APPRECIATION AND APPEAL

We want to thank all those who responded so readily to our appeal for money for our mission work. The Lord will surely reward you.

Our editor and business manager writes me that he is greatly in need of money to carry on the publication of the Highway. Will not all those who are in arrears on their subscription please pay up immediately, and all who can send a contribution to the Supplementary Fund and thereby lift the burden from our faithful editor's heart and keep the good paper going on with its message of full salvation.

Sincerely yours,
H. S. DOW

HIGHWAY SUPPLEMENTARY FUND

Thanks! We trust many will respond.
THE EDITOR

"THEY STOOD EVERY MAN IN HIS PLACE."

Judges 7:21

God has a place and a mission for every one of us, and He will make it possible for us to find our right place and to perform our mission if we are entirely willing to be and do just what He wants us to be and do.

The trouble is that we usually want to do something else. One man's proper mission is to make the mortar, and another man's mission is to make the bricks with which the Temple of God is to be built, but the mortar-maker wants to be the architect, and the brick-maker wants the job of putting on the roof.

And both are dissatisfied because their work seems to them so insignificant and instead of doing their appointed work joyously and to the very best of their ability, they slight it and think of it as almost useless drudgery.

The first lesson the soldier has to learn is that he is not the general, nor the colonel of the regiment, but simply a private; and that his one and only duty is to obey orders. It is not for him to say where he will go, or how he will fight. But whether he is set to digging a trench or to standing guard in some lonely place he is an essential part of the army, and if he does his full duty he will have as good a right as any one to claim a share in the victory.

Gideon's 300 men may have thought the task assigned to them a very foolish one in view of the fact that they were in the presence of powerful foes, numbering perhaps 500 to 1 of themselves, but the 300 obeyed orders heartily, and the consequence was that they did not need to fight, but only to pursue a defeated enemy.

When Paul surrendered to Jesus, whom he had been persecuting, his first question was, "What shall I do, Lord?" That question should be constantly before our minds, and we should strive earnestly to find the answer to it, and to be willing to do with all our might any work, no matter what it is, that God requires of us.—Northern Messenger.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The Sunday School Association, of District No. 3, met in quarterly session at Beals, Me., on Friday evening, March 5th, with Vice-President, H. S. Wilson in the chair. The meeting opened with singing, scripture reading and prayer. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The roll being called, the following ministers were found to be present: Lic. H. S. Wilson, Lic. E. Bradley and Rev. H. C. Archer. Delegates present were, Mrs. P. Beal, Jonesport; Miss Medcalf, Calais; Calvin Benson, Seal Cove; Alton Green, Wood Island, and Mrs. Actave Wallace, Alley's Bay.

Reports were received from the schools at North Head, Jonesport, Calais, Seal Cove, Wood Island, Beals, and Alley's Bay.

These schools reported an enrollment of 496 scholars, 49 teachers and 99 children on the cradle roll.

The interest is good in each of the schools in the district.

Lic. H. S. Wilson, who had been appointed at last convention to visit the schools at Calais, Beals, and Alley's Bay, reported that he had found these schools engaged in the study of the lessons, and taking much interest; the truth was being taught and the schools were meeting with success.

The meeting was then given over to a general discussion of Sunday School work, which was very helpful and was enjoyed by all present.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

A series of special united services have been carried on in Saint John for several months—Baptist, Christian Alliance, United Church A. M. E. (colored), some Church of England and Reformed Baptist churches cooperating. The Evangelists are Rev. Albin Robbins and daughter, Miss Mae; the objective being a real old-time revival in this needy city.

Afternoon prayer services for women and noontide meetings for ministers and laymen, have been very profitable, as all bowed around "one common mercy seat." The attendance at the evening services is splendid, with much conviction on the people. Many have professed conversion or reclamation for which we praise the Lord.

There is a beautiful spirit of fellowship manifested, the testimonies are inspiring and helpful; special freedom was noticed when the services were in our church.

The preaching is good and singing wonderfully enjoyed, (old time evangelistic songs).

We believe every church has been edified and refreshed, but we are praying for greater things. We covet the prayers of God's people everywhere in behalf of these services.

CORRESPONDENCE

West Pembroke, Maine

Rev. P. J. Trafton:

Dear Brother: After working and saving, I am sending the money for 1932, the rest use where you think best. I thank you for sending the paper so long. I love to get the paper and read its clean pages of truth. May the Lord bless you in your work.
