his meetings, and there is never a service held without conversions.

—The Churchman says: "Outside the walls of Jerusalem is a leper's hospital, tended by deaconesses from the German religious houses. Year after year these heroic women, without any pretentiousness, without any trumpeting of their work, almost unknown to the world, have waited upon epeps, while themselves literally dying by inches. Their courage and constancy have only come to light by the chance notice of travelers, but doubtless their names, unknown on earth, are written in the Lamb's book of life."

—A careful estimate of the Hebrew population in America in 1880 placed it at 250,000. New York City's Hebrew population was placed at 60,000. In the last few years, as is known from the records of the United Hebrew Charities, about 75,000 of the emigrants who came to the United States through Castle Garden remained in New York (about 20,000 in 1888 alone). There is, therefore, now a Jewish population at the lowest calculation of 125,000 while the entire number in the United States cannot fall short of 500,000.

—The press has widely paid a tribute of praise to the self-sacrifice of Father Damien the missionary priest, who sacrificed his life in ministering to the lepers on the island of Molokai. In the admiration for such heroic self-sacrifice, all distinctions of sect and creed are forgotten. A contemporary calls attention to the fact that there have been many similar instances of sacrifice among Protestant missionaries which are not heralded by the press. We clip the following as an exceptional item from a daily paper. "While bestowing just praise on the Roman Catholic priests and nuns who have shown a heroic spirit in their work among the lepers of Molokai, it should not be forgotten that other Christian missionaries have done the same thing. There is a Protestant missionary on this same island, and the inhabitants are about equally divided between Protestants and Catholics. English and German Moravians have carried on Christian work among lepers for more than half a century. It was commenced among the Hottentots in 1818 by an English missionary and his wife. Four Moravians are now consecrating their lives to the service."

BRO. G. M. WILSON has become pastor of the Beaver River, Sanford and Cedar Lake, N. S. pastorate.

THE HAND BOOK.—The new edition of the Free Baptist Hand Book is selling readily. Orders addressed to Wm. Peters, 240 Union St., St. John will be promptly filled. There are two styles of binding—leather and cloth. The price of the leather is 50 cts per copy, and of the cloth 35 cts.

SIXTH DISTRICT.—A correspondent of the Moncton Times writes that paper:

It seems to be the universal testimony that the late session of the F. C. B. 6th District meeting at Corn Hill was the best, in every respect, that has been held for some years—the largest in attendance, the strongest in spiritual power, and the most encouraging financially. Prosperity and increase seem to be stamped on every branch of their work. These facts are very significant just at this time.

DEDICATION.—The new church at Bear Island was dedicated last Sabbath. It is a union church, to be occupied by Free Baptists, Baptists and Congregationalists, these three denominations being represented in the community, the first named having a half interest in it and the other two one quarter each. The trustees, representing the three denominations, are Messrs. Geo. Gunter, Wm. Hagerman and Geo. Manuel. The house is 30 x 42, and has a tower and spire. It has been well and carefully constructed, and presents an excellent appearance. The interior finish is in ash and walnut. The pews are nicely arranged affording plenty of room for comfortable sittings. The chandeliers, two with six lamps each, are very suitable, and when lighted the effect is good. The pulpit, also of ash and walnut, and three chairs of walnut upholstered with hair-cloth, are as neat and in good. The pulpit Bible was the gift of Deacon D. Parent of Upper Queensbury. Taken altogether the new church is in every way suitable for the purposes of the community, and is creditable to christian enterprise of the promoters. The cost, about $1500, has nearly all been paid, the charges against the building being considerably less than $100. To meet this the committee have the collections of Sabbath, which were quite liberal, several subscriptions not yet paid, and whatever they may realize from the sale of the old house. They will probably from these sources get enough not only to pay off the liability put also to purchase an organ.

The weather Sabbath morning was very unpleasant, the heavy rain of Saturday night continuing at intervals through the morning. But there was, notwithstanding, a full congregation, all the household hold and the attendance throughout the day was large. The ministers present at some or all the services were Messrs. Swin and McLeod (Free Baptists), C. Currie and Porter (Baptists) and Floweth (Congregationalist). The order of dedication service in the morning was as follows: Opening hymn by the choir, Invocation by Rev. Jos. McLeod, Reading Hymns by Rev. G. Swin, Scripture lesson by Rev. Jos. McLeod, Prayer by Rev. Mr. Porter, Sermon by Rev. Jos. McLeod, Dedication offerings by the people, Reading Dedication service by Rev. Jos. McLeod, Prayer of Dedication by Rev. Gideon Swin. In the afternoon Rev. Calvin Currie preached and in the evening Rev. Mr. Floweth. The services were interesting, and it is hoped, may be fruitful of much good. An excellent Choir, under the leadership of Mrs. J. Gunter with Mrs. Geo. Burden as Organist, contributed much to the interest and religious pleasure of the day.

The community is to be congratulated on having a place of worship in every way so suitable and we trust much christian peace and prosperity may be enjoyed by them.

Temperance Notes.

—Belgium supports 5,500 schools and 136,000 saloons.

—The latest device of the liquor trade in Berlin enables any one to secure unlimited drinks all the year round for an annual subscription to a beer-shop of £30.

—During the 16 years that Dr. James Edmunds has been connected with the London Temperance Hospital he has never had occasion once to prescribe alcohol as a medicine. The mortality of the institution is below the average.

—It is said that the prohibition laws of Kansas were opposed by fifty newspapers of that state three years ago, and that to-day not a single newspaper in the state opposes the law, and not one Kansas newspaper advocates its repeal.

