INTERNATIONAL LESSON.
First Quarter-Lesson I.—October 1.
THE POWER OF THE GOS-PEL.—Rom. 1: 8-17.

GOLDEN TEXT.—I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.—Rom. 1: 16.

Paul, after a graceful introduction, and benediction gives his reasons for writing to a church he had never visited.

PAUL'S INTEREST IN THE CHURCH AT ROME.—Vers. 8-10. I think Paul's first impulse was one of gratitude. My God. "My" expresses the personal relation of Paul to God. He was God's child and servant. Through Jesus Christ. But for whose birth and death there had been no blessing from God to man. For you all.—For every convert from sin, whether great or small. That your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world. The report spread in every direction from the imperial capital. For God is my witness. There could be no other witness to his practice in his secret prayers. Whom I serve with my spirit. Not merely in form. His inmost soul was in the service. Without ceasing I make mention of you. Whenever I pray, I think of you. Making request, if by any means, etc. The answer to this prayer, by the will of God, is one of the most interesting examples of the way God sometimes answers prayers to be found in the history of God's people.

PAUL'S MISSIONARY IMPULSE.—Vers. 11-15. For I long to see you, not from idle curiosity, but that I may impart unto you some spiritual gift. He would be the medium through whom the Holy Spirit would bestow his precious gifts. As a rule God gives his best gifts to us through other souls. To the end ye may be established. In truth and in character, without which no one can be established in anything. That I may be comforted together &c. All spiritual strength-giving is mutual; he that gives receives, and he that receives gives in receiving. Oftentimes I purposed to come unto you. As in Acts 19:21. But was let. Hindered. That I might have some fruit. He desires the fruits of the Spirit fully developed in them. So long as there are those without the Gospel, he is anxious to make known to them its blessings. True religion is always missionary in its spirit. I am debtor. Under obligation. Having received the Gospel as a trust for others, I must give them the blessed message. If we have received any good from our Father,—rank, money, talent, truth,—we are under obligation to use it for the good of others. Both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians. The civilization of the world was Greek. The Barbarians were the uncivilized nations. To the wise. The educated, &c. And to the unwise. The ignorant and degraded. All of them need the Gospel. As much as in me is. My desire is to preach in Rome. Preach... at Rome also. This was the climax of faith and courage. He had no fear for the Gospel. Rome was "the common sink of all the worst vices of humanity, and therefore the noblest sphere for evangelical zeal. Here was a test of the Gospel power. To preach in Rome and arouse all its evil elements was a supreme test of courage.

THE GOSPEL THE POWER OF GOD.—Ver. 16. For I am not ashamed. To preach that a crucified Jew, had been raised from the dead, and was the King and Saviour of all the world, might easily be regarded as something to be ashamed of in the capital of the world. For it is the power of God unto salvation. It is God's instrument for the salvation of men. What the apostle assumed as certain has now been confirmed by the experience of many centuries. To every one that believeth. Believing is the means by which the salvation is received. The light of the sun is abundant for every one who will open his eyes. Water is unlimited for every one who will drink. Salvation is offered to all the world, to every one who accepts it, receiving it in his heart by faith. To the Jew first. In time. Christ was a Jew and preached first to them, but it was meant also to the Greek, and representatives of all Gentiles.

THE MEANS; FAITH.—Ver. 17. For therein, in the Gospel, is the righteousness of God, (better, God's righteousness) revealed. The righteousness of God, as Paul uses that term, is the true character of God, as manifested to the world in the person of his Son. From faith to faith. Righteousness proceeds from faith, and is revealed to faith. Each upward step in faith gives a broader and clearer view of God's righteousness. As it is written in Hab. 2: 4. This is three times quoted in the New Testament, here and in Gal. 3: 11, and Heb. 10: 38. The just shall live by faith. Through Jesus Christ, those who believe his word and obey it (are righteous) shall live, shall have eternal life. And more than this, a truly righteous life is always a life of faith. All righteousness is imperfect without faith, a loving, obedient trust in God. What is a child's obedience to his parent's command, if there is no loving, trusting spirit? No one is able to become righteous without faith. All efforts to be good alone, without help from God must be failures.

PRACTICAL HINTS.

Romans is a hard, deep, doctrinal book, but out of its hard rock came some of the rarest gems of practical truth that ever enriched the life of man.

Here we have man's need and God's way of salvation set before us.

Every Christian grace and virtue, every holy life, and every noble deed, enriches the whole Church, yea, the whole race.

God answers every earnest prayer, but often in strange and unexpected ways.

Whosoever has any of God's gifts, or has experienced his salvation, is thereby laid under obligation to make them of use to others.

W. C. T. Union.

OUR MOTTO.—If God be for us who can be against us.

Around the world in a chariot of song. We would remind our readers that a series of interesting and instructive entertainment under the auspices of Eton. W. C. T. U. will be given shortly in the City Hall by the renowned Phillips Phillips, the singing Pilgrim.

The songs are illustrated while being sung, by beautiful line light views of cities, edifices, scenery, portraits, art, etc. Every body should see and hear this delightful entertainment. Come and bring your friends.

We copy the following from the W. C. T. U. Col. in the St. John Sun.

