

PARLIAMENT.

Hon. Mr. Tupper introduced an amendment to the fisheries act, extending the powers of fishery officers acting as justices of peace, so as to cover all matters in connection with the fishery act.

Mr. Laurier resumed the debate on the proposed second reading of Mr. McCarthy's bill prohibiting the official use of the French language in the Northwest. He urged the policy of conciliation in order to maintain unity in this heterogeneous nation. He had no sympathy with the advocacy on the part of a few of his fellow-countrymen of a French nationality on the banks of the St. Lawrence, as this was in direct conflict with the British subject.

Sir John Macdonald said he believed that to attempt to prohibit all but one language in this country would be found impossible. There was no paramount race in this country—no conquerors or conquered. We were all British subjects. As for the two amendments, he would oppose that by Mr. Beausoliel, because that affirmed that the present condition of affairs in the Northwest should be perpetual. He thought Mr. Blake's proposition was objectionable also, because it left the case undecided. He thought the true solution would be such a resolution as that of Mr. Davin, which would leave the solution to the people of the Northwest, after they had been given permission to deal with it. He suggested that Davin's amendment should be altered so as to make it cover the case.

Mr. Blake said that during the interval since rising he had seriously considered the suggestion of Sir John Macdonald, and although his own opinion was the same as before, yet he believed it to be in the best interest of Canada that the question should be settled by a harmonious compromise, and for his part he would be willing to assent to any such settlement which the leading men of both parties would agree upon.

Mr. Jones, of Halifax, asked, if the government could give any information respecting the modus vivendi.

Sir John Macdonald said the whole question is now the subject of communication between Her Majesty's minister and the United States.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau resumed the debate on the bill for the abolition of the official use of the French language in the Northwest. He held it would be an injustice to the French in the Northwest who did not understand English to deprive them of an opportunity of reading the laws in their own tongue.

Sir Richard Cartwright declared that we should show every race here that they could expect fair play. McCarthy was attempting an impossibility if he thought to wipe away the French language.

McCarthy closed the discussion. A division on Beausoliel's amendment to the amendment was taken with sixty-three for, and 117 against.

Sir John Thompson moved the following resolution in amendment to Davin's amendment:

That all the words after "resolved" be expunged and the following substituted:

That this house having regard for the long continued use of the French language in old Canada and to the covenants on that subject embodied in the N. B. A. act, cannot agree in the declarations contained in the said bill, as a basis thereof, namely, that it is expedient in the interests of the nationality of the dominion that there should be unity of language amongst the people of Canada;

That on the contrary this house declares its adhesion to the said covenant and its determination to resist any attempt to impair the same;

That at the same time this house deems it expedient and proper and not inconsistent with the covenants that the legislative assembly of the north-west territories should receive from the parliament of Canada power to regulate, after the general election of the assembly, the proceedings of the assembly and the manner of recording and publishing such proceedings.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, in answer to Mr. Weldon, said there had been received in export duty for logs during the year ending 31st July, 1889, $56,735 from Ontario, $16,043 from Quebec, and $1,017 from New Brunswick.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, in answer to Mr. Kirk, said it was not the intention of the government to revise the regulations so as to permit fishing for and canning lobsters in autumn of this year on the southern and eastern coast of Nova Scotia.

Sir John Thompson, in answer to Mr. Jones of Halifax, said the appointment to the bench of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Justice Smith would be made at an early date.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, in answer to Mr. Eisenhauer, said it was not the intention to replace the lighthouse at Mahone bay, Lunenburg county, destroyed by fire, as a pole light was considered sufficient for the present.

Mr. Mitchell resumed the debate on the bill for the abolition of the official use of French in the Northwest. He announced that he would support the amendment offered by Sir John Thompson.

Sir John Macdonald said Sir John Thompson moved it at his special request. This resolution was a measure of peace, a temporary measure to get rid of an agitation that threatens to hamper the success of the country. It was intended as a compromise, as opinions so widely differed on the subject. It was of importance that they should bring this question to a solution as early as possible before the small spark became fanned into a great conflagration.

The debate on McCarthy's bill came to an end Friday night, when Sir John Thompson's amendment was carried on a division of 159 to 50.

Not a Pimple on Baby

Baby one year old. Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Cured by Cuticura. Hair tender and not a pimple on him.

Cured by Cuticura

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctor said was scald-head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.
