BEULAH CAMP MEETING.

This great annual gathering, to which so many have been looking forward with glad anticipation, has passed into history. From every point of view it was indeed a most gracious and memorable meeting, the results of which eternity alone will reveal.

The attendance was large throughout, hotel, dormitories and cottages being full to overflowing. The preaching was most excellent and helpful. Rev. A. L. Whitcomb, our evangelist, was well liked, and as the people listened to his earnest and soul-stirring messages, there came to those who loved the Master, an increasing desire to live closer to Him, and thus better exemplify Him in thought, word and deed. He preached each afternoon and evening during the week and three times on the last Sunday, one of our own brethren having charge of the morning services. God wonderfully owned and blessed the truth as presented by each of His servants, and many came to the altar for reclamation, pardon or purity, and came through to blessed victory. The last Sunday was indeed a great day. At the love feast, led by Rev. E. W. Lester, more than 200 glad testimonies were given in less than an hour. The tabernacle was filled in the morning and in the afternoon many could not gain admittance, and hundreds stood without and at the doors to listen to the gospel message of salvation. The evening was the crowning service, at the close of which the altars were filled with anxious seekers who cried and prayed through to victory.

All the services were characterized by a sweet spirit of devotion on the part of God's people and a willingness to move forward into the deep things of God. Another notable feature of the meeting was the ready response to the altar call, without the urging that sometimes accompanies this part of the work.

The ministry of song by Rev. H. S. and Mrs. Mullen and a number of our young people was most enjoyable. They truly sang the gospel with much sweetness and rich melody and our hearts were blessed and enriched thereby.

The financial needs were amply met. Rev. P. J. Trafton presented this part of the work in a very happy manner, and the people cheerfully responded.

The president, Rev. H. S. Dow, presided at each service, and he performed his part well.

Beulah Camp Meeting of 1922 will indeed be a precious memory spot, and scores of people departed to their homes, happy, and saying "I shall plan to come next year if the Lord wills."
