The Century is to have a serial story by Irving Bacheller, the author of 'Eben Holden.' It is a border tale of 1812. The scene of the story is in the neighborhood of Lake Champlain, and the title is 'D'ri and I.' It will begin in the March Century and run for six months.

LITERARY NOTES.

A dozen of the wealthiest capitalists in the United States—men who wield absolute control over immense business enterprises—will tell the readers of The Saturday Evening Post (February 16) why they remain in the race which they have already won. Each of them writes frankly whether he makes money for its own sake, for the sheer joy of working, or to gain the power with which vast capital invests itself.

In the editorial comment on current affairs in the February Review of Reviews, the death of Queen Victoria and the accession of King Edward, as the overshadowing events of the past month, demand first place. Excellent portraits of the lamented Queen, the new King, Queen Alexandra, and other members of the British royal family accompany the text. The editor analyzes the remarkable influence of Victoria as a sovereign, reviews her long and splendid reign and points out the elements of strength and stability in the monarchy as it will be administered by Edward VII.

Isn't half as hard neither is it as painful as before the introduction of Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor. In twenty four hours the corn is removed. Pretty and small feet are well assured on everybody, but it can't be done unless you use Putnam's—others are not nearly so good. Putnam's is the best. At druggists.

Some thrilling stories are told in the February number of the Missionary Review of the World relating to the experiences of missionaries who recently suffered martyrdom in China. An article of unusual interest is a 'Miracle of Missions" by the Editor, who tells of 'Khama, the Christian Chief of Africa.' Among other subjects treated are 'The influence of Missions on the Church,' 'The Arabs of Arabia,' and the 'Training of Missionaries.' No one can fail to find much to interest him in the varied and valuable contents of this magazine Published monthly by Funk & Wagnalls Co., 30 Lafayette Place, New York. $2.50 a year.

The February Canadian Magazine is an attractive issue, with five short stories and six illustrated articles. "The Passing of the Contingents," is a summary of the part played by our soldiers. The illustrations show the celebrations in Halifax, Montreal, and Toronto. Martin J. Griffin, Parliamentary Librarian, writes of Darwin, Spencer, Huxley and the other great men of the century, under the title Dying Speeches and Confessions of the Nineteenth Century. There is a readable sketch of Winston Churchill. The celebrity of the month is Dr. A. H. Mackay, Superintendent of education in Nova Scotia. The stories and departments are up to the standard.

The February Homiletic Review has many good features. There is unusual fulness in the Editorial Notes. Among the topics are,—"Twentieth Century Gospel Campaign," "To protect the Weak Races;" "A Carnival of Crime;" "The New-Style Christian;" "The Only Safety for the Rich;" "A Miscredited Quotation;" "Evangelism—the New and the True." The range of illustrative matter is wide, and there is an air of freshness and energy, as if caught from the new century. Published monthly by Funk & Wagnalls Co., 60 Lafayette Place, New York. $3 00 a year.

In St. Nicholas for February the second of the papers on "Careers of Danger and Daring" is "The Steeple-Climber." It makes one shudder merely to read of that appeal to the love of danger and daring in the report of an adventure with a huge bear, "The Monarch of St. Elias." Boys will enjoy the papers on "Dog Teams and Sledges in Michigan." There are brief tales, verses, and pictures.

The Midwinter Number of the Century (February) contains the prize story in the Century's third annual college competition. It is a romatic tale of Macedonia called "An Old-World Wooing." "A Council of six" is the story of a cowardly American soldier and the fate that befel him among the western hills; and "The Steer with the Marked Hoof," records a tragic incident of ranch life. "The Lannigan System with Girls," is a tale in which humor and pathos are blended. "R' with which doctors begin their prescriptions is the title of a short story. So many anecdotes are related in "Humor and Pathos of the Savings-Bank" that one is tempted to include the article among the months fiction; and there are good stories also in "The Helping Hand in East London. "The People at the Top of the World" is the first instalment of an account, by himself, of Jonas Sadling's search for Andree and his balloon. As usual, the magazine is profusely illustrated.

After Typhoid

fever, or other almost mortal sickness, a man or woman sometimes will gain a pound a day from taking an ounce a day of SCOTT'S EMULSION and the gain be healthy.

The ounce gives strength to get the pound; there is no miracle in it.

Body and mind are weak; digestion is weak; and hunger is ravenous.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod Liver Oil is the food to begin and go on with. It furnishes strength to digest a little easy other food; and a little grows to enough. But the gain is nearly all fat.

The bones had not lost much; the muscles had lost, and had not got back their strength; they have lost there bulk; the fat was all gone.

The fat has come back; the muscle slowly recovers its bulk, more slowly its strength—the bulk of muscle was fat—and the bones are about the same as before.

It is SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod Liver Oil that starts the body going again—give it time.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

A Terrible Cough

If people would only treat coughs as colds in time with Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, there would be fewer homes desolate.

The severest coughs and colds, bronchitis and croup, and the first stages of consumption yield readily to this powerful, lung healing remedy.

Read what Mrs Thos. Carter, Northport Ont., says: "I caught a severe cold, which settled on my throat and lungs, so that I could scarcely speak above a whisper. I also had a terrible cough which my friends thought would send me to my grave. I tried different remedies but all failed to do me any good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and the contents of one bottle completely cured me."
