give, instruction, treatment and information. It has stirred the whole district. Natives are coming from every direction for miles around for "Amapilisi Ka Hoolooment" (Government Pills). The funny part is that not only malaria patients, but all sorts of other patients are coming too. But the natives are being aroused as never before to see that they can get help from the Mission Station. The rush started Wednesday when I gave out 500 pills in one day to those whom upon questioning I considered were genuine malaria cases. The other cases all received suitable remedies, and in four days we treated 168 cases.

The Native Assistant came back with a good report. He is a young, educated Zulu, has his Second Grade teacher's certificate, speaks good English, gives a testimony to salvation, shows a tender, hungry spirit, and is a seeker for holiness as soon as he received that light.

He seems to have had a remarkable reception from the people. They believe his word, act on his instruction and are helped. The news travels far faster than he does, and also the help. He has a very simple manner of administering quinine and it seems to be very successful. So they come here for the "Pills" and scores are being reached.

Think what it means to these poor Zulus to have a clean, educated Christian young man who will come to their homes, treat them free of charge and cure them of the dread malaria scourge. We feel that the influence of this fine young man with the Government back of him is the greatest blow the demon doctors have yet received, for now they can no longer deceive the people—at least regarding malaria.

Pray with us that God's blessing may continue on this special effort and it be as great a blow as possible to the enemies' power.

I fear the third "agency" will have to be described in the next letter.

Praise God—we have caught "the sound of going in the tops of the Mulberry trees" and are assured anew that "God is gone forth before."

Yours, believing for greater victories than we have yet seen,

THE LOYAL MEMBER

He will be on time.

He will be at his post, if possible.

He will ever be ready to do his part.

He will stand by his pastor.

He will be loyal to his church and Sunday, school.

He will work for the church every day. He will read his Bible and pray daily.

He will pray in public and in private.

He will be liberal.

He will do his best.

He will pray for the meeting while at home, that he as well as others may be blessed.—Selected.

If Jesus Christ is a man—
And only a man—I say
That of all mankind I cleave to him
And to him will I cleave alway.

If Jesus Christ is a god—
And the only God—I swear
I will follow Him through heaven and hell,
The earth, the sea, and the air!

Temperance Column

Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging. Whosoever ls received thereby is not wise. Prov. 1:20.

We are printing some articles which our friends have sent us, and some that we have taken from other papers, which show the effects of the repeal of the prohibition laws in other countries. These show that instead of government sale of liquors and beer promoting sobriety and temperance as its advocates promised it would do: that drunkenness and crime and automobile accidents are on the increase as a result of government sale putting the cursed stuff within easy reach of everybody.

"DRINK, DRIVE AND DIE"

To the Editor of the Post:

Sir—Referring to Mr. Studley's comment on a peculiar report that fatalities due to intoxication have dropped 20 per cent. in New York State since beer was legalized, may I also present the following?

A few weeks ago the New York State department of correction declared that the first six months of legal beer resulted in a 10 per cent. increase in arrests over figures for 1932, that more motorists were seized, that there was a rise of one per cent. in cases of drunken driving, that each month since April showed a steady increase, and that women drunks arrested increased 27 per cent.

The Boston papers, a few days ago, published our registrar's report showing that arrests here for drunken driving have increased 34 per cent. since repeal, and he definitely laid the blame for at least some of the fatalities to drunken driving.

The fatuous fancy that liquor, legal or illegal, can possibly promote safety on the roads is reduced to infinite absurdity by the facts, "Drink, drive, and die."

GREAT BRITAIN'S WORST ENEMY By Miss Z. I. Davis

Great Britain is staggering under a colossal war debt, such as no chancellor ever dreamed of, even in a nightmare; there are some two million men out of work, and distress and poverty abound in many quarters; and that country wasted $1,440,000,000 on strong drink in 1929. It was twice as much as that spent on education; the sum spent by Britain on drink last year was almost as much as the interest on the national debt for 1929; it was more than three times as much as that spent on bread; four times the amount spent for old age pensions, widows, orphans, etc.; five times the amount of unemployment insurance; seven times the sum expended on health insurance; and twenty times the cost of the voluntary hospitals of Britain.

Many people in Britain now realize that a golden opportunity was lost during the Great War, when Mr. Lloyd George suggested buying out the breweries and ridding the country of the liquor traffic. "The pathetic thing," says the Evangelical Christian, "was that the strongest opponents of his scheme were churchmen who had vested interests in breweries." The spectacle of wealthy, so-called Christians living by and backing a trade which has always sapped the very life blood of the common people must surely make the angels weep and set the fiends cackling. Canada had rid the country of the enemy of youth and age, but the greed of unscrupulous men has been putting the shackles back again upon this young nation. Vested interests are being built up in the Dominion which are nothing short of partnership with the devil. Under the misleading name of "Government Control," a liquor system has been foisted upon Canada which is fast putting the Dominion among the most alcoholized countries in the world. And here also as in England the pathetic thing is that some of the churchmen have been the strongest enemies of prohibition.—The Wesleyan Methodist.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The Quarterly Session of District No. 1 Sunday School Association met with the Brookville Church on Friday evening, June 1st.

For the first time we met under convas in the N. B. Gospel Tent. The Brookville Sunday School was only four weeks old. The members all are highly pleased with the move they have made.

President B. W. Burk presided. Bro. Zeba Orser and Rev. E. A. Mullen offered prayer.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Donald Stokoe and responded to by Mrs. Chas. Wade. It is wonderful what people can do when they overcome their reticence and make a try.

Fort Fairfield, Me., Crystal, Royalton, Gordonsville, Hartland, Lower Brighton, Woodstock, Greenbush, Maple Ridge, Fredericton, Marysville and Brookville send in encouraging reports and letters. Attendance keeping up well. Reported 10 conversions for the Quarter.

Rev. J. A. Owens spoke on, "Living in the House We Build." He arose nobly to the occasion and gave many practical and needful suggestions. A few as follows: Living, as the life must be lived in one place or another. Ideas change and are various. Ask the young man his, many will say sport. We know of men who have built a house and in the meantime find it empty. A man gazing at the stars has a bad fall. When Satan tries to block one way of escape, that is the time to look up. This is for the Sunday School. It is a necessity to be a helper, sending out the spiritual food in an attractive way. A food station for the present life. Good to see everybody happy. Begin to exercise the worker, not for present life only but for the future. Putting to good use in future years what we have learned. Lead them to the knowledge of religion or salvation in operation. Preparing for the future by meeting our Creator every day at the throne of Grace. The foundation is sure. Put Purity, Honesty, Faith in the Superstructure, having our hearts established in Holiness.

Lic. H. J. S. Blaney spoke of the need of the Home Department. Every school should have one. It takes some effort. What good work does not. It is necessary. Have good, live leaders, also some assistants of the same kind. The Sunday School should run the Home Department. The superintendent should know what is going on. The school should be much interested in looking after the shut-ins, the lone-some people, invalids, the old and infirm.

This subject was well handled, provoking much thought that opened eyes, showed a large field of usefulness opened to Sunday School workers that has been too much neglected.

The chairman gave some advice to parents—go and take the children to Sunday School, do not stay home and say go.

This was an encouraging and instructive Convention. God's blessing was very apparent.

B. M. COLPITTS, Secretary.
