

Offer Extraordinary!

For a Limited Time Only!

DECEMBER 1-31.

Renewals and New Subscribers.

TWO THINGS WANTED:

- (1) Renewals for 1894 from all present subscribers.
- (2) New subscribers from every part of the field.

THE PLAN:

Since, in any plan of the work for the INTELLIGENCER, our reliance is chiefly, almost entirely, on the co-operation of present subscribers, we have determined upon what is, we think, most advantageous to them, and one which may be very easily worked by every one who desires.

- 1.—One renewal for 1894, and one new subscriber (one year) for...$2.50
- 2.—One renewal for 1894, two new subscribers (each one year) for...$3.00

By using this offer, present subscribers may derive advantage from their efforts to enlarge the INTELLIGENCER'S circulation.

There is no church in the denomination in which there is not room for considerable increase in the number of subscribers. Will the ministers and other friends of the paper and the cause it represents give it the benefit of their earnest endeavours just now?

This offer is, necessarily, for a limited period. What is done needs to be done during this month.

BEGIN AT ONCE! PUSH THE CANVASS VIGOROUSLY TILL THE END OF THE YEAR.

BREKED.—Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Clarke will have the sincere sympathy of all readers of this paper in their great sorrow. Their eldest daughter, the light of their home, was suddenly called from earth to Heaven on Saturday afternoon. She was a bright noble girl. In her studies almost too far advanced for her age, she led her classes in everything. May the soothing hand of the all pitying Father smooth out the hard places and cause the never forgotten grief to be easier to bear.

A man went into a drug store and asked for something to cure a headache. The druggist held a bottle of catarrh to his nose, and he was nearly overpowered by its pungency. As he recovered, he began to rail at the druggist. But didn't it help your headache? asked the apothecary.
"Help my headache!" grasped the man. I haven't any headache. It's my wife that has the headache."

be secondary to this main purpose. As a means of accomplishing this end, the discussion of living theological questions, the exposure and condemnation of popular sins and lax theories of conduct, the records of all departments of Christian work, sketches and illustrations for the guidance of young and old in the conduct of life, are all in order in their place.

It is utterly unreasonable to demand of the religious weekly that it should compete with the daily newspaper in chronicling what is going on in all parts of the world. This is impracticable. The religious weekly is not a newspaper in the strict sense, and it would fail in its main purpose if it tried to be. Each person, who takes a special interest in some one department of work or thought, is apt to judge of a paper, solely in reference to his particular hobby. Temperance, Missions, the Labor question, Woman's rights, Biblical criticism, city missions, Roman Catholic claims, and current political questions are all important. But people may make a too much of a good thing and the man who makes hobby of any of these, judges his religious paper by its conformity to his views on that subject. But the ideal religious paper has no fads, but gives due prominence to all subjects of general interest according to their importance.—Chris. Guardian.

Literary Notes.

THE MISSIONARY REVIEW OF THE WORLD for December opens with an article by Dr. A. J. Gordon, on the relation of Education to Missions—a subject which is receiving much attention just now. Dr. Gordon's position is, conversion primary, education secondary. The work among the women of Egypt is described by one who is engaged in it. Two articles on missions in Syria and Palestine give a full and interesting account of the work in the land of our Lord. In the International Department has a condensed account of missions at the World's Fair. The Editorial and other departments are full with matter of present and permanent value.

The Review is pre-eminent among missionary magazines, being edited with the greatest care and efficiency. Published monthly by Funk & Wagnalls Company, 18 and 20 Astor Place, New York, at $2.00 a year.

