Miss Martha Knox.

At Upper Hainesville on Jan. 9th, Miss Martha Knox, in the forty-second year of her age. Sister Knox had been in poor health for several years suffering much from nervous trouble, and about last October of last year was taken ill with influenza, which greatly reduced her strength and left her with nervous prostration from which she did not recover. Being unable to rest at night, her strength continued to fail until the end came.

Sister Knox was a faithful member of the Reformed Baptist Church of the above named place, and possessed, we believe, the blessing of sanctification. She was whole hearted in her prayers for and support of foreign missions and also was as earnest in prayer for the unsaved of the home land, always having by her a prayer list upon which she kept the names of a number of people of her own community for whom she constantly prayed. Much sympathy is felt for her family as her father, Brother Chas. Knox, succumbed to the same disease only a few days before the passing of Sister Martha. Those of her family left to mourn their loss are her mother, widow of the late Chas. Knox; Eliza, her sister at home; Mrs. Allen Nason and Mrs. Albert Gough, of Upper Hainesville. The funeral service was conducted by her pastor, I. F. Keirstead.

Mrs Joseph McGee.

Maria Elizabeth Gerow, widow of the late Joseph McGee, died at Union Hospital, at 3 o'clock this Wednesday afternoon, after a short stay there, aged 77 years. She had been at the hospital only a few days.

The funeral will be held at the home of Mrs. McGee's daughter, Mrs. Frank T. Kimball, where Mrs. McGee has made her home for the past eight years, on Thursday afternoon, Rev. C. S. Hilyard, pastor of the Reformed Baptist Church, officiating. The body will be placed in the vault of Riverside Cemetery, to be taken to Hartland, N. B., in the spring.

A few weeks ago Mrs. McGee fell from a chair and broke her hip, and it has since been very painful indeed.

Mrs. McGee was born in Hodgdon, the daughter of the late Abram Gerow and Eunice Churchill. Four children survive, Mrs. Frank T. Kimball, of Fort Fairfield; William McGee, of Montana; another son, Darcy, died a few years ago. Mrs. McGee formerly lived in Somerville, N. B.

Mrs. McGee was a kindly and worthy lady, who leaves numerous friends to mourn their loss.—Fort Fairfield Review.

Harvey Stoddard.

At Sandford, Yar. Co., N. S., Jan. 10th Harvey Stoddard, the only son of Stillman and Mrs. Stoddard, died of pneumonia, following an attack of influenza. The funeral services were conducted by the writer. The deceased was about 14 years of age and leaves to mourn father, mother and an only sister. To the bereaved family we extend our deepest sympathy.

THE FAMILY OIL CAN.

"I can't have family worship in my home. I have to leave for work before the family is up."

These words were addressed to a pastor by one of his members after he had preached upon the importance of family worship.

"Why do you have to go to work so early?" inquired the pastor.

"Because I have to oil the machinery and get it in good shape for the day's work," was the reply.

"You consider that absolutely essential?"

"Indeed, I do. The friction would be something terrible if the machinery was not oiled."

"Who oils the family machinery?" This question was like a shot from a rifle and it hit the mark.

Two weeks later this same man came to the pastor with a smile of joy upon his face. "We have a family oil can at our home now," he said, "and it works well."

"How do you manage it?" was the pastor's interested reply.

Then followed this interesting explanation: "Every morning at ten minutes to eight o'clock, my wife reads the Bible with the children, and at exactly eight she leads them in prayer. I just keep my eye on my watch and at eight o'clock, I take off my cap and right there in the shop I join silently with them in family prayers. It is just like oiling the machinery."—The Christian Educator.
