MEET IN THE JUDGMENT.

A young girl lay in her coffin, robed in the rich, white dress she had worn a few days before to a party. Her mother dropped on her knees beside the lifeless form and said, "I trained her to dance; I never trained her for eternity." Pleadingly she besought God to forgive her. Then she shrieked, "Too late! Too late! How can I meet my daughter at the Judgment?" Parents, do not send your children to the dance, circus, card party, theatre? They can not come out unscathed. They get scorched, blackened, destroyed.—Sel.

BEARING INSULT MEEKLY.

From the mission-field comes this story: Some years ago a colporteur endeavored to persuade a soldier to buy a Gospel, when the soldier started an argument, and, becoming angry, grossly insulted the colporteur. The latter did not retaliate, but meekly bore the indignity. A Japanese passing at the time paused and listened to the talk, and was so impressed by the forbearance of the colporteur that he was led to sympathize with him, and then to purchase a Gospel. He took the little book home and read it carefully, and then decided to become a Christian. He is now a minister of the Gospel.

A BIT OF PLEASANTRY.

The small son of a preacher after hearing his father preach a long sermon on a hot day went home and asked his mother if he might become a preacher like his father. This mother was delighted and assured the young hopeful nothing would bring more delight to his parents. She was concerned, however, to know the source and depths of the boy's conviction and she asked him why he thought of entering the ministry. His answer was:

"Well, mother, I guess I will have to go to church all my life and I think it will be a lot easier to stand up and holler than to sit still and listen."

"A man's mind is like a garden, it is sure to be filled with something."

CORRESPONDENCE.

Dear Editor:

Enclosed you will find my renewal for the Highway. I enjoy reading its clean pages and I always send it to an invalid woman in Nova Scotia as soon as I have read it. She enjoys it, and passes it on to friends and relatives. There are many people who have never heard of full salvation that cleanses from all sin. I think that if we cannot go to them in person, we can send them tracts and Highways, and thus inform them of how we can live free from condemnation, a life of peace and satisfaction which the world cannot give.

The broad way leads to destruction and death, but the narrow way leads to happiness and life eternal, praise His holy name! Once I dwelt on Egypt's sands, but now I am living in Beulah land, saved and sanctified, walking and talking with Jesus every day, just waiting to be glorified, and to see him face to face. I want God to work in and through me with his wonder working power, that I might be an instrument in his hands, always ready my place to fill, let it be ever so small and humble. I can truthfully say, Lord, not my will but thine be done.

MRS. STUART BENSON.

Dear Highway:

We are back again on the old battle ground after an evangelistic campaign at Beals Island, Me. We did not plan to stay nearly as long as we did but could not seem to get away sooner. We thank God for the privilege we had of working with those dear people. God was surely with us and honored the truth. The people there stood by us and wept and cried and prayed and groaned and fasted. We did not have to bear the burden alone. We thank God for them all, pastor and people together. It was surely a feast of fat things. God let us see, as near as I could keep count, one hundred and sixteen souls forward either to be saved, sanctified or reclaimed. A goodly number of these were new ones as you will see by the number baptised. Twenty-nine were baptised while I was there and I left them with four to baptize next Sunday.

God honored us further by giving us two definite cases of healing, during the meetings. We all, I am sure, give Him all the praise and glory. We covet your prayers for us here at Perth as we are anticipating special meetings here after a while

Yours truly,

H. S. MULLEN.

Dear Brother Wiggins:

A word from us. We have been holding special services at Belvidere with Brother Good assisting us. He has sure preached with unction. Some 26 have been at the altar. Meetings have been running a week. Had baptism of six last Sunday expecting some more next Sunday. Meetings to continue until the 23rd, More later.

Yours in Him,

December 17th. C. S. HILYARD.

Only as purified from sin does the soul find the way to right relation and a close walk with God.

OBITUARY.

Harry Reed

At Presque Isle Hospital, of tuberculosis, Harry Reed, aged 18, only son of Levi Reed, of Belvidere, Me. Services were held at the Belvidere Church the 13th, conducted by the writer, assisted by Evangelist Good. The remains were placed in the vault at Island Falls. The casket was draped in the American flag as he belonged to the U. S. Navy. Harry found the Lord while at home before going to the hospital.

REV. C. S. HILYARD.

PERTH CHURCH FUND.

Previously acknowledged, Alliance assisted, $200. Citizens of Perth in money and works about the same. We thank them. To finish what we want to do on the hall and pay off the debt we need at least $600. Who will help us? "I will," says someone. Thank you. Send your donation to

REV. H. S. MULLEN,

Perth, N. B.

And he will acknowledge them through the Highway.—H. S. M.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT AT ROYALTON.

A good programme consisting of Xmas and Missionary recitations, readings and exercises, songs by the children and choir, duets and trios were listened to by a good gathering on Saturday evening, the 22nd inst.

Instrumental music on organ, bangola and bango was greatly appreciated.

A tree was loaded with good things for all, which Santa Claus distributed, much to the delight of the little tots. An offering of $9.00 was given for foreign missions.

MRS. F. O. WEADE, Treasurer.

Pardon takes away my night and gives me day, purity takes the mists out of the air and gives me cloudless sunshine * * Pardon must precede purity, just as the birth of a child most certainly must precede the curing of diseases. Pardon and purity are both received by separate, specific acts of receptive faith; are both instantaneously wrought by acts of divine Will; are both attested by the instantence up to all our spiritual light; are both encephalic up to all our spiritual light; are both absolutely essential to admission into heaven.—Sel.

"Be what thou seemeth, live thy creed;
Hold up to earth the torch divine;
Be what thou prayest to be made;
Let the great Master's steps be thine.

"Sow love, and taste its fruitage pure;
So wpeace, and reap its harvest bright;
Sow sunbeams on the rock and moor,
And find a harvest home of light."

There is nothing sad about self-denial, and no loss. It is all joyous gain.—Sel.

Before we sin, it is the gain we see, after we sin, the guilt.—Marcus Dods.
