

prayed for his death. His agent had listened at the door and heard them asking that "the obstruction might be removed." The landlord at once concluded that he was the obstruction. He held out a little longer, but on Monday evening he felt uncomfortable. At last he decided to give way, and the chapel site was granted.

The evangelistic work carried on in New York by Rev. Jas. O'Connor, a converted Catholic priest, for the last twelve years has been successful, and is being prosecuted with increasing vigour. A new Mission building has been secured at a cost of $27,000. The building has accommodations for such priests as desire to leave the Church of Rome on religious grounds. In the past years Mr. O'Connor has welcomed many such priests and sent them to various Protestant seminaries to prepare for the Gospel ministry. From the mission house he will also continue to publish his monthly magazine, the Converted Catholic.

Denominational News.

REV. B. A. Sherwood is open to correspondence from churches in New Brunswick or Nova Scotia that need help, or from pastors who desire assistance in special work. His address is, Grafton, Mass. We wish Bro. Sherwood might be brought back to one of the Provinces.

CLARKES' HARBOUR.—"Children's Day" will be observed on Sabbath, June 29th. There will be a sermon in the morning to parents and children, and in the evening a Sabbath School Concert. Collection at the evening service for the benefit of the Sabbath School fund.

Preparations are being made to have a strawberry festival early in July. The proceeds are to be for repairing the outside of the meeting house.

The Young Peoples' Society continues in interest. Bible readings have given much stimulus. All such Societies are apt to get into ruts, and so often fail in their purpose. Variety is healthful and helpful.

A public Hall is in the thought of the people. "An effort will be made to secure one this Fall. It is needed. The old one is no longer fit for use. A place is required for a public library and reading room. Every moral influence means strength to a community.

In material prosperity God, in His kindness, is abundantly blessing us. This is one of the best seasons enjoyed for many years. The claims of God are not being forgotten.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society meets each month and is both interesting and prosperous.

T. H. S.

GRAND MANAN.—Sabbath 7th inst. was a good day at Grand Harbour. Two brothers and four sisters were received into this church, and we enjoyed an especially good season at the Lord's Table; between fifty and sixty were present at Communion. There are others who ought to be baptized and join the church; it would be a help to them and to the church; they are good young people, who promise to be useful.

It was our sad duty to lay away a young man last Tuesday. He was at work on the 15th April, but contracted a cold which grew worse till finally consumption set in, and he passed away quickly.

I am cheered by the good reports from the brethren. I scarcely can wait for the dear old paper to come. Long may it live to fulfil its mission amongst us and in the world.

T. O. DE WITT.

BRIGHTON.—The revival at Upper Brighton under the labours of Rev. Wm. Downey is progressing grandly. He has baptized fifteen happy converts so far and many other persons are deeply convicted and there is a general religious awakening throughout the entire community. He purposes to continue the meetings at least another week.

THE INDIA CENSUS.—The results of the India census have been tabulated, with, the "Herald" says, the surprising outcome that the total population is 286,000,000—an increase of 26,000,000 since 1881. Of this astounding aggregate British India proper contains 220,500,000 people, and exercises "a quasi and semi-feudal authority" over the remaining 65,500,000 souls. Unless it be in China, there is no region on the globe so densely populated. In this country we have less than 18 persons to the square mile; in Bengal "every square mile, cultivated or not, supports an average of 474 persons, this including swamps and untillable soil. With such a revelation as this census gives, our missionary societies should be stimulated to most heroic endeavors. These millions should not "perish for lack of knowledge."

HOW HE FELT.—All sufferers from LaGrippe have endured enough, but it is to be hoped that not many have felt quite as badly as an English M. P. who describes the symptoms thus:—

"You are seized at once, he says, 'with all the symptoms of catarrh, ague, and hay fever. You feel as if a sheet of hot iron covered your ribs, and somebody was boring a hole into you, back between the shoulder-blades. At last you would suppose yourself bruised into a jelly, if your bones had not been battered until every inch of them was afflicted with its individual toothache. But, on the whole, your physical condition is better than your mental, for you feel as if you were to be condemned, untried and unheard, for all the crimes in all the 'criminal codes that were ever written.'"

Of a disease which has caused so much suffering it is gratifying to be able to record at least one case of benefit derived from it. Rev. Dr. Abel Stevens, an eminent divine of the Methodist Episcopal church, had for several years been troubled with insomnia and a singing in his ears. Recently he had LaGrippe, and since his recovery from it both the old troubles have disappeared. This is the only case of benefit we have heard of.