Worthington's Magazine for December comes to hand filled with usual good things. If one dips into this charming Magazine on any one page he will not willingly lay it aside. It is a pleasure to read it. Its publishers aim to give that which is best in literature, and that they have succeeded in evidenced by the very large circulation it has obtained during the first year of its existence. It is instructive, eminently readable, and every number is rich with beautiful illustrations. It has made giant strides the past year and is now an established favorite in thousands of homes. It always offers something suited to the special needs and tastes of each member of the household. Indeed, its whole idea is centered in The Home. It appeals to all from oldest to youngest as no other Magazine does. As the season draws near when the large army of Magazine readers will decide the question "What Magazine shall we take another year?" it is well for them to keep an eye on "Worthington's" and add it to the list. For this month the publishers offer to send a specimen copy of a recent number for four cents in postage stamps. $2.50 per year; 25 cents a single number. For sale by all newsdealers. WORHINGTON & Co., Hartford, Conn.

The December number brings to a close Volume XXVI. of the HOMILETIC REVIEW. "What the Ministry May Learn from the Character and Works of John G. Whittier," is the title of a scholarly and suggestive paper. Dr. Pierson writes on "The Responsibility of the Pastor for the Development of a Missionary Interest Among his People." Moral responsibility for the cultivation of the memory is treated in "The Ethics of Memory." The Sermonic Section contains among others interesting Christmas Sermons. The remaining sections are characterized by helpfulness and ability.

Published monthly by Funk & Wagnalls Company, 18 and 20 Astor Place, New York, at $3.00 a year.

The Delineator for January commences a new volume, and is called the "Winter Holiday Number." It is an unusually attractive issue, the fashions being appropriate to the season, and the reading matter varied and interesting. The distinct holiday flavor is contributed by a helpful article, entitled What the Shops Show, and another reviewing the books issued for the holiday season. Household Renovation deals with the cleaning of various articles, and gives valuable information about cleansing fluids.

Child Life treats of Training a Boy for Business, and Physical Culture continues the instruction on the Physical Expression of the Emotions. Small Economies is one that will be of service to every housekeeper; and much may be gained from the paper on Things that should be Left Unsaid. An illustrated article on House and Street Gowns is of interest to ladies, and another appropriate to the time is Fur Sets and Trimmings. The Tea-Table Talk for the month is full of information, and an attractive assortment of designs is given in Tatting, Knitting, Crocheting, Lace Making, etc., etc. The subscription to The Delineator is One Dollar a year; Single Copies, 15 cents. A FARMER'S HARD LUCK

Meets With an Accident Followed by Painful Results.

MR. N. B. HUGHSON TELLS A STORY OF YEARS OF SUFFERING AND HOW HE FOUND RELIEF—THE CIRCUMSTANCES FAMILIAR TO ALL HIS NEIGHBORS.

From the Chatham Banner.

A Chatham Banner reporter while on news-gathering rounds a few days ago dropped into the well-known drug store of Messrs. Pilkey & Co., and overheard scraps of conversation between customers, in which the words "Pink Pills" and the name "Hughson" were frequently repeated. With a reporter's instinct for a good news article, he asked for some particulars, and was told that if he called upon Mr. Hughson he would probably get a story well worth giving publicity. Mr. Hughson does a snug feed and sale stable business on Harvey street and thither the reporter repaired, and was somewhat surprised to find the very antipodes of an invalid. Mr. Hughson is a man of medium height, about fifty years of age, born with a good constitution, and who, until some three years ago only knew the meaning of the word sickness from the dictionary. Mr. Hughson is a stationary engineer by trade, and a good one, but some six years ago getting tired of that calling quitted it and rented a farm in Harwick. While returning from town one day on top of a load one of his horses stumbled, and Mr. Hughson was pitched head foremost to the hard, frozen roadway. When he got home and the blood wiped away his external injuries seemed trifling, but the grave trouble was inside, and took the form of a violent and almost constant headache. A week later he went into the bush to cut wood and felt at every stroke as if his head would burst. He worked for half an hour and then went home, and for eight weeks his right side was wholly paralyzed and his speech gone. After a time this wore off and he was able to go about the house, though he could not walk. All this time he was attended by a physician, whose treatment, however seemed of but little avail. In the following June he had a second stroke and was not out of bed for seven weeks and was left very weak. The belief that he was doomed to be a burden on those near and dear to him, that he was unable to take his place as a bread-winner, added mental to his physical anguish. But relief was coming and in a form he had not expected. He saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised and asked his physician about them. The latter said he had not much faith in these remedies, but they would do no harm, and Mr. Hughson got a supply which he began taking according to directions. At the outset his wife was also opposed to them, but before he had taken them long she noticed an improvement in his condition, and then was quite as strong in urging him to continue their use, and even took them with good results herself for heart weakness following a gripe. Continuing the use of the pills, Mr. Hughson found his terrible headaches leaving him and his strength returning, and soon found he could do light work on the farm near his house. He still continued using the Pink Pill until he had taken fourteen boxes, and found himself fully restored to old-time strength. Mr. Hughson's old neighbors in Harwick never expected to see him on his feet again, and are astounded at his recovery, so much so that the fame of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has spread far and near throughout the township, and are the standard remedy in many households. Mr. Hughson can be seen by any of our citizens and will only too gladly verify the foregoing statements.

