

Riverside Camp Meeting

AUGUST 3rd-12th, 1923.

REV. A. L. WHITCOMB, OF UNIVERSITY PARK, IOWA, EVANGELIST.

Brother Whitcomb was with us at Beulah Camp Meeting last year and did good work and was well liked by all, and many will be glad to meet him again at Riverside, and we feel assured that the people of Aroostook, and Carleton and York and Victoria Counties will be greatly blessed under his ministry. Be sure to come and hear him.

HOW TO GET TO RIVERSIDE.

Take the C. P. R. to Houlton or Fort Fairfield and then by the Bangor and Aroostook R. R. to Robinson Station. Or you can come by the Valley Railway to Centreville, and then by auto to the Camp Ground.

RIVERSIDE CAMP GROUND.

Board $6.00 per week, $1.25 per day. Dinner 60c. Breakfast and Supper 40c.

Rooms—Hotel 75 cents per day. Dormitory, 50 cents per day.

To make sure you will have feather pillows and blankets, put them in your suit case before you leave home.

This Camp Ground is situated near Robinson Station on the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad, about two miles from the base of Mars Hill, Me. It is very centrally located, as it is only two miles from Blaine, three miles from Mars Hill Village, five miles from the town of Bridgewater, Me., and near the border line between Maine and New Brunswick. It is also only six miles from Tracy Mills and eight miles from Centreville and two miles from Knoxford villages in N. B. It is very easily reached both by Railway and autos, of which there are hundreds at times present.

The people of all Christian denominations for thirty or forty miles around look forward to Riverside Camp Meeting as the great religious event of the year, and we believe it stimulates the spiritual activities of all the churches of this whole region of country.

Besides the evangelist, there will be a number of preachers and other workers to assist in the services, together with excellent singers and musicians. We expect that the services at Riverside this year will exceed in numbers and spiritual blessings, all others, previously held here, if the people will make it a matter of earnest prayer. Be sure to come.

A PIECE OF HIS MIND.

Abraham Lincoln said a great many wise things, but perhaps he never gave better advice than at one time to Secretary Stanton. Mr. Stanton, it seems, was greatly vexed because an army officer had refused to understand an order, or, at all events, had not obeyed.

"I believe I'll sit down," said Stanton, "and give that man a piece of my mind."

"Do so," said Lincoln; "write it now, while you have it on your mind. Make it sharp; cut him all up."

Stanton did not need another invitation. It was a bonecrusher that he read to the President. "That's right," said Abe; "that's a good one."

"Whom can I send it by?" mused the Secretary.

"Send it!" replied Lincoln; "send it! Why, don't send it at all. Tear it up. You have freed your mind on the subject, and that is all that is necessary. Tear it up. You never want to send such letters; I never do!"—Christian Work.

CHRISTIANITY A PRACTICAL THING.

Christianity is the most practical thing on earth. The only trouble with it is that so many folks talk about it who fail to put it into practice. But anything that will affect life as definitely as does the religion of the Nazarene is practical. When a religion takes a drunkard and makes him sober, a thief and makes him honest, a wicked man and makes him good, then it is practical.

And, after all has been said, this it is that counts most in the extension of the kingdom of God among men. We are living in an age when all theories must be severely tested. The scientist takes his speculations into his laboratory and puts them to the test. It is there that they stand or fall. So it must be with our religion. It must stand the test in the laboratory of the world. In the life that produces does it proclaim its worth. It is good to realize that it thus meets the requirements of the age.—The Wesleyan Methodist.

"Originally not only the ministers were full of the Holy Ghost and faith, but the church officers also. 'Wherefore, brethren, look ye out among you seven men of honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business.' Blessed is the church indeed, in which such men can be found."

"There is no religious experience nor state of grace, in this life, in which we become infallible."
