not ? No man can be an intelligent member of any church without reading the literature of that church."

-THE WITTY Sydney Smith, preaching a charity sermon in St. Pauls, made the assertion several times in the course of his sermon that the English were most distinguished for generosity and the love of their species. The collection happening to be inferior to his expectations he said he had evidently made a great mistake, and that his expression should have been that they were distinguished for the love of their specie. And the love of specie has scarcely lessened since then.

How MANY who read and love the Bible as a friend and adviser ever stop to think of its great value as a literary production ? In every way it is the greatest book the world has ever known. Bishop Warren lecturing recently on "The Bible in Education" said :--

"There was never a work in the annals of civilization which has received such universal homage as the Bible. Some of it is over three thousand years old. and yet it was never so popular as now. In the first seventy-seven years of its existence, the English Bible Society printed 88,000,000 volumes, but in the last ten years it has issued over 30,000,000 copies. The best minds are interested in this volume. The Bible is more productive of thought than any other work in literature. Von Moltke said that the Bible had more influence over his mind than any other book. The 'Grand Old Man' of England, Mr. Gladstone, has named it 'The Impregnable Rock.' The man whose education does not include a thorough study of the Bible is not liberally educated. The Bible claims to be drawn from infinite resources; it has a marvellous selfauthenticating power. Its doctrines never have spread with the rapidity they do to day.'

-THE ADVOCATES of Woman's suf frage have been wont to advance as their final and irresistible argument the statement that women on moral questions can be better trusted than men. They have taken it for granted that the vast majority of women are incapable of opposing any moral reform. Casually the statement seems plausible and men are apt to accept it without consideration, but one who reads carefully the happenings of the times is often startled by accounts of instances where women have been the real obstructionists in the path of reform. Without entering into other phases of the argument on this question it is well to note that even on this ground there is room for a doubt as to the advisability of placing in the hands of women a power which our best women do not desire and which misguided females are sure to use to the disadvantage of moral reform. Look at this case. The Brewers' Journal for October compliments the New York Board of Lady Managers for having given "quite valuable aid" to the advocates of opening the World's Fair on Sunday by their vote of eleven to one in favor of Sunday opening. When women come down to receiv-

day and generation-here is a boundless realm in which we should always, like the great historian, he learners.

- To A VERY large extent we live in an age of pessimism. On all hands men are found lamenting the moral degeneracy of the times. They point back to the "good old times " and compare them with to day much to the disparagement of our day. Especially is this true in regard to the liquor traffic. Croakers are found in every community, who sneer at the partial successes of temperance reformers and who say that the old state of things was better. It may be noted that these men are never found to take an active part in helping along the reform. The fact is that the "good old times" were not nearly so good as they are prone to affirm.

Through all the years of earnest work by big hearted and deep thinking temperance men, the public conscience has grown tender and sensitive and the great throbbing heart of the nation has burned with an intense and growing desire to rid itself of the curse. The best men in our land have come to the place where they are demanding the overthrow of the traffic and their demands must be answered affirmatively. These days are the best the reform has ever known. Next year will be better than this. Rev. Dr. Sutherland writing on the "Progress of morals " makes this statement which, all, who are old enough to remember, know to be true of this country as well as of his.

"Though comparatively a young man, I can well remember when in the country in which I was born and brought up there was only one pronounced total abstainer. In those so called 'good old times' the man who did not drink and did not supply in toxicating liquors to his friends was considered, to say the least, lacking in hospitality.'

We hope to retain all present subscribers on our 1893 list. The IN-TELLIGENCER needs them all, and we trust they feel that they need it. the rame of Jesus, show little of His self-effacing interest in their fellows.

