New Brunswick.

John Marks, aged 12, youngest son of Jas. Marks, of Salmon River, was drowned on last Wednesday evening while playing alone in a boat in Salmon River basin. The body was recovered when the tide went out.

Tuesday afternoon Maxime Landry, of Dundas, Kent Co., was set upon by four men named F. Robichaud, T. Landry, O. Landry and M. Landry, of the same place, who gave him a severe beating. While the trouble was going on Mrs. Landry ran to assist her husband when she also received rough usage. The assailants kicked and beat her so badly that she now lies in a very precarious condition owing to her being enfeebled at the time, medical attendance was required.

John Cullingham, of Keswick, was attacked by a mad steer at that place and was caught on the animals horns and thrown violently against the fence, resulting in a fracture of two or three of his ribs and other injuries.

A young man named Harry Young, residing on Charlotte street, Carleton, was run over by the C. P. R. train near Fairville and received injuries from which he died in an hour. Young got caught in some way in a culvert and the train passed over his body, crushing him terribly. He lingered for only an hour.

There was quite a smash-up at the Albert station of the Salisbury and Harvey railway, on Friday last. On that day Wm. Kennie moved a car on to the crossing to unload some mill machinery and neglected moving it off again, and the regular coming in truck hit the engine. The engine was not able to see it until late to stop the train. One car was smashed into kindling wood and another lifted off the trucks. On one of the cars were two threshing machines, which was broken up so badly that they will need to be sent back to the factory. The front of the engine was broken in and a steam pipe broken, which allowed the steam to escape, disabling the engine so that she had to remain there until taken away by another engine. Damage $1,000.

The game law regulations prescribe that partridge cannot be legally killed before the 20th of Sept.

A two-year-old son of Mr. Wm. Smith, of Doak Settlement, has been missing since Aug. 27, and though almost the entire settlement has ever since been scouring the locality, no trace of the child has yet been found. Mrs. Smith left the missing boy with her two other children, a year or two older, in the house while she went into a neighbor's. When she returned, the two oldest were playing about, but the youngest boy, who was last seen by them in the door yard, could not be found and then the alarm was given. A large bear is said to have been seen about the locality of late and some neighbors state that they heard some dreadful screaming about the time of the child's disappearance. These two facts together have convinced some people that the child had been carried off by a bear and devoured.

Joseph Church, the young man who was so badly injured at King's mill the other day by falling against the rotary saw is still alive at the hospital. His case is rather a remarkable one. A piece of the skull about 2 inches wide by 3 inches long comprising the left frontal bone was cut clean off his head, and the brain lacerated and left exposed perfectly bare. The piece of the skull cut off this way has not been found and the physicians have covered in the brain as best they could. The man is conscious, but cannot talk, though he can say yes or no in answer to questions. There is even a possibility of his recovery though it is considered doubtful.

It is reported that a provincial election will probably take place in October.

Charles Rolston, a 15-year-old boy, was killed, at North street station Halifax, Sep. 2. The little fellow attempted to jump to the rear car of the Dartmouth train while backing into the station but missed his footing. He fell down between the platform and locomotive and was caught by the axle oil box and crushed between it and the ground. The boy was frightfully mangled and lived about two hours. His mother had earnestly cautioned him to keep away from the train.

Deceased was sent aloft to furl the sails which had been shaken out to dry. He and two others were furling in the main royal when he lost his hold and fell on the deck.

A serious accident occurred on the pier at Digby Wednesday morning as the Moticello was leaving for Annapolis. Miss Laura Morehouse of Sandy Cove was in a carriage, that was being turned, and the horse becoming alarmed backed, causing the hind wheels to pass over the guard, throwing Miss Morehouse to the beach below, a distance of about 20 feet it being low tide. She was picked up in an unconscious condition and medical attendance secured. Her injuries consist of some severe cuts and a bad shaking up.

The two prisoners, Peter A. McMullen, and William McMullen, both of Springhill, were committed for trial on a charge of placing a trolley on the railway near Springhill. The evidence given at the examination showed that there was enough material on the track to derail the engine and cause a serious if not disastrous accident, especially as the engine struck the obstruction where the line curved. When struck by the engine, part of the trolley was forced under the engine, one of the wheels being thrown out between the wheels of the engine. The men, when arrested, acknowledged putting the trolley on the rails for the purpose of having a ride, but had not time to take it off again before the express was upon them.

The marine and fisheries department have decided to send by next steamer to Sable Island three carrier pigeons for service between there and Halifax. Much interest is being taken in the adventure and the trial will be looked forward to with considerable curiosity.

John McDonald committed suicide at North Sydney Sept. 4. He was found in the afternoon hanging to a limb of a tree in the rear of W. H. Moore's residence, and 200 yards from his own house. He was last seen at six o'clock in the morning, cutting the clothes line with which he was found hanging. He was a man with but one arm, and experienced difficulty in obtaining employment. There was no known reason for the deed. He was 45, and had a large family.

Granulated and yellow sugars went up in price 8 of a cent per pound. The former rules now at 4 1/2 and the latter at 2 1/2 wholesale. Five cents is the price in the New York market. The reason for the advance, an official of the Nova Scotia refinery says, is the reaction from American combines, pressure in raw sugar market, and the cholera in Europe. The latter renders importation from there very uncertain. Only 2 per cent. of the raw sugar imports are from Europe this year, as against sixteen per cent. last year.

One of the largest freights of hake ever landed at Digby arrived last Saturday on the schooner Mary E. Wharf, Cap. Anderson. A total of some 90,000 lbs. was secured as the result of about a week's fishing.

An Indian named Rogers sold his adopted son to a French hunter for the sum of $3, one half paid cash down and the balance in twelve months. The bargain was consummated before witnesses.