—"The Temperance Question in India," a matter which is now before the British Parliament, will be treated by Bishop Hurst, of the Methodist Church, in the July Century. It is stated that the intoxicating liquor furnished to the natives of India by the Government is called by them "Apka Shrab," or Government Shame Water, and that it is supplied at the very reasonable rate of four cents a bottle.

—One tiger escapes from the traveling cage, and a whole city is thrown into consternation. The tiger kills nobody, and is soon captured; but the town talk about it for a week, and takes a long time to quiet its nerves. The same city has 4,000 saloons, and is not disturbed. They kill somebody every day, and men hardly stop to speak about it. A strange world, this!—Western Christian Advocate.

—A Brooklyn priest is quoted as saying: "If a saloon-keeper comes to church and gives to the church, he is welcome to do so, but we ask nothing from him. As to their liberality to our church, that is a question with two sides to it. Supposing the saloon-keeper does give largely, where does he get that money? From a hundred men whom he has impoverished so that they cannot contribute to the church. In other words, the saloon-keeper diverts from us far more revenue than he gives, many times more."

THE "ENDLESS CHAIN" PLAN.—The Central Baptist Association of Nova Scotia at its recent session passed the following resolution:

Whereas, much trouble and dissatisfaction have been caused by the introduction of the so-called 'endless chain' or 10 cent system of raising money for benevolent objects; and

Whereas, said system is said to interfere with our regular method of obtaining funds for dominational objects; therefore

Resolved, that this association disapproves of such methods as the one referred to, and trusts that the churches composing this association will in future discourage its operations among them.

One great objection to the plan here referred to is that nearly as much is expended in postage and stationary as is contributed to the object seeking help.

Mrs. GRANT, it is said, has thus far received about $900,000 from the publication of Gen. Grant's Memoirs.

WHEN BEGIN?—"When does the twentieth century begin?" is asked. The instant after December 31, 1900, and not 1899, as many believe. The reason is this:—The first century did not end with the year 99, but with the year 100; the second with the year 200, the nineteenth with the year 1900—just as your first hundred dollars ends with 100, and your second begins with 101 and ends with 200. Some people absolutely won't see this.

OF MINISTERS.—Rev. Mr. Mills, of Liverpool, N. S., is mentioned as likely to become pastor of the Sheffield Congregational church. . . . Rev. Mr. Mowatt (Presbyterian) of this city is away on vacation. . . . Rev. Dr. Cuyler of Brooklyn is in Great Britain. He preached in Newman Hall's church a few days ago. . . . Rev. W. B. Hinson of Moncton has received a call to the Baptist church in Ottawa. . . .

PERSONAL.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster and Mrs. Foster were in St. John last week. . . . Mr. G. R. Parkin the Imperial Federation representative is meeting with a cordial reception in Australia.

The Bishop of Paterboro seems to have gotten off a good joke lately in regard to a certain "friend" of his, who divided his subject into three heads, viz.:

1. He stated his subject.
2. He ran away from it.
3. He never came back.

A venetian glass manufacturer is said to be making and selling bonnets by the thousand. The glass cloth of which they are made has the same shimmer and brilliancy of color as silk, and is impervious to water.

The conversation turned upon a certain gentleman who is not what you may call a brilliant speaker. "He has only three faults," a friend apologetically remarked: "1. He reads his speeches. 2. He reads them badly. 3. They are not worth reading."—La Caricature.

Two young Americans were one day fishing from a wharf, when one of them fell into the water, and was drowned. The survivor's grief was so uproarious that a sympathetic bystander inquired if the drowned boy was a relation. "No," said he, through his tears, "he wasn't no relation, but he mout's well been—he had de bait."

Miss Helen Gladstone the daughter of the grand old man, "who has been at the head of the movement for the higher education of women for many years and is the president of Newnham College, Cambridge, says that she is convinced that the full cultivation of women's intellectual powers has no tendency to prevent them from properly discharging domestic duties.

It is said that the three rings which Queen Victoria prizes the most highly are: First of all, her wedding, which she has never taken off; then a small enamel ring, with a tiny diamond in the centre, which the Prince Consort gave her at the age of sixteen, and an emerald serpent which he gave her as an engagement ring. For many years after Prince Consort's death Her Majesty slept with these rings on her fingers, only taking them off to wash her hands, as the water would, of course, spoil the enamel.

Literary Notes.

It is announced that Messrs. Funk & Wagnalls, New York Publishers, have in course of preparation a new Encyclopedia of Missions. The Encyclopedia proposes to give the History, Geography, Ethnology, Biography, and Statistics of Missions, from the apostolic times to the present. There will be full Maps, Diagrams, and a copious Index. Nothing will be wanting to make it a complete book or reference for all interested in this great work of the Church. The best authorities on Missions have been consulted, and the materials are being furnished from all parts of the Mission field. Embracing in its scope the work of all branches of the Church in every land, every pastor will welcome it, and every home will find it an invaluable help in understanding the circumstances and labors of those who have gone forth as missionaries.

Three artists join in the principal poetical contribution to Harper's Magazine for August—Austin Dobson, Edwin A. Abbey and Alfred Parsons. If photography is to be ranked as an art, another artist writes for this number who describes the experiences of an amateur photographer which are his own. Two of the most important contributions to this Number are the articles on "The Kremlin and Russian Art," analyzing into its constituent elements Russian art as revealed in the architecture and treasures of the Kremlin; and Dean Lichtenberger's essay on "The Religious Movement in Germany," a sifting of the factors in the religious revolution dating from the eighteenth century.
