The cabinet meeting held Saturday, that was to have decided the question of dissolution, broke up without any decision being reached. The business decided was that on the 26th instant another meeting of the council will be held, at which all ministers are requested to be present, when a decision will be reached whether it is to be a session or not. As it has been decided to hear the counsel for the minority in support of the petition for remedial legislation in connexion with the Manitoba school case as authorized by the judgment of the imperial privy council on that day, it is possible that this phase of the question may have some effect on the political situation as regards a session.

PROBABLY THE CZAR OF RUSSIA, when he told a deputation of his subjects that they were greatly mistaken if they expected constitutional privileges, that he was Czar, and meant to remain so, only meant to signify that he was not arranging for a precipitate revolution. If that was his meaning and purpose, or whatever he meant, it now seems quite possible that his foolish words may result in the very catastrophe he meant to avoid, namely, a precipitate revolution instead of a gradual and well-advised one. He probably never expected that foolish remark to resound through his realm as it has done. When Solomon's son ascended his father's throne, his father's advisers bade him speak prettily to the people. "If thou wilt be servant unto this people this day and wilt serve them, then they will be thy servants forever." Rehoboam preferred the counsel of his young friends, and immediately lost the greater part of his kingdom. Nicholas II. has a better excuse for his mistake than Rehoboam had, in that it was no doubt made at the instance of his father's councillors, who are not as wise as those of Solomon. Mistake it was all the same. The young Emperor had reached the dividing of the ways, though probably, like most of us when we take some false step that knows no retreat, he had no conception of the seriousness and irretrievableness of a false step. The despairing nation, in which hope had been born, does not intend to go back into despair. It is speaking to its young master with an unprecedented plainness. He can yield now only with a very bad grace and with the appearance of accepting the dictation of the revolutionists, but he must yield or restore the horrors of the past.—Witness

A WOMAN'S RESCUE.

An Interesting Story From Paris Station.

SUFFERED FOR SIX YEARS FROM NERVOUS HEADACHES, DIZZINESS AND GENERAL DEBILITY—PHYSICIANS AND MANY REMEDIES FAILED TO HELP HER—HOW RELIEF AND CURE WAS AT LAST FOUND.

From the Paris (Ont.) Review.

So many remarkable stories are published of people who have been almost brought back to life, that the public might almost be excused if they were a trifle skeptical. So far, however, as those relating to cures brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are concerned there appears to be no reason to doubt their entire truthfulness. The cases reported are carefully investigated and vouched for by newspapers that would discredit themselves were they to distort facts that can be easily investigated by any of their readers. Besides, there are but few localities in the Dominion where this grand healer of the sick has not made itself felt, and the people having proof of its virtues near at home, are quite prepared to accept the statements made as to the results following the use of Pink Pills in other localities.

The Review has heard of much good accomplished by the timely use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in this locality but has recently learned of a case at Paris Station which is of sufficient importance to give the full details for the benefit it may prove to others. The case alluded to is that of Mrs. E. H. Skinner, who is esteemed by a wide circle of acquaintances. To a representative of the Review Mrs. Skinner said she had been for a long time a great sufferer. Her blood had become thin and watery, bringing about a weakness amounting almost to a collapse. There were numerous distressing symptoms, such as dizziness, severe headaches, palpitation of the heart, etc. "I have been ill," said Mrs. Skinner to the Review, "for about six years, and you

Trust What Time Has Endorsed

There is not a medicine in use today which possesses the confidence of the public to so great an extent as JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT. For more than eighty years it has stood upon its own intrinsic merit, while generation after generation have used it and transmitted its knowledge of its excellence to their children as a valuable inheritance. The best evidence of its value is the fact that in the state where it originated the sale of it is steadily increasing.

I. S. JOHNSON, Esq. My Dear Sir:—Fifty years ago this month your father, Dr. Johnson, called at my store and left me some Johnson's Anodyne Liniment on sale. I have sold it ever since. I can most truly say that it has maintained its high standard and popularity from that time to this.

I have used your Johnson's Anodyne Liniment for more than fifty years in my family. I have used it for colds, coughs, sore throat, aches, cramps, sore stomach, rheumatism, lameness, colic, toothache, neuralgia, etc., and found it always good every way. I would not let my house be without it. I am a man 71 years old. Johnson's Liniment is my family remedy.

can form an idea of what I suffered during that time. I had the advice and treatment of some excellent physicians, but without any benefit. I may say that during the six years I was ill I was treated by four different doctors in Brantford and one in Paris, but they seemed not to be able to do anything for me. When the physicians failed I tried many different widely-advertised remedies, but with no better results. All this, you will readily understand, cost a great deal of money, and as I derived no benefit, it is not to be wondered at that I was completely discouraged. I found myself continually growing weaker, and hardly able to go about, and had almost given up all hope of becoming better. And yet one never wholly desponds, forseeing Dr. Williams' Pink Pills so strongly recommended in the press I determined to try them, and you can see by my condition to-day how much reason I have to be thankful that I did so. I had not been taking Pink Pills long when for the first time in six years, I found myself improving. Gradually the troubles that had made my life miserable disappeared, new blood appeared to be coursing through my veins, and I am a healthy woman, and have no hesitation in saying that I believe I owe not only my recovery but my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." Mrs. Skinner said her husband was also much run down with hard work, but after using Pink Pills feel like a new man. The statements made by Mrs. Skinner prove the unequalled merit of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as there are thousands of women throughout the country similarly troubled, her story of renewed health will point to them, the remedy which will prove equally efficacious in their cases. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially valuable to women. They build up the blood, restore the nerves, and eradicate those troubles which make the lives of so many women old, and young, a burden. Dizziness, palpitation of the heart, nervous headache and nervous prostration speedily yield to this wonderful medicine. They are also a specific in cases of locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, the after effects of a gripe, etc. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of any nature. They are sold only in boxes, the red ink, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.
