A LONG WALK.

A Korean woman walked two hundred and fifty miles, carrying her baby on her back, to hear about Jesus Christ. Far back in the distant valley where she lived the people had heard of Jesus. They had heard that He was in their country; that was all. The people were very poor, and they were all toiling for their daily bread. But they selected this woman, and each one of her neighbors put two handfuls of rice into a sack and said, "Go, this will feed you on the journey." So the woman took the baby on her back, and the bag of rice, and trudged along until she found the missionary people who had Jesus with them. She found the Saviour for herself, and carried the message back to her country and her people.—Sel.

TRUST.

The camel, at the close of day,
Kneels down upon the sandy plain
To have his burden lifted off,
And rest again.

Thou, too, O traveler, to thy knee
When daylight draweth to a close,
And let the Master lift the load
And grant repose.

Else how could'st thou tomorrow meet,
With all tomorrow's work to do,
If thou the burden all the night
Dost carry through?

The camel kneels at break of day
To have his guide replace the load,
Then rises up anew to take
The desert road.

So pilgrim kneel at morning's dawn,
That God may give thee daily care,
Assured that He no load too great
Will make thee bear.

OBITUARY.

William B. Cox.

Many friends will learn with regret of the death at his home recently of William B. Cox, a highly respected resident of Coronation. His age was nearly sixty-seven years. The deceased was a son of the late Murray and Polly Cox, and had spent all his life on the old homestead. Besides his widow, who was formerly Miss R. White, of Fort Fairfield, he is survived by four sons and two daughters, also two sisters. Mrs. Annie Tompkins, of Boston, and Mrs. G. L. Everett, of Kilburn and Bangor, and one brother, E. W. Cox, of Coronation; another sister, Elizabeth, died several years ago.

Mr. Cox was a kind hearted, obliging man and his door was always open to strangers, nobody ever going from his place hungry. He was a kind husband and father, and will be much missed by all. The family have the sympathy of a large number of friends in their sorrow.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. S. Mullen, assisted by Rev. C. O. Howlett from the late home to the U. B. Church. Interment took place in the cemetery at Kilburn.

Among those coming from a distance to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grant and son, Vaughan, of Centreville, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank White and family, and several other relatives from Fort Fairfield.