And what is true of individual christian life is true, also, of church life it should be dominated by the spirit of love, expressing itself in self-sacrificing effort in behalf of the unsaved. A church is formed to cherish, cultivate and put into energetic and effective operation the best impulses of the christian life. It is a strange outcome of an alleged holy fellowship, when the body which was for an habitation of God through the Spirit makes its own outward prosperity, respectibility aud attractiveness the chief aim of all its activities. And yet there are churches which seem to concentrate upon themselves the greater part, in some instances the whole, of what passes for christian beneficence and effort. They expend much in buildings, in music, and in the other accessories of worship, but they contribute but little and do even less towards rescuing the perishing, either near by or far off. Such churches are "living unto self," perhaps unwittingly, but really, nevertheless. They may think that they are doing God service in the largest and best way, but they are grievously mistaken. Not only is there loss to the work at large by their non-participation in it, but they are not getting the best things to themselves-the spiritual quickenings, comforts, joys and enlargement which always attend upon true conceptions of activities in accordance therewith.

It is always wrong and a weakness. whether in the individual christian or More subscriptions expire in this in the church, when interest centres 25 cents, Rev. Joseph Noble 25 cents,

FOR UNION.

A committee composed of members from the Free Baptist and Free Christian Baptist conferences, met in the vestry of the Free Baptist church, Carleton on the 24th Nov. for the purpose of discussing the desirability, and feasibility of a union between these two bodies. Owing to the absence of the Free Will Baptist delegates of Nova Scotia nothing definite was done.

It was the unanimous opinion of the informal meeting, that a union was most desirable in as much as doctrinally the two denomination are the same. There is a slight difference in church polity, but it was thought that the difference could be so adjusted as no to cause friction.

There was the utmost unanimity o feeling in the meeting and it was re solved that the Executive of the F. C B. Conference be requested to appoint a fraternal delegate to the Free Baptist Conference to be held at Hartland next June. The brethren separated. feeling that if nothing definite had been done, the spirit of union had been strengthened by the exchange of thought.

There is likely to be a lively time in Moneton within the next few weeks Mr. Rawlings of St. John is now doing police duty, but although appointed as a policeman it is well known that his duty is really more in the nature of a Scott act inspector. The council, it appears, did not care to appoint a Scott act inspector, and as the regular police could not or would not enforce the law it was decided to appoint Mr. Rawlings. His appointment is for a month, and it is supposed that his continuance in the service will depend altogether upon the degree of success achieved. The action of the council has created quite a breeze among the liquor dealers, who are not a bit more anxious for law than other people.-Sun.

Ruth McEnery Stuart will contribute another of her characteristic stories, "Delphi's Dilemma," to Harper's Bazaar for November 26th. The same number of the Bazaar will contain a delightfully interesting article on "The Office of Chaperon," by Emma Moffett Tying.

The bound volume of Harper's Young People for 1892, which is just ready for pulication, is fully equal to its predecessors in the beauty, value, and variety of its contents. Among its contributors are such well-known writers as W. D. Howells, Thomas Nelson Page, Captain Charles King, Kirk Munroe, Margaret E. Sangster, Howard Pyle, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Charles Carleton Coffin, and many others. The illustrations are beautiful. As a holiday giftbook for boys and girls it is unsurpassed.

The past is the INTELLIGENCER'S promise for the future. In no respect will it be permitted to fall below its standard. In every respect the aim will be steadily upward.

TO FREE BAPTISTS.

The Intelligencer is the only Free Baptist paper in Canada. It was established in their interest, has been devoted to their work, and never more heartily and loyally than now.

It would like to go into every Free Baptist family in the whole country, and believes it ought to. But it cannot do this without assistance. The ministers and members of the denomination can do much to extend its circulation by presenting its claims, and the benefits to be derived from it, to those who are not now subscribers. No religious paper can be successful unless it is properly pressed upon the attention of the people. The success or failure of a denominational paper depends much more upon the ministers and other friends of its work than upon the editor.

Is it too much to expect to begin the new year with a list of subscribers which in these Provinces? There are more than a thousand homes which need its visits, as the organ of the denomination with which they are connected, but which it does not now enter. And these can be reached by active effort, in every part of the field, by the ministers and others interested
