EDITORIAL

We are now at the time of year when the pastors and people begin to think of special services. Some have begun already. We are glad for some new fields that are being opened up. The harvest is truly great and the laborers are few. What are we to do to promote the real revival?

1st. There must be a willingness on the part of preachers and people to weep between the porch and the altar. We are having too many dry eyed efforts these days. We must wait before the Lord, in secret importunate prayer, with strong groanings and crying. The Church of today is being filled up with joiners, who know absolutely nothing about the new birth, but are working day and night to promote the interests of their certain organization. When someone informs them that they need a new heart or to be born of the spirit, they are grieved and feel insulted. They can go to the plays and frolics, dress like the world, ape the world in wearing jewelry, bob their hair, etc., but when it comes to have any anxiety over souls, they have none. We must pray; there is nothing that will bring God and man together like a spirit of travailing prayer. The violent take the kingdom of God by force.

2nd. We need to lift up Jesus. For it is only he who can change the vilest sinner's heart, from bondage set him free. It is His intercession with our Heavenly Father that will prevail to stay the sword of justice. He said, And if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me, His life, His love, His joy, His praise, His power must be manifest through us. Jesus crucified must be exhibited through us having the old man crucified with its affections and lusts, so that we bear in our bodies the marks of the Lord Jesus. Brethren, if we as a body will humble ourselves the results will be far reaching.

CORRESPONDENCE

Fredericton, N. B.

Dear Brother Trafton:

Please find enclosed my renewal. These are testing days for me, but I am able to keep the song of praise to God ringing in my soul. Hallelujah. Pray for me.

MINNIE BARR.

Woodstock, N. S.

Dear Brother Trafton:

Enclosed please find my subscription for the Highway. I think a lot of the Highway. I read every bit of it. I love to read the missionary letters. So glad to know God is working in Africa and that they are seeing the fruit of their labors. I know God always pays well for all we do for him.

Yours in the Lord,

MRS. MANNING MULLEN.

Melrose Highlands, Mass.

Dear Brother Trafton:

The "King's Highway" is a safe way to travel over which millions of Christian soldiers are marching to Zion.

Enclosed herewith please find amount for another year's renewal as I enjoy reading it.

Yours to the end of the journey,

L. A. W. TAYLOR.

Dear Brother Trafton:

I would like to report through the Highway about the work on this circuit.

We are enjoying the work here with the people of the various Churches. All the services have been sources of blessing. We have not seen the good done we would like to see, but before long we hope to see greater results. We plan to have special services in the different Churches this Fall, D. V. Our crowds are not large but find the people faithful and we are holding on to God and looking ahead for victory.

Yours in His service,

H. E. MULLEN.

We feel perhaps a word from this part of the field will not be amiss just now. God is still working in our midst. On Sunday evening last Brother McMillan spoke to a good audience and five requested prayer. Some have exchanged the path of blessing and duty for the tinsel of the world, but this I suppose is to be expected, for it has always been so and will always be the same.

I suppose there are some that are waiting for a report from our first pioneer work. I would like to say it was just as I expected when I went, that God would keep his word (Isa. 55:11). We began meetings on Tuesday evening, Sept. 15th, with a congregation of about twenty-five, which gradually increased. On Thursday Brother Alley preached a fine message to which responded and found God. The first week closed with two more at the altar seeking pardon. The next week we encountered a little battle when the secret orders rose up to bless the town with their services. Of course they owned the hall and we submitted to their request. They occupied it three nights and we three.

During our three nights four more souls sought God. I understand their services gave no such report.

On the following Sunday evening we endeavored in our way, by the help of God, to show them where such things failed in the cause of God. This of course brought on the wrath of some and the approval of others. The town woke up Monday morning in the throes of a heated argument. Some argued over phones, while others went at it in closer range. Even state road workers had their argument pro and con. However, we know it would either make or break and all waited anxiously for Monday night. The hour for service arrived but curiosity and honesty had gotten ahead of father time and filled the house to its capacity. This week was an uninterrupted week and six more found God. On Sunday evening our last service, long before the hour arrived, the house was filled. They came from far and near until there were many cars parked about the hill, and the hall itself was packed and every available space being used including the aisles. At the close of the message the invitation was given and six more made their way to the altar of prayer. Many more were under deep conviction but did not yield, this making a total of nineteen for our labor for which we give God the glory.

At the close of the service we were given an unanimous call to preach for them on Sundays, which we accepted. The day closed with the testimonies of the new converts. The testimonies were given by boys and girls of twelve to men and women of sixty. A prayer meeting was organized for Thursday night. We had the pleasure of attending to the first prayer meeting and found to our surprise about forty or fifty people present. At the close of the prayer meeting six requested baptism which will take place a week from Sunday. May's God's richest blessing rest upon these dear people. Even though some opposed our teaching, otherwise we have only the highest of praise for them.

Dear Highway:

On the evening of Sept. 25th the brothers and sisters of the church to the number of thirty or forty gathered at the parsonage to welcome the pastor and family and to spend a social evening. A donation of groceries to the value of ten dollars or more was also given. A very pleasant evening in social conversation and song, closing with prayer. Rev. H. H. Cosman being present, read a portion of Scripture and after speaking a few appropriate words led in prayer.

We were blessed and refreshed by the presence of the people and were glad for the privilege thus afforded to become better acquainted with them. We were also thankful for the tangible tokens of their interest and appreciation.

The same day Brother Henry Benson came and moved into the parsonage a nice new range for the kitchen, which greatly adds to the comfort and convenience. The people here have been keeping up their reputation for caring for their pastors.