The reporter then called upon Messrs. Pilkey & Co., at the Central Drug Store. They do not, they informed him, make a practice of booming any proprietary medicine, so that the lead taken by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is not due to persistent puffing but to irresistible merit, and on all sides their customers speak of them in terms of warmest praise.

Hindoostanee Titles.

A few words of elementary instruction in Sanscrit and Hindoostanee about the meaning of the titles borne by oriental potentates. The simplest of these royal titles is that of raja, which is literally "king," but is applied even to a petty princeling. A maharaja is a "great king"—usually a ruler who retains some degree of actual sovereignty, and is not compelled to look to the British official resident at his court for authority to act. The feminine of raja is rani, better known in the Anglo-Indian form of ranees, and this is the proper designation of a reigning Hindoo princess or queen. A begam, whose characteristics every reader of Thackeray knows, is any princess or other lady of rank and wealth—the word being the Anglo-Indian term for the Hindoostanee begam, a "princess." Nawab is our familiar "nabob" which has its origin in the same Hindoostanee word. Officially, a nawab is a deputy governor or viceroy. In pronouncing the word a's should be given the value of a "fall," and the accent placed on the final syllable. In raja the a's are given the sound of a in father and j its natural sound.

GRATEFUL, PLEASANT RELIEF AFTER MANY DAYS.

How a Queens County Man Found Permanent Healing.

His Own Experience Tells Fully and Truly some Truths which all Readers of this Paper Should Know.

Here and there, in almost every town of our province, are "chronic" cases over which doctors disagree; cases that become worse year after year. It is to reach such that the gentleman to whom these lines refer, and whose portrait is here given, has written the story of his case.

Mr. Branscomb's home is Chipman, Queens Co., N. B. It was there that a representative of the Groder company called upon him, Sept. 1st, of the present year. His greeting was most cordial. He gladly acknowledged his thanks, giving expression to the following statement:

"It is five years since I first became afflicted with a form of indigestion. Last winter it became more severe, developing into chronic diarrhoea. I cannot tell you how much I suffered for SIX LONG WEEKS. It seemed as though relief could not be found. You will remember how I told you of my condition and asked your advice about taking a bottle of GRODER'S SYRUP. You told me that the medicine was a laxative and might not meet my needs. I delayed buying for a few hours until I began to hope that it would help me. Even my clothes seemed a burden because of bloating of stomach. It was with difficulty that I kept about sufficiently to attend to my business."

But I am a well man now from the use of your remedy. In three days after I bought GRODER'S SYRUP the terrible pain and distress across my stomach were removed. My bowels rapidly assumed a natural, healthy condition. Now I eat and drink as well as I ever could. I have gained constantly in flesh since March last. I am perfectly cured."

It seems a duty for me to state my case fully, that others who suffer as I did may know where to find a cure."

Truly yours,
E. A. BRANSCOMB.
