A PARABLE FOR FATHERS.

Mother.—Our boy is out late nights, and I am afraid he spends his time in the saloons.

Father.—Well, we must tax the saloons fifty dollars.

Mother.—Husband, I believe John is contracting the habit of drinking.

Father.—Well, if that is the case, we must put up that tax to one hundred dollars.

Mother.—Oh! my God! my boy has just come home drunk.

Father.—Well, well! we must make the tax on saloons not less than three hundred dollars.

Mother.—Oh, husband! just think of it, our other dear boy, William, is in jail for being drunk.

Father.—I'll fix those saloons. They shall be taxed four hundred dollars.

Mother.—Our once noble boy is a wreck.

Father.—Now I will stop 'em; make the tax six hundred dollars.

Mother.—Alas! we must carry our poor boy to a drunkard's grave today.

Father.—Well, I declare! we must regulate this traffic; we ought to have made that tax not less than a thousand dollars.

If we work upon marble, it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, if we imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten to all eternity.—Daniel Webster
