

PARLIAMENT.

Answering Mr. Crow, Hon. Mr. Dewdney said that there was no difficulty about the boundary between Alaska and the Dominion, as it was defined by the treaty of 1825. All that was wanted now was a survey to locate the line.

Hon Geo. E. Foster announced that it was not the intention to introduce this session legislation to regulate benevolent societies. He also announced that the proposed amendments to the banking act would be submitted shortly.

Dr. Landerkin attacked the drawback system, which he held to be one of the worst evils of the tariff. He moved a resolution to extend to farmers who import corn to feed cattle for export the rebate now granted distillers on corn product exported.

After considerable debate the house divided, yeas 54; nays 70.

Mr. Tupper introduced a bill to give the superior courts jurisdiction in cases of violation of the act for the protection of navigable waters, which now must be tried under the Summary Conviction act. The bill also repeals the clause in the present act giving the governor-in-council power to exempt certain streams from its operation. Lumbermen now throwing their sawdust in streams will be given a year in which to provide other means of disposing of it, and after that time no more is to go in rivers.

The house went into committee of supply.

In answer to Mr. Edgar, Hon. Mr. Bowell said there had been no representations since the close of last session respecting the Bridgewater seizure, no settlement of the owners' claims for damages, and no amount paid by Canada in this connexion.

The debate on Mr. Wilson's motion for the repeal of the franchise act was continued.

Wednesday is the day fixed for the discussion of Dalton McCarthy's bill to abolish the dual language system in the Northwest. Speculation as to the manner in which the bill will be met was put an end to by the notice which Nicholas Flood Davin has put upon the order paper. He will move

That the said bill be not read a second time, but that, whereas, the Northwest Territories act, with the 11th clause included, was passed before a large population had entered the country; it is expedient that the legislative assembly of the territories be authorized to declare whether or not the French language shall continue as one of the official languages, and that no changes shall be made until there has been an appeal to the electors.

A bill was introduced by Mr. Landry to incorporate the Moncton and Prince Edward Island Railway and Ferry Co.

Sir John Thompson introduced a bill further to amend the criminal law. The intent of this is to make seduction of servants by masters, employers or foremen a criminal offence; to define and punish incest; to make further provision for the suppression of polygamy; to enable jurors to be supplied with refreshments; to declare the law with regard to the rights of court martial to sentence persons to jail; and for other purposes.

The house then went into committee on the bill to amend the act respecting bills of exchange and promissory notes, and progress was made.

The house went into committee of supply, and the evening was spent by attacks on ministers with contingency expenditures.

The committee having risen and reported, Hon. Mr. Foster moved that the house again resolve itself into committee of supply. This motion was in order to give Mr. Laurier an opportunity of moving an amendment which he had by request deferred. Mr. Laurier then moved in amendment a resolution affirming that no rebate of duty should be allowed on corn imported for use in the manufacture of spirits. He said no one class should enjoy an exemption not granted to another.

Notice is given in the Royal Gazette that application will be made to the local legislature for the passing of an act relating to the registration and qualification of dental surgeons. The several objects desired to be obtained by this act are the protection of dentists, the protection of the public from incompetent practitioners, and the elevation and advancement of the profession generally.

Wellington Cook, employed in Weir's machine shop, Moncton, accidentally stuck a file clear through his eye, and it is feared his sight will be destroyed.

"La grippe" has penetrated the lumber woods of Northern New Brunswick. Already the lumber camps of Robert Connors and David Richards have been completely demoralized. Mr. Richards received a despatch saying that his whole crew were down with the disease, and that operations were suspended. Mr. Richards says that the effect of the distemper entering the camps at this time of the year is most disastrous. The men being anxious to get to work, go out before they are fully recovered, and the relapse renders them unfit for work the remainder of the season. Reports indicate that the same trouble is being experienced all over the province.

Bears are reported numerous in the vicinity of Musquash. F. J. Chesmar, brought to the city on Friday two bears he killed the previous day near the moss factory.

Reports from the up river sections of the province are that there is plenty of snow and that lumbermen are being favored with splendid weather and are making the most of it. Along the Bay of Fundy on the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia shores an entirely different story is being told. There is practically no snow on the ground and the greatest difficulty is experienced in hauling over the terrible rough and frozen roads. One operator to day told a reporter of the Globe that he had to keep a crew of men continually at work repairing sleds. The want of snow will interfere with the cut to a great extent.

Ellen Sinnott, aged about 60, was found dead in her house in Carleton. She and a sister had lived together for a number of years. The sister was in a bad condition.

Coroner White was notified and the dead sister was removed. Later Johann Sinnott was taken to the house of George Snider. She may live, but it is doubtful, as she has had nothing to eat for twenty-one days except a pound and a half of soda biscuit. She told the officers that she could not get up to obtain a drink of water. Her thirst she had to quench by sucking icicles which formed on the window sill near her bed.

When Ellen Sinnott died will probably never be known. She was last seen alive on Tuesday when she called at the house of a neighbor. It is not yet known whether she died from hunger, or was frozen to death. The body was not badly frozen but the face, hands, arms and legs from the knees down were frozen stiff.

Mr. Andrew Cowie of St. John, went to Sussex Saturday to visit his brother, Rev. Mr. Cowie, Waterford. In company with Mr. Richardson he started to drive from Sussex to his brother's. A short distance above Waterford Corner the road runs along the banks of the Trout Creek which at this point is always a rapid stream, had now become a rushing, foaming, torrent, sweeping along with it huge cakes of ice and the debris of the banks in full confusion. While passing this dangerous spot their lantern went out and Mr. Cowie alighted from the carriage to relight it. The horse became frightened at the swish and roar of the water, and Richardson got out to quiet it. While struggling with the animal he heard his companion cry in distress, "Oh my! Oh my!" but could see nothing through the intense darkness. The horse turned completely around and knocking Richardson down trampled over him and made back to the corner. Some people who had noticed them pass up, and seeing the horse return alone, started up the road and were met by Richardson who told them that Mr. Cowie had been drowned. Efforts were made to recover the body, but the search has been carried on without intermission, no trace of his body has been found.

Not a Pimple on Baby

Baby one year old. Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Cured by CUTICURA. Hair splendid and not a pimple on him.

Cured by Cuticura

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctor said was scall-head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.
