He was immediately taken down in an unconscious state and doctors summoned from Moncton. It is thought his brain is injured.

The fete national was celebrated by the Acadians at Rogersville Aug. 15. On the way to the chapel a young married woman, the wife of Cyrille Caise, with a number of others were precipitated into a brook through the fall of a temporary structure erected where the bridge had been carried away by the freshets. Mrs. Caise was drowned and the body has not yet been recovered. The sad affair cast gloom over the entire community.

A very sad drowning accident occurred on Wednesday afternoon at the Falls near Murray's mill. The victim was Matthew Humphrey, a four-year-old son of Charles Humphrey, an employe of Murray's mill, the little boy was playing with some other children on the bank of the river. The children decided to go in wading. Young Humphrey must have stepped off a steep place on the bank and got into deep water, for before the other children could realize what was the matter he was carried away by the current. It is thought he must have been carried through the Fall. He was a particularly bright little fellow.

Mr. Charles Sargeant's mill at Nelson broke all previous local records for fast sawing on Friday of last week, when one gang cut 97,230 sup. ft. of merchantable lumber. The logs sawed were pine for about 6 hours; the remainder of the day they were cutting spruce.

Several small lots of liquor, supposed to have been smuggled from St. Pierre, Miq., have been located within the past week. This is the schooner from which Captain LeBlanc was drowned a short time ago while going ashore at night in a storm.

James Durand, who lost two houses in Tuesday night's fire at Fairville, and who in making his escape from one of the burning buildings had his head and neck badly burned was about at daylight Thursday morning. Early in the morning he commenced the erection of a house 15x25 and by eight o'clock at night he had it sufficiently advanced to move his family in.

Chas. Miller's new shingle mill at Pokioh had had steam up this week, and will be put in operation next week.

The Southampton steam packet while on its way down river was swamped by the waves of the steamer Florenceville. The boat split in two and the engine went to the bottom. The remaining part of the packet floated down on Macquarie Island where it is still lying. Had it not been for the timely assistance of a few men who witnessed the accident from the shore, and at once put out boats some of the crew would certainly have been drowned.

Scribner's barroom at Hampton was raided Tuesday evening, and a large quantity of liquor seized and removed to the magistrate's.

There has been coal found about two miles west of Dalhousie on the Restigouche river at a place called Pt. Lahim. There has been some coal dug out and found to be first class surface coal. It is rumored that a party of miners will begin boring next week so as to ascertain where the main body lies. Some think the Eel River valley, on the blueberry plains near Eel River crossing, would be a good place to find out the main bed.

One wheel passed over his leg and side, injuring him badly.

The American steamship Worcester, of the North Atlantic line, from Boston for Charlottetown was due at Hawkesbury on Saturday. The steamship Britannia went in search of the Worcester. She found her off Canoe in a disabled condition with rudder gone. Captain Briggs reports that he had not seen the sun since Friday. He made Canoe Saturday morning in a thick fog, in which he could not see the length of the steamer. He struck on a rock about seven o'clock Saturday while going full speed, carrying away the shoe and part of her keel and rudder. The steamer pounded considerably, but floated off and drifted and steamed with part of her rudder until she got about four miles off the automatic buoy, Canoe, when they anchored.

The steamer Carroll has arrived at Hawkesbury with a rudder for the disabled steamer Worcester. Captain Briggs of the Worcester explains that he was going full speed at the time of striking the ledge, because ten minutes previously the fog lifted for a minute and he saw land. He then put on full steam to get away as he supposed from danger.

Mrs. Jane Doyle, who attained notoriety in connection with the murder of her husband, is to be arrested for bigamy. He soon tired of her and returned to his father's house. A few days ago she again married, a mechanic named Byng. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Bond, Methodist. Her sister Carrie was married at the same time. Attorney General Longley is preparing papers for her arrest for bigamy.

In Halifax an affair which came very near being attended with fatal results occurred on Maitland street Tuesday night. Two brothers Fred and Roy Sloan, aged respectively 15 and 12 years, got into an altercation over some trivial matter. It soon culminated in a fight, in which the older boy was seriously stabbed by his brother in the chest near the heart. Just previous to the stabbing several blows from the fists were exchanged. The young brother seeing he was being worsted, drew a knife and made a plunge at his adversary. The knife entered the boy's left chest near the side, and in close proximity to the heart.

Great excitement exists among the Toronto corps of the Salvation Army over the dismissal of forced resignation of between 40 or 50 officers after the arrival of Commandant Booth three weeks ago. Among those dismissed are Brigadier Philpott and Adjutant Roffe, who were accused by Commissioner Rees, their predecessor, with keeping a diary of events at head quarters with the object of writing them up. This the accused officers denied and demanded an investigation which was refused. There are numerous and widespread threats of secession in fact if some understanding is not arrived at. It looks as if the bulk of the Toronto corps will secede in a body.

Literary Notes.

The Homiletic Review for September open with a striking paper by Prof. R. G. Moulton of Cambridge, Eng., on "The Study of the English Bible as a Classic," a theme which the writer's well-known ability qualifies him to discuss in a most interesting way. Dr. W. W. McLane follows his article in the March number on "An Historical Study of Hell" with a second, equally suggestive, showing what have been the beliefs of Egypt, Persia, India, Greece, and Arabia, with reference to future punishment. Mr. Edward Judson, of New York, follows with a presentation of the "Immortality of Mysticism." Prof. Hunt, of Princeton, has another of his admirable papers, in which he brings out the mutual relations between "Preaching and Teaching." The Sermonic Section contains among its other attractiveness of the Exegetical Section. The well-known President of the now famous Christian Endeavor Society, F. E. Clark, D. D., of Boston, describes the efficiency of that organization as a "Pastor's Aid Society," and J. T. Gracey, D. D., of Rochester, gives some useful hints on how to interest Sunday-schools in Mission work. Mr. Frank I. Herriott concludes his article on the "The Pulpit and Social Problems," and Dr. Samuel W. Dike discusses "Some Sociological Points" in the Sociological Section. The number well sustains the reputation of the Review as the leading magazine for hard-working pastors.

A German inventor has devised a means of producing a light superior in strength to either oil or electricity. It is by means of air driven through pumice-stone, the latter having been impregnated with benzine. The benzine gas thus obtained is then carried through a fine magnesium powder, and proceeds upward through a pipe to be consumed in a small flame of a claimed 400,000 candle power. The apparatus consists of a blast engine for driving the air through the pumice, and a number of other accessories, all of which take up but a small space.—English Mechanic.
