EDITORIAL.

THE NEW YEAR—THE OUTLOOK.

ACHIEVEMENT.

Eleanor C. Hull.

I may not—must not say, my work is done, Nor be content to pause with cooling ardor.
Rather a new resolve with every setting sun,

For if I have tried hard, I can try harder.

I may not—dare not say, this is my best.
My best cannot be gauged by word or letter.

Rather high hopes, brave plans to crown each hour of rest;

For if I have done well, I can do better.

—Sel.

"He that observeth the wind shall not sow; and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reap." "Be strong and of good courage, fear not, * * * for the Lord thy God, He it is that doth go with thee; He will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."

One great feature of success in warfare is to keep the source of supply open.
In Christian warfare the enemy cannot cut off the supply unless he can destroy our faith and courage and get us looking down.

We have many reasons for looking forward to an unusually successful year.

1st, God is with us in our work in our churches, not only is our people being kept true by the Holy Spirit and the faithful preaching the word; but a revival spirit is quite general in the churches, and wherever special revival services are held results immediately are manifestd without a whole month's hard labour. There is a constant fruit bearing condition in our prayer and preaching services. Our Sunday schools are increasing in attendance and interest. The home and foreign missionary work is a live and increasing part of church and Sunday school work.

The people are already talking and planning about Beulah and Riverside camp meetings.

The Highway is receiving the united support of our people and readers, and we are receiving encouraging words of appreciation from many of its oldest readers from near and far.

The reports from our quarterly meetings are full of good things, revealing evidences of the glow of brotherly love and fellowship, showing that the last service closed with reluctance, continuing with unabating interest and power until the midnight.

Recent meetings held at Hartland and Woodstock were repetitions of those so sacred in the memory of many people which took place in the early days of the holiness movement.

So, beloved, let us work on and be strong in our faith, and with "good courage and not fear. Our God is fully able to make 1918 the most fruitful year in our history.

Beulah and Riverside camp meetings have steadily increased in interest and power from the beginning without a single failure, either spiritually or financially.
This coming season we are to have evangelists in addition to our own workers, and the visitors. Let us plan and prepare and pray for still greater meetings. We thank God that we through faith and His blessing have removed the mountains of debt that have confronted us in the past and this year we will go to the camp meetings without the feelings of those burdens on our hearts. But we must not stop undertaking things for the advancement of the propagation of holiness in this land as well as the foreign field.

Remember our incorporation act is for "the Dominion of Canada," not Provincial, and we have scarcely touched the border of the land before us.

"Much land ahead to be possessed,

We're going on, we're going on.

And all is ours our feet may press,

place at the Reformed Baptist Church at

UNION EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN.

A union evangelistic campaign is in progress at Moncton, N.B., and a good interest is being awakened. A mass meeting for men was held on the 13th. About 600 men were present. Mr. J. Ritchie Bell, of Montreal, is in charge of the singing. The pastors are doing the preaching.

A MESSAGE FROM WHITLEY.

We hail with satisfaction the news that Canada has prohibited the importation of intoxicating liquors. While you have routed the enemy at home, we feel there is a stronghold yet to be stormed. In this connection perhaps we can do the scout work and trust you to carry the campaign to a successfully issue.

Looking at the conditions of camp life, do they tend to the production of temperate habits, where the young men of Canada are now quartered in England. The writer well remembers the first Sunday in camp.
A special evening service was arranged to be held in our mess room. On the way or when we arrived at our place of worship, we discovered a bar room or wet canteen open in the same building and at the same hour, separated only by a partition. These wet canteens are a part of our Canadian military system, are located in the mess room building where the men eat and are open at meal hours and evenings, Sundays included. A portion of the profits from the sale of liquors is applied to a fund for purchasing extras for the men. We are therefore a part of the system; a non-commissioned officer being detailed to look after our share in the profits. The result is while prohibition is enforced at home, Canadian young men are placed in such an atmosphere in camp life that only the strongest will survive moral wreck.

One is led to ask: Are not the liquor interests winning while this exists? Can the fathers, mothers, sisters and loved ones at home expect to find a temperate manhood when the boys come home? Is it right to send the new blood that Canadian conscription will produce into this grave temptation? This is Canada's crisis and Canada's opportunity. If this condition is not remedied, she reaps a harvest of moral wrecks. If remedied and Canadian camps are made dry, she not only saves Canada, but assists the Mother Country by striking a blow at a system that has this country in its grasp; a system that is sucking the best vitality and damning its morals; a system that rears its head and is carrying on its traffic in every hamlet and village and in the words of our empire's premier,
"is more dangerous than the Germans."

TWO GOOD THINGS.

Two good things often come to us in the same letter, viz: A renewal for the Highway and a testimony. We prize both.
This is of double value to the Highway, the money pays the bills for its maintenance, the testimonies are a rich blessing, both to the writers and to all its readers. Send us a hundred for the next issue.

IN MEMORIAM.

To that fairer world on high,
Our lives are bright with its lingering light,
For a true life cannot die."
