SURPRISES FOR THE TITHER

Rev. Minard Lewis

First: He will be surprised at the amount of money he has to tithe.

Second: At the joy there is in watching it accumulate.

Third: With what pleasure and ease he meets his financial obligations to the church.

Fourth: At how much farther the nine-tenths go after giving to the Lord His share.

Fifth: At how soon he goes from one-tenth to a large giving.

Sixth: At the increase of spirituality realized in his own life.

Seventh: How easy it is for him to appropriate to himself the blessings promised in Malachi, Luke 6:38; 2 Cor. 9:8, and other passages of scripture.

Eighth: He is surprised at himself that he did not begin to tithe sooner.

—Wesleyan Methodist.

CORRESPONDENCE

N. Hollywood, Calif.

Dear Brother Trafton:

Enclosed please find my renewal for The Highway.

I am still enjoying my usual good health and am pressing on the upward way with faith strong in God's power.

As ever in the faith.

Sincerely,

E. H. PORTER

"OMISSIONS IN MINUTES"

The name of Rev. F. A. Watson was in some way left out of the list of ministers in the Minutes of Alliance this year. We are very sorry.

H. C. ARCHER,
Secy. of Alliance

NOTES

Plan to attend the 40th anniversary at Woodstock Nov. 1st to 4th. Notify Rev. E. W. Lester.

Be sure to pray for the 40th anniversary, that it may be a soul-saving time.

Thanks for your renewals. We want to hear from others. Send in your testimony.

Remember the Supplementary Fund.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. T. Gordon, after which dainty refreshments were served. The happy couple will reside at Danvers, Digby Co., N. S.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S PAGE

"Jesus Christ is the way, sir, and I'm sure it's true, because He says so."

The man was delighted with the answer and paid the sixpence, and a more delighted boy never trod the streets of London than our sweep with his shilling's worth of pretty booklets.

The first person he met he spoke to.

"Will you have one of my books, sir?"

The gentleman spoke to was so surprised to see a little sweep giving away tracts that he had to stop and inquire into this matter.

"Where did you get them?" he asked.

"I bought them, sir."

"Where did you get your money?"

"I told two men the way to heaven."

The answer surprised this man as much as it had the others.

"Will you tell me?"

"Yes, sir; Jesus Christ says, 'I am the way,' and it must be so, because He said so."

The gentleman was so pleased that he replied, "Come and see me tomorrow," and taking a card out of his pocket he wrote some thing on it for the boy.

The next day the little sweep-o, with his brushes, went to the gentleman's home and said, "I have come to sweep your chimney."

"No you don't," said the servant, crossly; "go away."

"But the master told me to come," and feeling in his pocket he pulled out the card and gave it to the man.

The servant went to his master to see what it meant, and the next thing our little boy was admitted, not to go up the chimney, but into the library to see the gentlemen of the house.

The result was that his clothes were changed and he was sent to school.

Now he is engaged in telling to all who will hear the way to heaven.—Morning Light.