THE CZAR, that modern Pharaoh of the Oppression, must be one of the most wretched beings in that distressful country. He lives in constant dread of assassination, and in the hope of keeping a whole skin resorts to a system of espionage, tyranny and terror. He desired to go to Moscow, but for days could not muster up courage to quit his strongly-guarded palace in St. Petersburg. When he did venture out soldiers were on guard along the whole 400 miles of railway over which he travelled. Before his arrival in Moscow every house from the station to the Kremlin had been inspected by the police, the admission of strangers during the procession being strictly forbidden. No one was allowed to open a window or step upon a balcony as the cavalcade passed. A triumphal arch even had been demolished lest it might harbour assassins. The trembling despot drove through streets lined with rows of soldiers, policemen and firemen. There was a display of flags, but the general appearance of the place was that of a town in mourning or in a state of siege. His fears are not without cause. Plots against him thicken, the oft-baffled conspirators becoming desperate. Shortly before his arrival in Moscow four boxes of dynamite were discovered at the French Exhibition, which was to have been visited by the Czar, and a road over which he would pass was found to have been mined. He quickly took his departure from Moscow.

EAGER FOR EDUCATION.—In illustration of the anxiety of the negroes of the South to secure an education, a lady who is connected with Claiborne University tells this touching story:

She was written to for information relative to the amount of money needed in order to commence a course of study at the University. She replied that thirty dollars would be necessary. A year later "a young lady, as white as myself, came to the institution, handed me thirty dollars, and told me how she had earned it. Securing a small piece of land, she hired a team, ploughed the land, planted the cotton, hoed it, picked and baled it, receiving for the same forty dollars! It had cost her eight dollars to get to Orangeburg from her home. Two dollars only had she reserved for herself, gladly handing me the thirty dollars in order to commence her school work."

THE PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY, in session at Kingston, Ont., adopted strong resolutions on temperance. They reaffirm the opinion of former Assemblies "regarding the matter of the general liquor traffic and the evil effects on the individual, family and social life and the necessity of the faithful preaching of the gospel to effectually overcome these evils and to build up a godly, temperate and prosperous nation, asserts its conviction that in the matter of legislation nothing short of prohibition, rigidly enforced by the authorities, should ever be accepted as final or satisfactory, and that it is now the duty of the Dominion parliament to enact such a law.

That this assembly is heartily grateful to God for the very great changes that have taken place for the better during the last twenty years in the drinking customs and temperance sentiment of the country and the progress made in restrictive legislation, and earnestly hopes that the general traffic in alcoholic liquors may soon be entirely abolished. It also calls upon its pastors, office bearers and members to faithfully use all proper available means to promote total abstinence, strengthen the temperance sentiment of our people and hasten the coming of prohibition. That this assembly is gratified at the large number of signatures obtained throughout the country to the petitions for prohibition, circulated by authority of the last assembly in co-operation with other churches in such ways as may be found expedient to keep up the agitation for prohibition begun in connection with the petition movement.

That sessions and presbyteries be recommended to use greater diligence to secure a fuller compliance with the regulations for having taught in all our public schools the evil effects of alcohol and other narcotics on health and morals."

VASSILY PARLOFF AND IVAN VORONIN, the two leaders of Russian Baptists who were banished four years ago to Orenburg, have now been permitted to return to their homes. Immediately on their arrival the police demanded from them a written pledge that they would not recommence preaching. Voronin, who has been somewhat cowed by his long exile, gave the required pledge; but Parloff, nothing daunted, although a man with a large family, has refused point-blank to do so. In all probability poor Parloff will be returned to Orenburg or else, where until his views of what a Baptist preacher's duty is conform more readily with the views of a Russian policeman.

SOME NAMES.—Rev. F. D. Power writes in the "Christian Standard": "What is there in a name? Here is 'Joseph Trusty,' a Washington colored boy under sixteen, making a false statement as to his age, and getting one of our guileless tobacco dealers into trouble under the anti-cigarette law. Here is 'James Thoroughgood' about to be hung over in Delaware. Here are 'Boosey & Son,' publishers of Temperance Tracts, London; a savings bank failing of which a man named 'Robb' is President and one 'Poor,' is Treasurer; 'Thomas Goodman' indicted for firing a barn; 'Virtue Innocent,' a widow, fined for using unjust scales; 'Thomas Makepeace' fined for a breach of the peace; 'Catherine Virtue' convicted of stealing a piece of goods; a man named 'Dry' drinking an enormous quantity of brandy on a wager; and 'Mr. Deill, a chaplain in Her Christian Majesty's forces. Is a name no longer the index of a man's character, or do they go by contraries?"

Of bottles of DYSPEPTICURE have been sold during the past few years without any advertising whatever.
