WHAT WE TEACH

By Rev. C. J. Fowler, D. D., Late President of the National Association for the Promotion of Holiness.

That regeneration does not allow the committing of conscious sin.

That all Christians may love God perfectly, and this God commands.

That this is impossible while there is any pride, anger, self-will, unbelief, malice, fear, or any form of wrongness in the heart.

That God is both willing and able to remove all evil affections from the heart, and thus enable love to be unhindered.

That the cleansing of the heart from all indwelling evil is effected by the incoming of the Holy Ghost, in his fullness, who then abides.

That the heart thus cleansed and possessed will grow in all Christian graces better than ever, since sin, the greatest hindrance to growth, has been removed.

That this is the great secret of Christian living. All Christians want to keep from sinning; this is the Divine plan.

"SHADOWS OF DEAD MEN"

The world is still in need of the poet. If the poet and the prophet can find a home in the same man then we have the man who is greater than the poet. It is the hidden meaning of words and the wizardry of images and pictures that drives home truth. Perfectly accurate words and polished sentences will never rip open the heart and bombard the will as will some scintillating figures that hold in it the heart of truth.

The noted English poet, Sir Alfred Noyes, has a stirring octet of lines which expose the hollow, empty mockery of so-called elite society as paragraphs of prose could not do. We quote:

"The cymbals crash,
And the dancers walk,
With long silk stockings
And arms of chalk,
Butterfly skirts,
And white arms bare,
And shadows of dead men
Watching 'em there."—Chr. Witness

PERSEVERANCE IN PRAYER

The fact that answer to prayer is not always immediate is attested both by the Bible and by experience.

The danger often is that a mere delay in answer may be thought to be a denial or the total disregard of the request.

Reasons for a delayed answer may be in the one who prays, or in the nature of the prayer offered, or in the complex system of which we are a part.

The blessing attending a prayer, the answer to which is delayed, may be very great. It may include the discovery of new riches in the Bible, which is the prayer manual of the Christian; it may also give one a new knowledge of one's self, which should result in the removal of any discovered hindrances to the answer not yet received, and thus the delay may result in a larger spiritual growth. Close fellowship with God is worth all that it costs.—The Bible Record.

The world is ignorant and needs education... the world is lawless and needs legislation but most of all the world is lost and needs salvation.
