Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one near and dear to you, may depend on the se of this well-approved remedy in preference to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Honduras sarsaparilla (the variety most rich in curative operties), stillingia, mandrake, yellow lock, and the iodides. The process of mannfacture is original, skilful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best nedicinal qualities of each ingredient. This nedicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a compound extract, obtained by a method exclusively our own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and diuretics known to pharmacy. For the last forty

INTERNATIONAL LESSON.

Third Quarter-Lesson IX -August 3 CHRIST AT THE FEAST.

John 7:31-44. GOLDEN TEXT. - If any man therst, let him come unto me, and drink.—John 7:37.

JESUS. Nearly 33 years old toward the close of the third year golden pitcher, and brought it back of his ministry; about six months sound of cymbals &c. The return before his crucifixion. THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES.—(1) Time. This feast was held from the 15th to the 21st of Tisri (Sept .-Oct.) of each year, the first and the lest days being kept sacred, like Sabbaths, the other days being semiholidays. (2) Object. It is called in Ex. 23:16 the feast of ingathering, and was in one aspect a Thanksgiving for the produce of the year. It was also a commemoration of the life in the wilderness, and a thanksgiving for the settlement h permanent habitation. (3) How celebrated. In Jerusalem booths were erected everywhere. These were made of branches of trees. Nobody was living at home; everybody in these booths. (4) The symbolism. The whole symbolism of the feast pointed to the future. The ceremony of the outpouring of water was symbolical of the Holy Spirit.

THE MIRACLES JESUS WROUGHT. -Ver. 31. And many of the people believed on him. Believed that he was the Messiah, and trusted him as their Saviour. The faith may have been weak and imperfect, but it was sincere. And said, when (the) Christ cometh. They are not expressing any doubt of their own that Jesus is the Christ, but presenting an unanswerable argument that had convinced them, and by which they would show the reasonableness of their belief. Will he do more miracles than these which this man hath done? Jesus had done over and over again the very miracles the Messiah was expected to do. Jesus had given abundant evidence of his power to work miracles, and they therefore believed that he was the Messiah.

Miracles as a Proof that Jesus was the Messiah.

1. They show that Jesus answered to the description of the Messiah foretold by the prophets. 2. They are God's signature and seal to the words which his messenger speaks; they attest the claim of Jesus to be the Messiah by visible signs and deeds which only God can Modern Proofs. Jesus Christ is living now, and working as really as when on earth. He promised his disciples that they should do greater things than he did in Palestine. And this promise has proved true (1) in the number and greatness of the conversions of individuals. (2) In the great moral changes of whole nations. (3) In the physical blessings which he is working through his disciples. They do not work miracles, but are better than the power of miracles, as the prolonged sunshine is better than a proof of this, than greeted my eyes one bright May day in 1870, when our party of travelers was coming up the Danube. Our steamer had stopped to take coal at the Turkish town of Widdin, and then crossed over to Kalafat, a Christian village in Bulgaria. In Widdin we saw the unspeakable Turks in their nondescript costume, undignified attitudes and ungainly motions-a group of GOLD, SILVER, men, who, if they named their wives in one's hearing at all would beg pardon for committing such an indelicacy, and at a distance up the bank were fluttering budgets of particolored calico with faces and figures invisible, but the supposition being that these cowering groups were women. We crossed to Kalafat, and on the pleasant shore, circling hand in hand with songs (in which bass and soprano mingled) around a flower-wreathed May pole, was a group of men and women, in European costume, together celebrating some national festival. The difference was so great and the distance so small that I sought an explanation from one who knew those far off lands, when behold, he pointed out two salient objects in the landscapes of those separate shores between which rolled the Danube's blue, and there I saw a mosque, a church—a minaret, a spire! Even in the degenerate form in which the Greek church dispenses Christianity, it has thus made women the comrades of men, and made men the brothers of girls.
