It is most encouraging to witness how drunkenness has dimished during the last year. Some of the hardest and most regular drinkers, among matured men, have joined the Lodge lately. You see, that our Sunday schools and our Temperance Societies are in good working condition, therefore are we aggressive on these lines. Have we not in these things strong reason to "thank God and take cour age?"

CROWELL.-The death of Deacon Rufus H. Crowell, on March 1st., came with surprise to many of his neighbors who had hardly learned of his serious illness. We have lost one of the most respected and efficient workers in many departments of Christian activity. He was born March 5, 1827, and with the exception of NASON .- At Fredericton Junction, on a few month's absence on a fishing voy age in his youth, spent his whole life in Barrington, his native place. He had almost completed his 75th year. In early life he learned the shoemaker's trade under Thomas West, and worked at Barrington Head until his appointment as Postmaster, in July 1857. He was also telegraph operator for several years in connection with the Post office work, but he remained Postmaster unt 1 his death. As Clerk of the Peace and of the Municipal Council continuously since 1860, he proved himself, as also in the Postal ser vice, a competent and obliging public officer, equal to an immense amount of work, which has been carried for several years past in spite of much physical infirmity. In his place as a deacon of the Free Baptist church, as a Sunday School worker and as an independent evangelist using his opportunities to seek and save the lost, he will be gratefully and lovingly remembered. In Oak Park especially assisted by his wife, he kept religious services open for a long time with much profit to the community. He dated his conversion from a meetin / at the Island meeting house when he was o, his knees praying. His earnestness early won the esteem of his brethren who chose him as over thirty years ago, and he was an original member of that church, organiz ed in the meeting house at the Head, by Revs. Harris, Ashley and others.
