EDITORIAL

The Thanksgiving seasons in Canada and the United States have passed, the former on the 10th and the latter on the 27th of November. We have heard some complaint about hard times, but it seems to us, if people would count their blessings and remember the good things, to magnify the blessings received rather than talking blue ruin all the time, how much happier people would feel.

It seems to us that every day should be a time of thanksgiving, especially on the part of God's children, for: What good gift that we have received, did not come from our Heavenly Father.

We are careful to be courteous to those who bring blessings to us or sends them from afar. We do not forget to say 'thank you' to these friends, and why should we not render thanksgiving to Him who has crowned us with loving kindness and tender mercies. He who gave His only begotten Son for us, should have in return thanksgiving and praise. No wonder that the apostle exclaims, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift."

REST VERSUS RUSH

We had the privilege of a two-weeks' vacation recently, and we feel the change was beneficial. The greater part of the time was spent at our brother's home in New Hampshire. What a restful feeling came to us in this quiet country home. The weather was ideal and God seemed everywhere.

We went to Boston for a few days where our time was all taken up with short visits with a few of our friends in W. Somerville, Cambridge and Boston. What a rush in these centres of business. Everyone going at a break neck speed as it were, but even here we found the restful spirit. We attended the revival services being held in the Evangelical Church in Cambridge, of which our good friend Rev. W. E. Smith is pastor. Mrs. Mabel Manning was the evangelist. Here we met a number of old friends and church associates of the past. We were privileged to be at E. N. C. for a few hours Friday morning Nov. 21st, where we met a number of our down east boys, who seem to be doing well, and a number of the faculty. We had the privilege of speaking at the chapel service, and Bro. Smith, who so kindly took us there in his car, offered prayer. They have a fine plant now with the addition of the Fowler Memorial building, but what a loss they have sustained in the death of their late president, Rev. Floyd W. Nease. We were invited to stay to dinner the guests of E. N. C. but had to decline as we were all booked for dinner with our daughter, Dorothy and Miss Grace Palmer at their apartment in Dorchester. We attended the prayer meeting at the Nazarene Church in Cambridge, of which Rev. Mr. Thomas is pastor, in the evening. We have to mingle with the outside world, but how restful to get to the house of God where they worship the Lord. We were invited to give a talk which we did.

There seems so much of rush and hurry in this age it seems restful to go to the house of God. The psalmist knew when he wrote. "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." Ps. 122-1. How restful it will be for the saints when they enter heaven, free from the rush and hurry, cares and strife—Rest.

CORRESPONDENCE

Island Falls, Maine.

November, 24, 1930.

Dear Highway:

Greetings in Jesus name. God is blessing the people here in this section of the vineyard. We had Revival meetings from Oct. 19th to Nov. 9th. We held the meetings at Crystal the first two weeks and at Belvidere the third week. The first week was a time of sowing. We did see five of the Christians forward that week for help. After the first week God gave us twenty souls who were either saved, sanctified, or reclaimed. Some of those seekers were heads of homes. We not only have changed people in our community, but we also have homes where God is honored and glorified. A revival of old time religion makes different individuals home, and a different community. We certainly had some mighty manifestations of God and some wonderful transformations of men.

Bro. Emery Cosman was our singer and evangelist. He played the harp and xylophone. His special numbers in song were enjoyed by all. Our brother's messages were not only inspiring, but they also bore deep pungent conviction, resulting in the salvation of sinners and the sanctification of believers. I found Brother Cosman to be a very successful evangelist.

On Nov. 16th Brother Cosman and I opened up the Congregational Church in Patten, Maine, and began in a campaign that will last until Dec. 7th or longer. On Sunday evenings we have had ninety-five and one hundred people in our congregations. The burden is on us and conviction is on the people. We covet souls. Join us in prayer for a Holy Ghost Revival. Amen!

We are going to have an All Day meeting on Thursday, Nov. 27th. Rev. F. T. Wright is going to join us this week. We are believing God for a revival. How is your faith?

Yours for the Patten Revival,

G. A. ROGERS.

Dear Brother Trafton:

We wish to thank the contributors to the Students' Fund for their kind offerings. Last week I received a check for ten dollars which was much appreciated.

The weather is beautiful here now, we have been having light rains which were much needed.

Was out to two services yesterday, both were missions and some held up their hands for prayer. Please excuse the brevity of this letter. I am quite rushed this morning.

Jesus is my all in all.

Yours in the Saviour

We are well, and enjoying the beautiful fall we are having.

Have many things to be thankful and praise God for in the times of stress. Praise Him for a free and full and uttermost salvation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The Sunday School Convention No. 1 convened with the church at Marysville, N. B., Friday night, Nov 21st.

The president not being there, A. C. Cochran the Vice-President acceptably filled the chair. Mrs. L. T. Sabine led the devotional service, reading and commenting on Psalm 119:9-24 with much earnestness and inspiration.

The address of welcome by Mrs. Wallace Mitchell making the visitors and delegates welcome and much at home. This was responded to by Miss Isa MacFarlane of Fredericton, accepting the welcome in a very pleasing way.

The following delegates were present: Marysville, Chester Cochran; Fredericton, Miss Isa MacFarlane; Lower Hainesville, Miss Nellie Forman; Maple Ridge, Wm. Blaney; Millville, Miss Audrey Brown; Woodstock, B. M. Colpitts.

Reports were read from Woodstock, Marysville, Maple Ridge, Hartland, Gordonville, Fredericton and Lower Brighton. All of them spoke of good interest and some of better attendance.

Verbal reports by Rev. F. T. Wright for Fort Fairfield, Me., giving an encouraging report, the attendance and interest being good, and saying the Sunday School was a wonderful asset to the church. Miss Audrey Brown said we have a good school. A certificate of Merit from that school was granted Thomas Cookson, for seven full years' attendance without missing a Sunday. This we think is a wonderful record. A beautiful solo was rendered by Miss Gladys Upton, "Don't Lose The Vision". Really an inspiration.

Brother Chester Cochran spoke on "The Teacher's Difficulties in Teaching a Young Men's Class". If scholars would spend even as little as fifteen minutes a week on the lessons there would be a different interest in the class.
