Reports from Cape Tormentine give particulars of the storm in that vicinity Rast week. The breakwater was swept clear of everything except the hoisting engine. A lumber freight car and all rails and ties on the embankment were washed away. The contractors' loss is heavy, including timber, tools, etc. Three lobster factories were destroyed. Job Allen's factory is a complete wreck. The boats, boiler, traps and all gear were smashed. W. H. Allen's factory was also wrecked. Millege Trenholm's factory, fitted last year, is also washed away. Job Allen's loss will be $1,000; Trenholm's $5000 and W. H. Allen's $300.

The dykes at Cape Marsh were broken, and it is estimated that 600 tons of hay were washed away.

On Tuesday of last week there was a fire in the Court House at Andover. The building was damaged to the extent of about two hundred dollars. which is covered by insurance. She was left destitute and the authorities sent her to St. John recently, to be sent back to England. She is now in the Alms House, St. John.

Mrs. Dr. Bridges of St. Marys, has been a sufferer for some years from head trouble, and melancholy turns followed. It was this undoubtedly that led her to take her own life Sunday of last week. Her husband and daughter left her alone to attend church and when they returned they found her dead in bed with the fatal cup containing strichnine within her reach. Coroner Coulthard, M. NOVA SCOTIA.

There has been a great boom in coal shipments this year from Nova Scotia. The Springhill mine is putting out two thousand tons a day and keeping the Intercolonial busy rushing freight. The output at the Joggins doubled last month, and the Minudie mine is being reopened. The shipments from Cape Breton up the St. Lawrence are the largest in the history of that island, and the demand is so great that the Sydney and Louisbourg coal and railway company were compelled to open again the old Emery for years.
