

OBITUARY.

LIEUT. C. STANLEY EGGETT.

Lieut. C. Stanley Eggett, at one time president of the Lend-a-Hand Bible Class at Fredericton, died of wounds in France, May 10th.

LYDIA STACKHOUSE.

There passed away at her home, 10 Kitchener St., St. John, N. B., on April 27th, 1917, Lydia, beloved wife of George B. Stackhouse, aged 64 years, leaving a sorrowing husband, three sons and one daughter; also three sisters and one brother, to mourn their loss.

Sister Stackhouse was a consistent and faithful member of the Reformed Baptist Church. Her illness was of a lingering nature, with much suffering, but the Lord was with her and kept her amid it all, and we believe she has reached "the pearly white city" she loved to sing and talk about so much.

The funeral was conducted by the writer and interment was made at Fernhill.

G. B. Trafton.

JOHN BARNES.

Well Known Citizen of Goorich, Fort Fairfield, Drops Dead May 8.

John Barnes died about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, May 8, probably of heart trouble. He had worked during the day as usual. His health had not been particularly good for the past year or two.

The funeral was held at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ransford Bubar, Friday morning, Rev. C. S. Hilyard, pastor of the Reformed Baptist church, officiating. Music was furnished by the regular Reformed Baptist choir. The pall-bearers were Thomas Flannery, John Manter, Elmer Amsden and Joseph W. Barnes. Interment was made in Riverside Cemetery.

The deceased was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Barnes. Besides a widow, who was Miss Augusta Giggey, he leaves seven children, also five brothers, Joshua N., Joseph N., Leslie, Benjamin and Elbridge, and three sisters, Mrs. Ransford Bubar, Mrs. Martha Mott and Mrs. Otis Ames, Jr., all of Fort Fairfield.

Many friends regret the early death of Mr. Barnes.—Fort Fairfield Review.

MRS. JOHN N. FLAGG.

The death of Mrs. John N. Flagg occurred May 5 at the Vincent Memorial Hospital, Boston. Mrs. Flagg was the wife of John N. Flagg, of North Head, Grand Manan, who survives, with three daughters, Mrs. James C. Gould, of Cardiff, South Wales, England; Mrs. Edward Atwood, Medford (Mass.), and Miss Florence, at home.

Mrs. Flagg was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Cronk and was born March 12, 1860. She was in poor health for more than a year, and it is thought the death of her son, Eugene Flagg, at the front in France, last July, for whom she constantly grieved, tended to weaken a constitution never strong, and left her with little strength to resist the disease for which she was treated at the Vincent Memorial.

The floral offerings contributed by friends and relatives were many and beautiful. The body was laid to rest in the family lot in the North Head cemetery. Mrs. Flagg was a faithful and consistent member of the R. B. church of North Head for many years, and she will be greatly missed, not only by her family, who lose a devoted wife and mother, but by the many friends and neighbors who knew and loved her. Her example of patience, Christian fortitude and quiet resignation was an inspiration to many in times of trouble, and her memory will be a blessing to her family in their great loss.

SISTER A. J. SIMONDS.

The death of Sister A. J. Simonds, formerly of Royalton, Carleton County, is reported to have taken place in Lowell, Mass., but we have no particulars.

J. EDWARD DOYLE.

At his residence in Calais, Maine, May 21st, J. Edward Doyle, in the 49th year of his age. Brother Doyle professed conversion and was baptised by Rev. T. W. Moses in 1897, and united with the Reformed Baptist Church of this place. About a year ago Brother Doyle and wife went to Boston to consult a specialist, remaining until March, after which he rallied and was able to attend some of our meetings, having been down in his experience, he definitely sought and found full restoration, which he enjoyed and testified to until the end.

He is survived by his wife, an only child, a son preceded him about five years ago. The funeral service was held at his late home on Garfield street, May 23rd, by the writer, assisted by Rev. R. A. McDonald (Cong.). Much sympathy is expressed for Sister Doyle in her sorrow and loneliness. The remains were interred in the cemetery in Calais.

S. H. Clark.

JAMES CARR.

James Carr passed away from this life at his home in Portland, Me., after a lingering illness, although not being confined to his bed but a few weeks previous to his death. He was 54 years of age. He is survived by his wife and daughter, Eska; also one brother, Charles, of Hartland, and five sisters, Mrs. C. M. Howard, of Boston, Mrs. Miles A. Barnes, of Fort Fairfield, Mrs. Handy Nevers and Mrs. Vernon McAllister, Lower Kintore, N. B. The remains were brought to Bristol, N. B., on Monday, May 21st, accompanied by Mrs. Carr and Eska, Mrs. C. M. Howard and daughter, where a funeral service was held in the U. B. Church.

A large congregation assembled to pay their last respects. A number of the members of the Praying Bands of Fort Fairfield and Caribou, Me., came by auto. The choir, assisted by Bros. Frank Kimball, William Cogswell, William Andrews, and Havelock Knox, sang some beautiful selections, chosen by the deceased. The writer had charge of the service, assisted by Rev. C. S. Hilyard of Fort Fairfield, Me., and Rev. Edgar Grant, of Easton, Me. The remains were laid to rest beside those of his children. The floral tributes were beautiful. Bro. James found his way back to God before his death and left this world trusting in the merits of the blood of Jesus. "I go to prepare a place for you." John 14-2.

P. J. Trafton.

Some of those who attended the funeral of Bro. Jas. Carr from Fort Fairfield, Me.: Frank Kimball William T. Andrews, William F. Cogswell, Leonard Kinney, Edward and Hugh Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Miles A. Barnes, Hattie Barnes, and Rev. C. S. Hilyard.

Caribou: Mr. and Mrs. Havelock Knox, Mr. Deeves, Fred Keirstead, William Ayles.

Easton: Rev. and Mrs. Edgar Grant, Jessie Fitzherbert.

Lower Kintore, N. B.: Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Nevers, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McAllister.

Stickney: Mr. and Mrs. Erlon Bell and family.

Peel: Mr. and Mrs. John Golding.

Hartland: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Carr, Gertrude and Willie Carr.

Munica: William Carr and daughter.

THE HIGHWAY.

Our correspondents will please take notice that there will be only two more issues of the Highway before the meeting of the Alliance, and we want all correspondence and other matter for the issue of June 30th to reach me by June 20th, as we wish to go to Beulah on the 25th. Please note this!

ALLIANCE MEETING.

The twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Alliance of the Reformed Baptists of Canada will convene at Beulah Camp Ground, June 27th, 1917, at 10.30 a. m.

Every minister of the Denomination and two delegates from each church as well as one delegate from each Missionary Society are requested to be present at the opening session. I hope each Committee will have their reports made out early. Consult your last Alliance minutes, see what committees you are on, and begin at once on your report.

The Lord has been wonderfully blessing us as a denomination this past year, as reports from different churches show. Old time revivals have been witnessed and many have been converted in the "old time way" and many also have gone on and received the Blessing of Entire Sanctification as a Second Blessing, and have proven amid all the skepticism and unbelief that there is power in the Blood to cleanse the heart from all sin. It is true times are hard and many will feel it is impossible to attend Alliance and Camp Meetings this year, but we notice there is no curtailing so far as pleasure is concerned—time and money for pleasure.

So let us as Holiness people show the reality of the experience we profess and pray and plan to make our Alliance and Camp Meeting this year the best we have ever seen. We can if we will.

I am, humbly yours,

E. W. LESTER,
President.

Marysville, May 24, 1917.