The people have received us with open hearts, which includes many good things. I have five different preaching places, so you can see I have plenty of chance to sow the good seed, and I enjoy great liberty in doing so, and believe the word is taking root in the hearts of the people. Our needs are being well supplied.

IN INTEREST OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

At a meeting of Sunday School workers of the Reformed Baptist Denomination held in the Reformed Baptist Church at Woodstock, N. B., on Friday p. m., Nov. 2nd, 1917, the advisability of pushing forward the work of the Sunday School more actively was discussed.

OBITUARY.

Miss Jennie Mullen.

Oct. 23rd at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Mullen, Hillsdale, Digby Co., N. S., Miss Jennie Mullen after a long illness of consumption. She was converted under the labours of Rev. H. S. Mullen and baptized by Rev. T. W. Moses. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. P. W. Briggs, and her remains were interred in the Baptist cemetery at New Tusket, N. S.

Marshall Britton.

We are sorry to record the death of little Marshall, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Britton, of Woodstock, N. B., which took place Oct. 4th, aged 2 years and 9 months. He was a very bright and lovable little fellow, and was the pet of his father and loved by all in the home. A team was backing up to the door of his home, and the driver thought he was out of the way when it happened that the little fellow was sitting on the steps and hid by the back of the wagon. Evidently as the little boy saw the wagon coming towards him, he rose to his feet and was struck by the back part across his chest. The doctor was sent for immediately but concluded that he was not hurt inwardly, but he evidently was as he only lived about one day after. Great was the sorrow of the family, as he was the pet of them all and especially of his father, as he always met his father with his dog which accompanied him, at or near the station, as the father came home from his usual trip on the railway.

The funeral took place on Saturday, October 6th. A number of friends of the family were present and much sympathy was expressed for Brother and Sister Britton in their sad and sudden loss of so healthy and noble a little son.

The writer attended the funeral.

W. B. WIGGINS.