Young Women's Christian Association, etc.—

If the ladies of our unions do not know of the good work that is being done by the Young Women's Christian Association and the Young Travellers Aid Society, the following extracts from private letters will be most interesting and instructive. There is in this field an opportunity for the sisters to lend a hand. Doubtless, many will be glad to help young travellers as occasion may afford; and will avail themselves of Mrs. Grover's invitation to write to her for assistance or advice, in protecting and befriending young girls who are obliged to travel alone to a strange city. Mrs. F. Grover is matron of the Young Travellers Aid Society, 65 Stamford street, Boston. At Newburyport, forty miles out from Boston, she always gets on the trains from the provinces and searches out all the friendless girls and those who need aid, and assists all who require it.

Miss Mary E. Blodatt, 68 Warrington street, Boston, writes: I would like you to have a knowledge of my work for the Young Woman's Christian Association. I meet the coast and foreign steamers for the purpose of caring for young girls, or any women who come to this port strangers or, if need be, to assist travellers seeking employment. I provide respectable and cheap board for them while they are waiting for work, which the employment office of the association secures for them if possible. This for those who have no friends. The greater number have friends or acquaintances, but who for one reason or another fail in being at the wharf on the arrival of the boat, and so the bewildered strangers are in just as great danger as if their friends did not exist. In such cases I see that they are safely cared for. Sometimes the girls have no money. Many of them do not know of the traps and pitfalls spread for the young and innocent. I meet weekly the St. John boats, the two Annapolis, N. S., steamers, the two Yarmouth steamers and the boat which leaves Charlottetown, P. E. I., calls at Port Hawkesbury, Cape Breton, and then leaves Halifax for Boston direct. This last line brings hundreds of girls. I also meet the Cunard steamers and am to meet the Allen and Warren lines.

This is, of course, a work of prevention and I know that a girl whom I make safe stands nine chances out of ten of falling into the power of those who frequent the wharves and depots for the purpose of leading girls astray. Since last July I have done something toward assisting over 600 girls. We are trying to distribute placards, as much as possible, through the localities from which the girls come so that they and their families may know of this provision for their safety before they leave home. Railway stations, post offices, steamers offices, country stores or any desirable public place, is where we want them."

Miss Boddatt will be glad to send cards and circulars to any who will distribute them where they may do good. The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. L. A. S. are working together. The W. C. T. Union of St. John is engaging in the work. No doubt other unions are doing or will do the same.

Prof. Henry Drummond is a great favorite with the boys. He is original and interesting. In the course of a talk with a company of the Boys' Brigade, he referred to the wild "animal" in our nature, and said, "Well, when you are tempted to be fierce like a tiger, or to do a sneaking thing like a serpent, you at once know where that comes from. You can kill an animal by starving, and you can starve any temptation in the same way, so that it will have no power. Every boy confessed he had been tempted to tell lies, but if the machinery that works the lie has got so rusty by disuse all these years, the chances are you will never tell a lie again. There is a boy who loses his temper sometimes; if the boy stops feeding it, in ten years he will wonder if he ever had a temper at all."

A young inebriate excused himself to a young white ribboner by saying, "My heredity is against me" whereupon she made him this well instructed answer: "If you had lived up to your best heredity instead of down to your worst, you might have been a man of whom all your friends would have been proud."

A Lesson for the Girls.

The subjoined note from the "Girl's Own Paper" ought to serve as a lesson to foolish girls; Cuvier the eminent naturalist, had the greatest aversion towards the corset as an article of dress. He once endeavored, by practical illustration, to force his views upon a young lady who was the victim of tight lacing. Walking with him in the Jardin des Plantes, she expressed her admiration for a lovely flower. "You were once like this blossom," said Cuvier, glancing at her thin pale face. "To-morrow it will be as you are now." The next day he led her to the same spot, where she found the flower drooping and dying. She asked the cause. "The plant, said the anatomist, "is an image of yourself. I will show you what is the matter." He pointed to a chord bound tightly about the stem, and continued, "You are fading away exactly in the same manner, under the compression of your corset, and you are losing by degrees all your youthful charms, just because you have not the courage to resist this dangerous fashion."

The only joy we have on earth is to love God and to know that God loves us. Oh, when I think that there are some who will die without having tasted even for an hour the happiness of loving God! —Vianney.

The lowly valleys in which we meet our friends and business associates ought to be just as verdant and well watered as those Sabbath elevations on which we "see no man but Jesus only."—Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler.

There can be no real fear, or reverence, or seriousness of heart, until a man has come to understand, at least in some measure, what he is,—that is, to realize his own awful structure and destiny.—Cardinal Manning.

UNBEARABLE AGONY.

For three days I suffered severely from summer complaint, nothing gave me relief and I kept getting worse until the pain was almost unbearable, but after I had taken the first dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry I found great relief and did not fail to cure me.
WM. T. GLENN, Wilfrid, Ont.

A CURE FOR HEADACHE.

Headache arises from constipation, bad blood, dyspepsia or liver complaint. As B. B. B. cures all these complaints it is naturally the most successful headache cure existing. (The cause is removed the headache vanishes.)

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet, cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness, and give strength and rest.

Colic and Kidney Difficulty.—Mr. W. Wilder, J. P., Lafargeville, N. Y., writes: "I am subject to severe attacks of Colic and Kidney Difficulty, and find Parmelee's Pills afford me great relief, while all other remedies have failed. They are the best medicine I have ever used." In fact so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every nature are driven from the body.
