PARLIAMENT.

The debate on the third reading of the Orange bill was resumed. Mr. Levergne moved the six months hoist which was lost by 63 to 86.

Mr. Curran's amendment was voted down by 23 to 124.

The motion for the third reading was then carried by 86 to 61. In answer to Mr. Innes, Sir John Macdonald said that when it was ascertained beyond doubt that the world's fair would be proceeded with at Chicago, it would be the duty of the gov. ernment to consult parliament with regard to an appropriation to secure operations.

Canada's representation.

Mr. Lister moved the appointment claims of the Bresaylor half-breeds housing some 20,000 tons. with regard to Northwest rebellion losses and alleged looting of their furs by military authorities.

After discussion in which the government claimed Bresaylor's settlers' claims had been fully dealt with by the rebellion losses commission, Sir Richard Cartwright moved an amendment that the committee be charged simply with the investigation of the charges of misappropriation of Bremner's furs.

Sir John Macdonald said the inquiry could not be consented to while the suit just brought by Bremner against Sir Fred. Middleton and others was before the courts, and he moved the adjournment of the debate in order to see whether that suit would be pressed. Hon. Mr. Foster moved the house into a committee of supply. Mr. Laurier moved in amendment a m tion censuring the government for the expenditure made during recess for the survey of the proposed line of railway between Harvey and Salisbury and for which there were no par-

Hon. Mr. Foster asked that the motion be deferred, as it has special reference to the department of railways and the minister, Sir John Macdonald, could not be in the house this evening, being confined to his room.

Mr. Laurier agreed to defer his motion and the house then went into a committee for supply.

this resolution as absurd.

After discussion the motion was lost. Mr. Davin moved for the appointment of a committee to investigate commissioner Herchmer of the N. W. mourted police.

Several private bills were advanced several stages, including that to incorporate the Shore Line Railway Co., which was passed.

In answer to Mr. Mitchell, Sir John Thompson said the Behring sea proclamation reported to have been issued by President Harrison, had no special significance, being only that which it was his duty to issue in March of each year. It did not indicate any hostility to Canadian claims in Behring sea.

Mr. Laurier brought up the matter of Bremner furs and a motion for committee of inquiry. Sir John Macdonald said that civil proceedings having been stopped, General Middleton had asked that there should be a committee appointed as requested. He was therefore willing zinto the matter.

Mr. Laurier arraigned the government for having expended money on surveys of the Harvey and Salisbury railway without authority of parliament. He stated that the leader of the government in the senate had pledged his word that no expenditure of any kind would be made on the road until sanctioned by parliament. The government had, however, immediately after the session, proceeded with the survey of the road paying the cost spartly out of the general appropriation for surveys and partly by governor general's warrant. He held that in the face of the fact that the senate had rejected the bill under which it was proposed to go on with the road, the government had no right to spend a cent upon it. He moved an amendment characterizing the government's action as a wilful breach of the pledge given by the adminstration to parliament, constituting a designed violation of the power of parliament and deserv-ng severe censure of this house. Sir John Macdonald said the government had committed no breach of the privileges of parliamentary principle and had not broken any pledge, so that they met this motion with a negative in every particular. The government asked every year for a fund for general surveys and wherever such surveys for railway and other purposes cost more than the appropriation it was the custom to ask for a warrant from the governor general.
